Graduates with high honors

Amy Wilbur, daughter of Clifford and Janice Wilbur of South Cambridge, graduated Summa Cum Laude from Geneseo State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in elementary and special education.

While at Geneseo, Amy was inducted into the Phi Eta Sigma National Honor Society, Golden Key National Honor Society and Kappa Delta Pi Education Honor Society. She also participated in the Council of Exceptional Children, the Geneseo Mentoring program and was a nursing home volunteer.

Amy has accepted a position at Westmead Elementary School in the Guilderland school district as a kindergarten teacher.

Music Mania camp at Lauderdale

The Adirondack Girl Scout Council is sponsoring "Music Mania" week at Lake Lauderdale in Cambridge the week of August 14. Girls who are not members of the scouts may also attend.

Campers will meet Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday's session will be extended to 7:30 p.m.

During the week girls will share their musical talents and learn new ones. A girl doesn't have to know how to sing, dance or play an instrument.

Girls must have completed kindergarten to be eligible for camp.

Contact the Girl Scout Service Center at 213 Meadowbrook Road, Queensbury for camp cost and registration information.

Co-op announces contest winner

The Village Store Co-op in Cambridge has selected the winner of its logo contest. Olivia Wiley's entry was selected from over twenty original designs submitted.

Wiley, a junior at Cambridge Central School, plans to pursue a career in the graphic arts. In addition to the Co-op's logo, she has collaborated in the design of the McClellan Health System's new logo.

Founded in 1976, The Village Store Co-op is a nonprofit, member-owned and operated cooperative open to the public.

Places second at State meet

Linda Vierecke, an exchange student from Germany, returned to Cambridge from the State Track and Field, Class C-D, with a second place finish in the long jump and fifth in the triple jump.

During the past fiscal year, there were 720 intercepts for child support totaling $619,913 and 2,490 intercepts for repayment of public assistance totaling $2,297,313.

The program can deduct up to 100 percent of winnings for delinquent child support, and up to 50 percent to repay welfare benefits. If a lottery winner fits both criteria, the child support arrears are paid first.

The Salvation Army needs volunteers

The Salvation Army is present in towns and villages throughout Upstate New York. Organized by local volunteers, and known as Service Extension Units, these groups provide emergency family assistance to friends and neighbors in need.

We live in a world that is often less than caring, players in a society which avoids commitment and often fails to forge interpersonal relations. The result is a nation of solitary, lonely people.

Your volunteer participation in the Salvation Army will give you a sense of belonging...of caring...of making a difference, give you a warm feeling.

Your memorial need not be a hehn stone before which flowers are placed annually. Your legacy can be written in lives reclaimed, and children given purpose and direction.

The Salvation Army offers you the opportunity to serve a vital role in this unique organization. In serving, you will keep alive a flame of compassion kindled in darkest England more than a century ago.

Herbert William Webster, 74, of Cambridge, died Monday, June 5, 2000. A funeral service was held on Saturday at the Cambridge United Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Calvin Witham officiating.

He was educated in Rochester and then joined the Army. He served overseas and received the Purple Heart during World War II. When he returned from service, he attended Adirondack Community College, earning a degree in Traffic Control.

He married Elizabeth Omt in 1963. He worked as the traffic manager at Mandeville and King Seed Company in Rochester. In 1969, when Mandeville bought Asgrow Seed, the family moved to Cambridge where he was in charge of shipping and receiving for Mandeville Asgrow until it closed.

Trustees to begin search for new ACC president

The Adirondack Community College (ACC) Board of Trustees has voted not to renew the contract of Dr. Jane M. Harmon as president of the college. The trustees established a committee to conduct a nationwide search for a new president.

The trustees acted after months of meetings and communications with members of the faculty and support personnel, key administrators, community representatives and Dr. Harmon. The trustees investigated complaints about Dr. Harmon's leadership skills and performance and completed an exhaustive evaluation of Dr. Harmon's work based on criteria upon which the president and the board had mutually agreed.

Dr. Harmon's employment contract expires on August 31, 2001. The board voted to place Dr. Harmon on administrative leave until that time and to temporarily reassign to three senior administrators duties related to the day-to-day operation of the college.

Trustee Mary-Elizabeth (Mimi) Fitzgerald was appointed chair of the Presidential Search Committee, which will include other trustees and representatives of the faculty, administrative and support staffs, students and supervisors from Warren and Washington counties.

During this transition period, ACC will continue to move forward to establish new certificate and degree programs the trustees have approved and a college extension program in Washington County, according to Dr. Jack V. Irion, chairman of the Board of Trustees.

The administrators who will temporarily assume duties related to the day-to-day operations of the college are Dr. Rosemary Castelli, Vice President of Academic Affairs and Dean of the College; Dr. Joseph Olson, Vice President for Student and Administrative Services; and Louis Buck, Associate Dean for Development. The administrators will be assisted by Dr. Irwin "Butch" Rehm, a longtime faculty member at ACC, now retired, who has been a consultant to the college on grant-seeking and administrative matters.

State recoups prize monies won by deadbeat parents

Governor George E. Pataki has announced the state collected more than $2.9 million in Lottery prize money from deadbeat parents and former welfare recipients in fiscal year 1999-2000.

Governor Pataki fought to implement the Lottery Intercept Program, which was enacted in 1995. Since it started, more than $7 million in public assistance costs have been recouped and more than $1.5 million in back child support has been collected - a total of $8.5 million that includes the 1999-2000 collections.

The intercept program is a cooperative effort between the state Office of Temporary and Disability Assistance (OTDA) and the State Division of Lottery. The state matches the names of lottery winners with files from OTDA, identifying those who owe back child support or who have received welfare benefits up to 10 years prior to winning a lottery prize.

During the past fiscal year, there were 720 intercepts for child support totaling $619,913 and 2,490 intercepts for repayment of public assistance totaling $2,297,313.

The program can deduct up to 100 percent of winnings for delinquent child support, and up to 50 percent to repay welfare benefits. If a lottery winner fits both criteria, the child support arrears are paid first.

Since taking office in 1995, Governor Pataki has made the collection of child support a key priority of his welfare reform initiatives. Of the record setting $1 billion in child support collections during 1999, more than $34 million was collected monthly - $411 million annually - for 187,228 former TANF families.

Collections for the first three months of 2000 are $263 million, up more than $44 million from the same time period in 1999.

Concurrently, other welfare reforms advocated and advanced by the Governor in conjunction with his overall agenda for the renewal of New York have had a profound effect on the welfare caseload. Since January 1995, the combined number of recipients declined from 1,643,832 to 836,346, a total reduction of 807,486 persons, or 49 percent.

Governor Pataki's child support successes won him the 1997 Golden Heart award from the national Association for Children for Enforcement of Support (ACES) organization. The Governor received the same award from the New York State chapter of ACES in 1998.

Nothing that was worthy in the past dearts, no truth or goodness realized by man ever dies or can die.

Motorcycle driver injured

On June 10, the Washington County Sheriff's Department responded to a serious personal injury motor vehicle accident on State Route 4 in the Town of Whitehall.

At approximately 1:20 p.m., an eastbound vehicle driven by Peter Zahn, 18, of Shoreham, Vermont, was attempting to make a left turn onto County Route 9, Whitehall. Passengers in the vehicle were Kate Gillen, 20, and Karl Zahn, 20, of Vermont. During that time, an eastbound motorcycle, driven by Norman Bevins, 26, of Rutland, Vermont, was in the westbound lane attempting to overtake Mr. Zahn's vehicle. The vehicles collided and Mr. Bevins was thrown from his motorcycle.

Bevins was transported by the Skenesborough Rescue Squad to the Rutland Regional Hospital for serious injuries sustained in the accident. He was listed in critical condition due to severe head and facial trauma. Neither Mr. Zahn nor his passengers were injured.

The investigation is continuing by the Washington County Sheriff's Department.
