Guarantee that every thing you lose will be returned if you place an ad in these columns—but—a few cents spent here will bring good results:

B. F. Look, of Penn Yan, lost his Masonic pin some time ago. Two weeks ago he advertised for it in this section of the Chronicle-Express. Later he called us up to say that the pin had been returned to him. A woman found it in a davenport which Mr. Look had moved for her but she thought nothing of it and set the pin aside. Then she read the ad in this paper. Now Mr. Look has his pin.

Many people find articles and wait for the loser to advertise for them in order to return the property.

A cymbal was left by one of the band boys in the grand stand on the last night of the Yates County Fair. For weeks it was lost, until the owner placed a lost ad in these columns. Through this ad the finder located the owner and returned the cymbal.

It will pay you to use the classified ad section of the Chronicle-Express—

His Duty

During a duststorm at one of the army camps a recruit sought shelter in the cook's tent. "If you'd put the lid on that camp kettle you would not get so much dust in the soup," said the recruit.

"See here, my lad," said the cook, "your business is to serve your country."

"Yes," replied the recruit, "but not to eat it."

BELLONA-DRESDEN LYCEUM COURSE

Blue Bird Guild Selling Tickets For High-Class Entertainments — Programs Repeated in Dresden Church

A series of high class entertainments are soon to be given in Bellona. The first number will be given October 20th, one week from Wednesday, entitled the "Loveless Quartet." Twin brothers, Hermon and Harmon Loveless, married twin sisters, Lola and Lela, out in the Ozark mountains, and the result is the Loveless Quartet. This program consists of vocal and instrumental selections, featuring an Hawaiian musical sketch, properly costumed. You will be sure to enjoy the first number. Remember the date, October 20th.

Wednesday, October 27th, will be an evening with John F. Chambers. You will enjoy the readings and impersonations of this dramatic artist as he interprets life to you as he has seen it. The "human" side of human nature will be presented in all its contrasts. You will like him.

The third number will be given November 3rd, entitled "The New York Festival Players." One-act plays are featured by the Festival Players of New York. In addition to their dramatic ability the members of this company are talented musicians and offer song groups with instrumental accompaniment. You like bright, clean, distinctive, highly-amusing plays and much effort has been expended in preparing a repertoire which will combine genuine diversion and real dramatic quality. Members of this company have had fundamental training as well as practical experience.

The last in the series will be given November 10th by Frank P. Johnson, lecturer with Irene Taylor Johnson, entertainment prelude. The Johnson lectures are constructive. They point the way to community prosperity. They are filled with illustrations of American communities that have surmounted the barriers and are going forward. Hear him. Subjects, "The Basis of Liberty;" "Five Miles from Main Street;" "The Aristocracy of Achievement." A delightful half-hour prelude of readings and cartoons by Irene Taylor Johnson will precede the lecture by Mr. Johnson. Mrs. Johnson will also make sketches of people in the audience.

The talent is furnished by Collins Lyceum Service, of Byron, N. Y. This is the same bureau that furnished the series of entertainments that was put on last winter and which we all enjoyed so well.

The Blue Birds are sponsoring these entertainments and are not doing it for financial gain but to give the people of Bellona a program of good, clean entertainments which will be enjoyed by young and old. The proceeds go to the Community Hall. Admission, season tickets, $1.25; children, 7 to 12, 75c; single tickets, 50c.

Do not forget the dates: October 20, Loveless Quartet; October 27, John F. Chambers, entertainer; November 3, New York Festival Players; November 10, Frank P. Johnson and Irene Taylor Johnson.

Tickets may be had from members of the Blue Bird Guild. Get a generous supply for yourself and family.—(Bellona Corres.)

These same entertainments will be given on the following evenings in the Dresden Methodist church. The Dresden dates are Oct. 21, 28 and Nov. 4, 11.

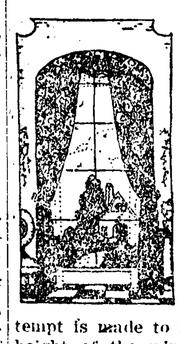
Draping High French Window

While the present-day tendency is toward low-spreading roofs and wide windows rather than high ones, there are still many women who have the problem of the old-fashioned drawing-room, with tall windows reaching nearly or entirely to the floor. In these stately old rooms the great difficulty is getting sufficient light. If an attempt is made to lessen the apparent height of the windows, by means of shades or valances, the one source of light is cut off—that is, the reflection of the light in the sky which shows above the buildings across the way.



I recently saw an interesting treatment of one of these very high windows. The curtains, which were of a lustrous, semitransparent printed silk, rich in color, were caught back with bands and rosettes of silk in plain color, at about the heights of the chair rail. Beneath them was a veil of filet net, with a delicately woven pattern near the bottom.

At the top of this lofty window was a shaped valance cleverly planned to cut down the height and yet to admit every bit of light possible. This valance curved down at the sides but was shaped up in the center with only a bit of a dip to break the line of the side draperies. Beneath this valance a straight valance of the filet net gave a finishing softness and another little break in the height, without sacrificing a ray of light.

To make so high a window seem lower by breaking up the long lines pleasantly and naturally is the achievement of a truly ingenious home decorator.

U. S. COMMISSIONER HENDERSON DIES

While living in Yates county he was catcher for several years on the Penn Yan semi-professional Southern Tier League baseball team.

Commissioner Three Years

Mr. Henderson was appointed United States commissioner three years ago, succeeding L. Earl Higbee. He handled thousands of Volstead cases, giving up most of his private practice in order to take care of the increasingly numerous liquor violations. He systematized his office machinery so as to be able to dispose of the cases with speed and thoroughness.

Judge Frank Cooper, who appointed him, has expressed himself as pleased with the manner in which cases came to him from the commissioner's court and prohibition enforcement officials learned that when they obtained a warrant from Henderson it seldom failed to be accurate.

Defendants, lawyers and prosecutors have often declared that Mr. Henderson could be depended upon to treat the various angles of cases with fairness and sympathy, the guilty finding him unyielding and the innocent receiving the benefit of any existing doubt.

Enthusiastic Sportsman

Mr. Henderson was an enthusiastic hunter and fisherman, carrying on the traditions of his father and grandfather as experts with rod and gun. He was an unusually good marksman and few equaled him as a fisherman. He was a member of the Citizens' Club, Central City Consistory, S. P. R. S. and Tigris Temple, Mystic Shrine.

Mr. Henderson is survived by his wife; a sister, Mrs. Leona VanDyke, of Himrod; a cousin, John Henderson, of Albany; a nephew, Malcolm VanDyke, of Himrod, a liberal arts student in Syracuse University, who lived with him, and two nieces, Miss Charlena VanDyke and Miss Mary VanDyke.

Funeral services were conducted in St. Paul's Episcopal church at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning by Rev. Dr. Henry H. Hadley, rector. Rev. Almon A. Haynes, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, assisted.

Members of organizations to which Mr. Henderson belonged, members of the Onondaga bar association and court officials paid their respects to the late commissioner at the home.

After the ceremony in St. Paul's the body was taken to Himrod, Yates county, Mr. Henderson's birthplace. Rev. John Wootton, rector of St. Mark's church, Penn Yan, officiated at the burial services in Himrod cemetery at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Members of Milo Masonic lodge, of which Mr. Henderson was a member, conducted its ritual at the grave.

The man who can be depended upon to see the job through is ever beloved by his employer.

DRESDEN
