HOW ANARCHY CELEBRATED ITS BLACK ANNIVERSARY.

Just 21 years ago today (September 6) an anarchist named Leon Czolgosz shot President McKinley, the wound inflicted proving fatal eight days later.

Fifteen years before, another anarchist named Guiteau fatally shot President Garfield.

It is well enough to recall these things as we go along.

Several days ago Charles Uzlis, Joe Pepauritch, John Petrewski and Adiania Alessio confessed to drawing thirty-seven spikes from a rail of the Michigan Central railway, near Gary, Ind., and causing a wreck.

The other day the homes of two Illinois Central workmen in Chicago were bombed.

The homes of three Illinois workmen at Paducah, Ky., were dynamited.

A Big Four train ran through an open switch near Brownsburg, Ind., injuring 11.

Three trestles on the Cotton Belt railway, in Texas were burned last Wednesday night.

A freight train of the N. C. & St. L. railroad was dynamited near Paducah.

The Fourteenth street bridge of the Pennsylvania railway in Wilmington, Del., was dynamited last Thursday morning just before a pasesnger train was due to pass over it.

A dynamite explosion derailed a work engine tender on the Big Four near Cincinnati a few moments after a passenger train had passed.

Sunday morning a bunk house of the Pennsylvania railway, near Pittsburgh, was burned within an incredibly short time, seven car repair men losing their lives and other being severely burned. The property loss was $225,000.

These are but a few acts of sabotage recently reported. Almost every day has its record of similar crimes.

These crimes are scattered over a wide area of country, but they are similar in character and are evidently the work of anarchists.

Scarcely a locality of importance fails to report acts of violence upon the persons of men.

On this anniversary of the assassination of a President of the United States, well may serious-minded men and women of the country ponder the conditions rife in the United States.

Is it any wonder Americans are demanding a certificate of character from those who would enter our gates?

Can Congress ignore the symptoms or prattle over political abstractions while the anarchists operate all over the land?

How much rope are these scoundrels to have, and how much longer will government withhold its hand for fear of offending anarchy's apologists and defenders?

"God reigns and the government at Washington still lives!" exclaimed James A. Garfield in Washington on the night that Lincoln was shot down, and 15 years later he was slain by an assassin himself.

Let the living government, throbbing with the power of the nation, lift its mighty arm and strike down the anarchists and the bolshevists who challenge civlization and defy the law.—Houston Post.

All of the crimes referred to in the above were not committed by anarchists.

The chief criminals were labor unionists.

In some cases anarchists have been their dupes and tools, but the criminal directors were members of the American Federation of Labor, and some of them officials of that organization.

The Herrin, Ill., butchery is not referred to in the above. Yet it was one of the most fiendish events in the history of the world, and, probably, there was not one genuine anarchist among the perpetrators. The most of them were native citizens, but they all are members of the miners' union, a branch of the American Federation of Labor.

If there were not an anarchist in this country, the lawlessness attending strikes would not be materially lessened, for, as the Express has often claimed, it is the main reliance of strikers.

Labor union officials are wont to chirp about "peaceful strikes," but did they ever have one when a strike was long prolonged?

It is high time the press of this country placed the charge of lawlessness during strikes where it rightfully belongs. But if they are too cowardly to do that, as many of them are, they should keep silent.

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION SETTLED.

The "dry navy" of the United States has been overhauling foreign vessels beyond the three-mile limit, supposed to be loaded with "hootch" for sale at fabulous prices to the thirsty people of this country.

Recently a British vessel was thus captured. The captain protested against the action of the prohibition officers. He claimed that his vessel was out twenty-four miles, but it has been proven that the distance was only thirteen miles. But whether it was thirteen or twenty-four does not matter. It was concededly beyond the three-mile limit, and the question involved was, therefore, whether a foreign liquor-carrying vessel could be interfered with by our dry navy when beyond the three-mile limit.

The British government supplemented the protest of the captain, as noted above, and, therefore, it behooved the authorities of our government to consider the question seriously, as Great Britain has a record of being a great stickler for her rights on the high seas, although she has little regard for the rights of others, as she evinced during the World War, the War of 1812, and at other and many previous times.

It is reported that the result of the consideration of the question by our government is the determination that it would be the part of precautionary wisdom to abandon the interference of foreign vessels outside of the three-mile limit, and it has been so ordered.

This may be a great disappointment to the prohibitionists, but they cannot, reasonably, criticize our government for the action it takes,, although some of them are likely to do so.

COAL FOR CANADA.

To the Editor of the Post-Standard:

I read in your valuable paper that thousands of tons of hard coal are being shipped to Oswego for export to Canada.

Is that right when there is such a scarcity here? Many families right here in Syracuse are suffering, sitting in cold rooms, afraid to use what little coal they have, not knowing when they can get more.

Wood is plenty in Canada and costs about one-half what it does here.

Why not take care of our own folks first?

FAIR PLAY.

Syracuse.

Every year Canada has been supplied with our hard coal, and she has been the first to receive shipments, even when our own people were suffering acutely from the want of coal.

If we had an excess of coal, it would be well to give that excess to Canada, for she is our near neighbor; but we fully agree with the Post-Standard's correspondent that our own folks should first be taken care of.

There may be reasons justifying a contrary belief, but, so far as we have observed, they have never been given to the public.

The people have the right to demand the reasons, and the demand should be made so strong that the government should be constrained to heed it.

The coal supply in this State is to be doled out, by order of Fuel Director Woodin, in such a way that consumers will have to pay about as much for cartages as it does for the coal.

And this while thousands of tons of our coal are going to Canada, where probably, the deliveries are not prescribed infinitesimally.

KING CONSTANTINE, OF GREECE, ABDICATES AGAIN.

King Constantine has abdicated again in favor of his son, Crown Prince George. His going out was precipitated by a revolt of the army and navy and by a riot of the populace at Athens. The rioters served an ultimatum on the King, in which he was given but one hour to step down from the throne. He stepped down, as he was powerless to keep up.

Constantine is clearly the victim of European intrigue. England urged him to battle with the Turkish Nationalists, while France encouraged and aided the Turks. The result, after many sanguinary engagements, was the overwhelming defeat of Greece, her army having been greatly decimated.

There is no doubt that King Constantine is a brave man. That was demonstrated in the previous Balkan War, and it appears that he was no less valiant in his struggle with the Turks. But his army was greatly outnumbered, and the odds insured his defeat. Had he succeeded his popularity with his people would have been greatly enhanced. But he failed, and so he becomes again an exile.

There is some talk that Venizelos, the former Premier of Greece, who was bolstered by the Allies during the World War, will be recalled to his former post, but he might not accept such a summons, the situation being too uninviting, and, no doubt, it were better for him to stay out of Greece, if he would escape another ouster.

U. S. SENATOR FRELINGHUYSEN, OF NEW JERSEY, WINS.

At the primary election in New Jersey on the 26th ult., United States Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen was renominated, defeating his competitor, George L. Record, by over one hundred thousand majority.

The latter was vigorously supported by the Progressives and the Hearst papers.

Senator Freylinghuysen is a close friend of President Harding, and has stoutly supported his administration. He voted for the seating of Senator Newberry, of Michigan, and against the Soldiers' Bonus. And he made his fight on a "dry" platform, although New Jersey had been supposed to be the strongest "wet" State in the Union. The Senator also defended the new tariff law. Therefore the crushing victory that he won, followed by that of Senator Townsend, of Michigan, shows that the progressive wave is not running as high as it did run a few months ago.

Morris Fitzgerald, a section hand on the New York Central railroad, made a ghastly find last Saturday afternoon when he found the body of a new born female infant beside the track near the Rumsey pump works. His find was reported Coroner Robert Knight, of Seneca Falls, who, with two physicians, held an autopsy. They decided the child was dead at birth and had been thrown from the train. It weighed three and one-half pounds and was buried at the expense of the town.—Seneca County News.

All the European powers profess to be in favor of making the Dardanelles free for the passage of the vessels of ALL nations, as it should be and should have been long ago. But something more is needed. Accomplishments do not always follow professions. When all the forts along that waterway shall be dismantled, it may become free, but not till then. And with such freedom should follow the dismantling of the Gibraltar fortification, and the cession of that territory to Spain, as she is naturally and geographically entitled to it.

All that can be said in favor of Al Smith can be said of Governor Miller. But all that can be said in favor of Governor Miller cannot be said of Al Smith. Of the two, Governor Miller has superior ability and more thorough training. He is distinctly an administrator. Al is a politician, first, last and all the time, of the Tammany school, the faculty of which does not turn out men of constructive ability.

Two armed men entered the room of Byron Johnson, at the Commodore Hotel, New York City, recently, and demanded money. He told them he had no money, but would write them a check. Instead of indorsing it he wrote on the back: "Hold up, call the police.' Then the bandits took the check to the hotel clerk who promptly called the police. They succeeded in getting one of the men, who gave the name of Charles Williams, Louisville, Ky. The other man escaped.

Al Smith has just as much chance of being eelcted Governor this year as he has of being elected President the same year. The people want two years more of Governor Miller, and it is safe to say they would be willing, if they had their way, to make a contract with him for a much longer period. To have a Miller in the executive chamber is a possession the people appreciate.

While there is no danger of Republican defeat, the people who want decent government should remember that it is up to them to register and then to vote. They cannot elect Governor Miller and his associates on the ticket by staying home. Republican areas should show by a large vote that Governor Miller is the type of Governor they demand.

The Washington administration has received official information that the Greek army committed atrocities in their retreat toward Smryna. We do not hear much about that in this country. It is always the unspeakable Turk. Perhaps the Turks would behave better if Christians did not incite them to retaliations.

As a Socialist, George R. Lunn never did anything that can be remembered, and as a Democrat he hasn't done anthing because he hasn't been a Democrat long enough. As a matter of fact, he has been a Democrat on probation, or, as some Democrats have said, "on suspicion."

It is reported that England and Japan are not scrapping their war vessels in accordance with the treaty of Disarmament Conference, and, consequently the United States is delaying "scraps." It is a wise precaution on the part of our government.

The people have no thought of electing a ticket the head of which is a Tammany man and whose running mate is a Socialist. The combination is more than the people could afford to swallow.

Water Better.

The following report from Cornell University chemists has been received by the Municipal Board in relation to samples of water sent on Sept. 19th:

These samples, as received, are safe for drinking and household use; but the results obtained may not be representative of the quality of water, when sampled. Since, however, the bacterial flora appears to be identical with that normally found, it does not appear to be unreasonable to assume that your water supply is back to its usual good quality."

Woman Injured by Automobile May Not Live.

Dundee, Oct. 2.—Mrs. Paul Robbins, of Burdett, is in a critical condition in a Montour Falls Hospial, suffering from internal injuries, a mangled arm and several severe cuts, sustained this afternoon in the State road, one mile west of Dundee, when she was struck by an automobile driven by Charles Watson, of this village, a member of the produce firm of Watson & O'Brien.

Mrs. Robbins, with her husband and son, went to the farm of R. B. Sworts to buy a pony. They were loading the pony into the machine when the accident occurred. Mrs. Robbins was holding the lines, when the pony suddenly reared. It is thought she was pulled directly into the path of the oncoming auto.

Mrs. Robbins was knocked several feet by the machine. She was brought to Dundee to the office of Dr. James McDowell, who gave the women first aid. Dr. McDowell rushed her to a Montour Falls hospital, where it was announced that she is probably fatally injured. She sustained a deep cut in her chest, and one over her right eye.

Sweet Violets in Station.

Sayre, Pa., Oct. 2.—A skunk took possession of the Lehigh Valley station at Geneva this morning. There were a number of people there, but when the pole cat walked in they walked out. The animal that has no friends, but the respect of everybody, took the situation calmly; laid down in a corner of the waiting room and appeared perfectly comfortable.

Finally, one employe, braver than the rest, found a long stick and poked the animal, and it aroused and walked out. John Billings says the only safe way to poke a pole cat is with a stick at least 365 feet long, but the intrepid man at Geneva escaped, although the implement he used was much shorter.—Elmira Advertiser.

Democratic State Convention.

The Democratic State Convention was held at Syracuse, convening on Wednesday and completing its labors shortly before midnight on Friday evening.

The following ticket was nominated:

Governor—Alfred E. Smith, New York.

Lieutenant-Governor— George R. Lunn, Schenectady.

Secretary of State—James A. Hamilton, Bronx.

Attorney General— Carl Sherman, Buffalo.

Comptroller—James W. Fleming, Troy.

State Treasurer—George K. Shuler, Lyons.

State Engineer— Dwight Ladu, Albany.

United States Senator–Dr. Royal S. Copeland, N. Y.

From first to last the Convention was controlled by Boss Murphy, of Tammany Hall.

The followers of Ex-Governor Smith had a large majority. Practically all up-State delegates favored his nomination for Governor, and were insistent in demanding it.

Editor Hearst had a very few delegates, but his boomsters, including Mayor Hylan, of New York, played bluff until called by the boss, who had become convinced that it would be too risky to defy the overwhelming sentiment of the convention.

To the proposition that Smith be nominated for Govenor, with Hearst for U. S. Senator, or vice versa, the ex-Governor would not listen.

The platform, as usual, denounces State and National administrations, and favors an amendment of the Volstead law so as to permit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer. It is also understood that "wetness" accords with the views of the nominee for Governor.

Improvements at New County Home.

When the buildings at Esperanza are repaired and remodeled, Yates county will have a model home for its adult wards. The first floor of the main building will be fitted up for the Superintendent's living quarters. The second floor will be divided into wards instead of individual rooms. The large hall on this floor be used as a sitting room and the lockers, for the women inmates. The annex at the northwest of the building will all be made two stories high, the upper floor to be used as a dormitory for men; the lower floor will be for a dining room, reading room and lockers for men. The woman's dining room will be on the second floor of the main building, with a dumb waiter to it from the kitchen. A laundry will be built at the front of the basement, west of the main entrance. The top of this will be on a level with the water table of the house, and it will have a concrete roof, which may be used for a porch. The property now has a reservoir with 1400 barrel capacity, which is fed by springs. The water will be piped to the house wherever needed. The boiler used for heating the old home will be used here. At present a cesspool will be used to care for the sewerage, but eventually some different arrangement will probably be made. There will be bath and toilet facilities o nboth floors of the main building. Electric light and electric power will be used. If service can be secured from the railroad company, that will be used, if not, a plant will be established.

THURSDAY AND FRIDAY
Richard Barthelmess in
TOL'ABLE DAVID
The performance of Richard Barthelmess in Tol'able David is the greatest justification any star could have. This is true in every word. Tol'able David is one of the year's best photodramas. Joseph Hergesheimer's wonderful story of mother-love and boy-love has given Barthelmess the opportunity of his life, and he has not been found wanting. When you see what Barthelmess has made of the boy who wanted to be a man, but was "jes' tol'able" in the eyes of his mountain mother, you will thrill and throb with emotion. Gladys Hulette, Walter P. Lewis, Ernest Torrence are in the cast.
