From the Token, for 1829.

THE BRIDAL.

[BY GRANVILLE MELLEN.]

Young Beauty at the altar! Oh! kneel down
All ye that come to gaze into her face,
And breathe low prayers for her. See, at her side
Stand her pale parents, in their latter days
Pondering that bitter word, the last farewell!
The father, with a mild but tearless eye,
The mother, with both eye and heart in tears,
He, with his iron nature just put off,
Comes from the mart of noisy men a while
To witness holier vows than bind the world,
And taste once more the fount of sympathy;
She, from the secret chamber of her sighs,
The home of woman! she has softly come
To stand beside her child, her only child,
And hear the pale-lipped promises. She comes
With hands laid meekly on the bosom, yet
With eye upraised, as though to catch one glance,
Like that of childhood, from that pallid face
That hang for hours imploringly on her's,
In the long iron years of trial. Now
She would endure those cruel years again
To take her, as an infant, back to arms
That shielded and encircled her ere she
Had blossomed into life. But lo! she stands
A plighted, lovely creature at her side,
The child all lost in woman. The whole world
Contains for her no glory now, like that
That centres in her full and thrilling heart.
Her eye roves not, is fixed not, but a deep
And lovely haze, as though she were in vision,
Has gathered on its dark transparency.
Her sigh is on the future—clouds and dreams.
Her head is bent, and on her varying cheek
The beautiful shame flits by, as hurrying thoughts
Press out the blood from the o'erteeming citadel.
Roses and buds are struggling through her hair
That hangs like night upon her brow, and see!
The dew is on their bloom—Oh! emblem fair
Of pure, luxuriant youth, ere yet the sun
Of toiling, heated life, hath withered it,
And scattered all its fragrance to the winds!

This world was never created for man to dwell in, but to pass through. Weak reason cannot teach us to regard our life in all its remote relations, but was bestowed upon us simply for the regulation of our duties here. When it wanders without the limits which nature has assigned, it becomes madness. Of one thing we are certain: we must die. Though reason shudder—though nature revolt—though pleasure sicken—yet no doubt can struggle, even into momentary existence, concerning this termination to my career. Days, months, years, may flit by, but they glide with the startling rapidity of the waveless stream verging towards the cataract—and I am borne along by this lapsing current to my grave. While under the influence of this never-pausing power, how can man forget himself, in the fruitless pursuit of floating straws, or centre all his hopes on empty bubbles! A few more pleasures—a few more pains—a little rain, and a little sun—and then lowers the eternal night of death. We should always remember this. Thrones have been dishonored—cities ruined—countries laid desolate—and the earth bathed with the blood of faithful hearts—because man has forgotten that he must die. I do not wish to cherish melancholy, nor to darken my imagination with images of the grave. These are, literally, nothing, or merely the outward show to terrify the weak. The mere pang of dissolution, or the pains of the death-bed, are not the bitterest sorrows to which mortals are subjected. It is not this that strikes the soul with such chilling terror, but the idea of leaving for ever "the warm realms of light," with all their thousand fascinations. The scenes in which we have moved, although at other times unattractive—those whom we have loved, although perchance whom we have loved in vain—the memory of these, when it steals into the imagination of the dying man, must make him shrink in agony from the mysterious gloom, and cling, O, how convulsively! to this existence, desolate and heart-rending as it often is. And yet we must die. In this humor I am accustomed to admire the dearest pleasures as if I walked through a world of dreams. Their shapes, their colors, their delicious fascinations, delight my fancy, and impress my heart. But let me never take them for substance. We dwell on clouds; light gilds them, and they shine; winds touch them, and they change; time rolls over them—and where are they? Vain world! Cheating delights! False and capricious hope! The simple wanderer seeks the rainbow, and finds it nothing; he plucks the flowers, and they fade at his touch; his soul is wrapped up in the music, and it dies away. Life is but a brief travel through these visions: clouds, tempests, and wintry darkness brood around, irradiated by a few gleams, which shine only to disappear. But there is a star which never fades: the tempest cannot extinguish, nor the clouds obscure its brightness:—the hope of heaven. Though the earth revolve, and shake, and yield to every change—still do thou, from thy fair throne in the depths of space, fixed for ever, shine on! Shall I weary myself with chasing the false and feeble lights around me, when I can stand in the sunlight of God, and gaze on thee?

LOVE'S LANGUAGE.

In the following prettily told anecdote, we are made acquainted with another of Cupid's communications, besides "nods and sparklings of the speaking eye."—There is something delightfully delicate in the idea of avowing or learning an attachment through the medium of flowers, it saves all the hemming and hawing and "looking down to blush, and the looking up to sigh," and the stammering and the damage, to fans and good grammar, which are apt to occur on such occasions.

"Not long ago, a young officer, who has made the campaign of Egypt, fell in love with a young Parisian, and in the Spanish fashion began to walk under her window. The lady was under the guardianship of her brother, who, being a married man, and wishing to secure his sister's fortune for his own family, was of course much averse to her marrying. The lover, unable to open a correspondence in the usual way, but learning that his Rosina, was fond of flowers, and had trafic with the bouquetiere several times a week, he thought himself of turning to account the knowledge he had acquired in the east of the language of flowers, and forthwith established his head quarters in the market. The bouquetiere was gained, and by her means, he conveyed to his mistress a carnation, the emblem of an ardent passion. Some days after he received in return a honey-suckle, the symbol of friendship; he replied by a heliotrope, which means love in sadness, and added the amorath, as a postscript, to signify constancy. For a long time he received only the eternal honey-suckle; but at last a rose bud appeared, the avowal of a mutual affection, and then a veronica, which says, as plainly as a flower can speak, "the more I see you, the more I love you."—The captain was enchanted; and although his mistress was hardly yet of age, he resolved to bring the romance to a conclusion, and carry her off. This he explained in a very complicated bouquet; but unfortunately the young lady was not equally proficient in the language of flowers.—Wishing to make a longer reply than usual, she so embroiled her ideas that the astonished lover found among the flowers a pied-de-lion, (coquetry) the monkshood, (raillery) and at last a superb cockle-weed, "the doleful emblem of strife and indifference." The despairing lover, when he abandoned his position in the flower-market, was almost tempted to throw himself over the parapet. Believing that he had received his leave from Love, he petitioned for that also of Mars; and in this double retirement, like a true knight of romance, added to his coat of arms a scabious, the token of widowhood and grief."—Mirror.

THE SCHOOLMASTER "BOARDING ROUND."

EXTRACT from a Journal of a Vermont schoolmaster, published in a Vermont paper.

Monday—Went to board at Mr. B's, had a baked goose for dinner; supposed from its size, the thickness of its skin, and other venerable appearances, to have been one of the first settlers of Vermont—made a slight impression on the patriarch's breast. Supper—cold goose and potatoes; family consisting of the man, good wife, daughter Peggy, four boys, Pompey the dog, and a brace of cats—fire built in the square room about nine o'clock, and a pile of wood, laid by the fire place, saw Peggy scratch her fingers, and could'nt take the hint—felt squeamish about the stomach, and talked about going to bed. Peggy looked sullen, and put out the fire in the square room; went to bed, and dreamed of having eaten a quantity of stone wall.

Tuesday—Cold gander for breakfast, swamp tea and some nutcakes; the latter some consolation. Dinner—The legs, &c. of the gander done up warm; one nearly despatched. Supper—The other leg, &c. cold; went to bed as Peggy was carrying the fire into the square room; dreamed I was a mud turtle, and got my back broke and could not get over again.

Wednesday—Cold gander for breakfast; complained of sickness, and could eat nothing. Dinner—Wings, &c of the gander warmed up; did my best to destroy them for fear they should be left for supper; did not succeed: dreaded supper all the afternoon. Supper—Hot Indian Johnny cakes, and no goose; felt greatly relieved, thought I had got clear of the gander, and went to bed for a good night's rest; disappointed; very cold night, and could'nt keep warm in bed; got up and stopped the broken window with my coat and vest; no use; froze the tip of my toe a little before morning.

Thursday.—Breakfast; cold gander again; felt very much discouraged to see the gander not half gone: went a visiting for dinner and supper; slept abroad and had pleasant dreams.

Friday.—Breakfast abroad: Dinner at Mr. B's, cold gander and hot potatoes; last very good, eat three and went to school quite contented. Supper: cold gander and no potatoes; bread heavy and dry; had the head ache, and could'nt eat; Peggy much concerned; had a fire built in the square room, and thought that she and I had better set there out of the noise; went to bed early: Peggy thought too much sleep bad for the head ache.

Saturday.—Breakfast, cold gander and hot Indian Johnny cake; did very well; glad to come off so. Dinner—cold gander again; did'nt keep school this afternoon; weighed, and found I had lost six pounds the past week; grew alarmed; had a talk with Mr. B. and concluded I had boarded out his share.

Trait of good Society.—I have observed that the distinguished trait of people accustomed to good society, is a calm, imperturbable quiet, which pervades all their actions and habits, from the greatest to the least—they eat in quiet, move in quiet, live in quiet and lose their wife or even their money in quiet; while low persons cannot take up either a spoon or an apron without making such an amazing noise about it.

CASH FOR FLAX SEED.

I WILL pay seven shillings per Bushel, for any quantity of good Flax-Seed, at my Store in Geneva.

JOHN H. SWIFT.

Oct. 14, 1828. 09

FOR SALE, an elegant and well situated TAVERN STAND in the village of Waterloo, well known by the name of Green Tavern, and owned by Foster Barnard—at present occupied by George Parsons. Also, a in the village of Geneva, situated in Main-Street, and occupied by Dr. J. Smith, Jr. Terms of payment made easy. Inquire of

HOUSE & LOT,

P. HASTINGS, GEO. BARNARD. } Com'tee of the Estate of F. Barnard.

Geneva, August 25, 1828.

SOUVENIR & TOKEN.

JUST received at the Geneva Bookstore, a new supply of the above elegant gifts, for 1829.

Also, the following new Books:

DOMESTIC DUTIES, or Instructions to Young Married Ladies, on the Management of their Households, and the regulations of their Conduct in the various relations and duties of Married Life: by Mrs. Parkes.

PELHAM; or the Adventures of a Gentleman—2 vols.

FAREWELL TO TIME, or Last Views of Life, and Prospects of Immortality, &c. by the author of the Morning and Evening Sacrifice.

FLUTE & FIFE PRECEPTORS—Blair's Rhetoric, abridged, Integral Calculus, &c. &c.

J. BOGERT.

January 6, 1829.

Drawing School.

MISS LEWIS,

PROPOSES to teach Drawing, Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, between the hours of two and four o'clock.—Lessons will be given with the Pencil, with Water-Colors and black Crayons—$3 per quarter or 24 Lessons. References, Mr. H. Dwight, H. H. Bogert, Esq. Mr. Wm. Young, Mr. A. B. Hall, David Hudson, Esq. D. W. Lewis, Esq. Mr. R. Rumney, Dr. G. L. Rose.

Geneva, December 24, 1828. 4:19

TO CAPITALISTS,

MERCHANTS, MANUFACTURERS, and MECHANICS.—The Subscribers now offer for Sale on reasonable terms, several valuable LOTS & WATER PRIVILEGES, for Hydraulic and other purposes, situated on the Out-Let of the Crooked Lake, (a durable and valuable stream of water,) in the Village of DRESDEN, County of Yates, and state of New-York, about 12 miles south of the village of Geneva, County of Ontario, bordering on the western shore of the Seneca Lake for nearly a mile, and adjacent to the Flouring Mills of the Subscribers, (which annually manufacture from 50 to 80,000 Bushels of Wheat,) and is in the heart of a rich and flourishing population.

Also—about 100 VILLAGE, WATER & OUT LOTS, eligibly situated, (commanding a fine view of the Lake from 15 to 20 miles,) with the privilege of Docking into the Lake as far as necessary for commercial purposes.

This is one of the most eligible situations on the Seneca Lake for the man of business. It has already a large share of Mercantile and Forwarding business; being the chief depot for merchandise and all kinds of Produce for an extent of country for upwards of forty miles; and as soon as the Cayuga and Seneca Canal (a Branch of the Erie Canal) is completed, which will probably be this season, business of all kinds will increase at this place in proportion to the rapid growth of the surrounding country.

Apply to the subscribers, on the premises, or to H. H. BOGERT, Esq. residing at Geneva, Ontario county, N. Y.

I. BOGERT & Co.

Dresden, Yates Co. N. Y. Sept. 1, 1828. 03

BY order of Charles Butler, a commissioner to perform certain duties of a Judge of the Supreme Court—Notice is hereby given to all the creditors of Erastus Shepard, of the village of Geneva, in the county of Ontario, an insolvent debtor, to show cause, if any they have, before the said commissioner, at the house kept by William Blossom, in the town of Canandaigua, in the county of Ontario, on the seventeenth day of February next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, why an assignment of the said insolvent's estate should not be made, and his person be exempted from imprisonment, pursuant to the act entitled "An act to abolish imprisonment for debt in certain cases," passed April 7, 1818. Dated this 16th day of December, 1828.

6:18

WRITING INK.

JUST received, a large quantity of the elegant and durable Black Writing INK, prepared by Maynard & Noyes, Boston. It is put up into Bottles of different sizes, and for Sale by the dozen and single at the Bookstore of the subscriber, in Main-street, nearly opposite the Hotel.

J. BOGERT.

Geneva, 1st Dec. 16

KITTRIDGE's Celebrated

Rheumatic Ointment.

FOR the cure of Rheumatism, Gout, Sciatica, and Lumbago—Price 50 cts. per bottle. Also, KITTRIDGE's

SPRAIN LINAMENT,

For the cure of Sprains, Fractured Bones, Dislocations, Bruises, and Incipient Swellings—Price 50 cents.

A quantity of the above articles, with directions for their use, constantly on hand for Sale at Doct. CARTER's and at Doct. TOWNSEND's Druggest Stores, in Main-Street, Geneva. July, 1828. 96

LAND NEAR GENEVA.

FOR Sale, 75 Acres of LAND, lying one mile and an half from this village, 18 Acres of which are cleared, and the residue in wood. For particulars inquire at this Office. June 7, 1828. 90

WHITE MUSTARD SEED.

THE above popular and efficacious remedy for the cure of Dyspepsia, or Indigestion; just received and for sale at the sign of the Lion & Mortar, Main-Street, Geneva.

W. A. TOWNSEND.

Geneva, June 24, 1828. 93

WOOL CARDING,

Cloth Dressing and MANUFACTURING.

THE subscriber having procured and put in successful operation a first rate Steam Engine, for propelling his machinery, will in future be enabled to carry on the business of Carding, Cloth Dressing and Dying, in its various branches, and during all seasons of the year. He is furnished to accommodate his customers in the best possible manner.

His establishment is situated directly on the margin of Seneca Lake, a short distance south of the Franklin House, where he respectfully solicits from his old customers and the public generally, a share of patronage.

He keeps constantly on hand a good assortment of Cloths, which he will sell cheap for cash, or exchange for Wool.

CHESTER FRANCIS.

Geneva, 22d September, 1828. 06

GENEVA BAKERY.

OLD ESTABLISHMENT.

THE subscriber respectfully informs his old customers and the public in general, that he continues the BAKING BUSINESS at his old Stand, in Main-street, Geneva, where he will be pleased to wait upon and furnish them with the very best articles in his line, viz. BREAD, CRACKERS, CAKE, &c. &c. Grocers, Taverners, &c. furnished at wholesale at the lowest prices. As he is determined to use none but the first quality Flour and other materials, he may with confidence assure the public that his articles will be of a superior kind.

Cash and the highest price will be paid for first quality old or new WHEAT.

An APPRENTICE at the Baking business will be taken. One that can be well recommended for industry, activity, and honesty, will receive good encouragement.

☞ All persons indebted are requested to make payment by the first of February, and save costs.

NATHAN DASKHAM.

Geneva, 5th January, 1829. 6mch21

BLANKS

For Sale at the Geneva Bookstore.

Storage & Forwarding.

THE subscribers will, as soon as the Cayuga & Seneca Canal is completed, start a DAILY LINE OF BOATS between this and Albany, intersecting the New-York and Ohio line. They will also run a PACKET daily between this and Montezuma.

H. MEECH & Co.

Geneva, 18th August, 1828. 01

STORE & TAVERN STAND,

FOR SALE.

THE Store and Tavern Stand formerly owned by Philander Woodworth, in the village of RUSHVILLE, in the town of Middlesex, county of Yates, (now occupied by Messrs. Dudley and Brother as merchants,) with about six acres of LAND, is offered at a reduced price. Apply to the subscriber.

H. H. BOGERT.

Geneva, 14th Oct. 1828. 09tf

NOTICE.

THE Copartnership subsisting between the subscribers will be dissolved on the first day of January next. All persons indebted to them are requested to make payment before the first day of October next, at which time all delinquents will be prosecuted without discrimination.

ROGER HASKELL,
HIRAM WALBRIDGE.

☞ On hand, a good Assortment of

Saddlery, Hard-ware

AND TRIMMINGS,

which, with a general assortment of SADDLES, HARNESS, SADDLE TREES, &c. will be sold very low for ready pay.

H. & W.

Geneva, August 19, 1828. 6m00*

NOTICE.

THE Copartnership of George Stafford & Co. consisting of George Stafford, Hallenbake Stafford & Spencer Stafford, Junior, was dissolved by its limitation on the first day of April last. Those indebted to the late firm will please take notice that any demands unsettled on the first day of September, will be left with Messrs. Bogert and Grosvenor for collection.

GEORGE STAFFORD,
HALLENBAKE STAFFORD,
SPENCER STAFFORD, Jun.

☞ THE Business will be continued in the Hard Ware Line by George Stafford & Spencer Stafford, Senior, at the old Stand, (corner of Water & Seneca-Streets,) under the firm of G. STAFFORD & Co.

Geneva, June 20, 1828. 94

☞VERY PARTICULAR

NOTICE.

ALL persons indebted to the subscribers are informed that unless their Notes and Accounts are settled or paid by the middle of February, they will be put into other hands for immediate collection.

J. B. & R. RUMNEY.

Geneva, 6th January, 1829. 21

For Sale,

IN the village of Clyde, in the county of Wayne, a two story DWELLING HOUSE and Out Houses, now occupied as a tavern stand.—The dwelling House is situated directly on the bank of the Erie Canal, and is one of the most eligible situations for a Public House in that flourising village.

Also, one hundred Acres of good LAND, lying about half a mile north from Clyde and the Canal. This Land is part under improvement and the rest heavily covered with valuable timber. This Lot will be sold together or divided into parts of 15 or 20 acres each, to suit purchasers.

All of the above property is situated in the heart of a rich and flourishing country, and is rapidly increasing in value. Possession will be immediately given and the title made indisputable. For terms apply to Mr. George Burrall, of Clyde, or to John Scoon, in Geneva, who is authorised to dispose of the above mentioned property.

Geneva, August 26, 1828. 02

HOUSE AND LOT.

FOR SALE, the House and Lot now occupied by M. Hayes, situate in the village of OVID, county of Seneca. Possession given on the 1st of May next. Apply to ALVAH GREGORY, Esq. in Ovid, or to the subscriber, in Geneva.

JAMES BOGERT.

February 5, 1828.

FOR SALE to ACTUAL SETTLERS

11,000 ACRES OF LAND,

BEING the unsold part of Township Number Six, in the Seventh Range in the town of Ossian, county of Allegany, and state of New-York. The Land is of an excellent quality, and covered with all the varieties of thrifty Timber which mark the superior soil of the Genesee country. It abounds with never failing springs of the purest water; and it may be said, with truth, that no part of the United States can boast of a more healthy climate. Canascraga and Sugar Creeks, which are branches of the Genesee river, pass through the township, and afford numerous and excellent sites for Mills and other Hydraulic works. The township lies two miles west of the flourishing village of Dansville, in the county of Livingston; this village is situated on the Canascraga Creek, at the distance of 15 miles, by land, from Williamsburgh, from whence good navigation is afforded by the Genesee river to the Erie Canal at Rochester (30 miles by water:) and at the distance of about 12 miles from Arkport, on the Canisteo, a navigable branch of the Susquehanna river. A barrel of flour can be transported from Rochester to New-York for about $1 25, and from Arkport to Baltimore at about the same rate. The Land is subdivided into LOTS of about 100 Acres each, and will be sold at very low prices on a credit of nine years, with annual interest. Improved Farms in the counties of Ontario, Cayuga, Seneca and Yates, will be taken in exchange for Lots at a fair cash valuation.

The title is indisputable, and good warranty deeds will be executed to purchasers, by the proprietor. Col. Robert Troup.

For other particulars apply to the subscriber, at the Land Office in Geneva, in the county of Ontario.

[861] GEORGE GOUNDRY.

REFUGE FOR THE AFFLICTED.

THOUSANDS of living witnesses are ready to attest to the efficacy of Dr. CHAMBERS' MEDICINE as a remedy for INTEMPERANCE. ☞Apply before your case is hopeless. ☞ The Remedy can be obtained of the subscriber, Agent to the Proprietors, at his Medical Store, two doors north of Col. Bogert's Bookstore, Main Street.

W. A. TOWNSEND.

Geneva, April 2, 1828. 81

P. S—Persons at a distance can have the Medicine forwarded by mail, by enclosing the necessary fee, $5, post paid.

WHEATON'S ITCH OINTMENT

THE character of this Ointment is so well established as to need no recommendations, for being a pleasant, safe, and sure remedy for that loathsome disease.—It is also a cure for other eruptions of the skin, particularly for the Salt Rheum and Chilblains. Price 37½ cts.—Also,

DR. DAVENPORT'S

BILIOUS PILLS.

These Pills are justly esteemed for their easy operation and good effects as a mild, safe, and sovereign remedy for Bilious Fevers, Pains in the Head, Stomach, and Bowels; Jaundice, Scurvy, Piles, Rheumatism, Inflammation in the Eyes, Female Complaints, Acid Stomachs, Indigestion, Worms, Eruptions on the Skin, Dysentery, Bilious Cholic, Dizziness, and Headach. They are likewise an antidote against Infectious diseases, removing Obstructions of every kind, by dissolving and discharging the morbid matter, helping Digestion, restoring a lost Appetite, and a sure relief for costive habits. They are so accommodated to all ages, seasons and hours, that they may be taken in winter or summer, at any time of the day, without regard to diet, or hindrance of business. Their operation is so gentle, pleasant and effectual, that by experience they are found to exceed any other physic heretofore offered to the public. Those who are travelling by sea or land, will find them a great preservation from the diseases of foreign climates.

Also,—WHEATON'S JAUNDICE BITTERS, which have been proved by thousands to be so eminently useful in removing all Jaundice and Bilious Complaints. Price 37½ cts.

DAVENPORT'S

CELEBRATED EYE WATER

which needs only to be used to be highly approved of, for all sorts of weak and sore Eyes.

A fresh supply of the above Medicine just received and for Sale, at the Druggists' Stores of W. H. TOWNSEND, and W. W. CARTER, in Main-street Geneva. Also, at Seneca Falls, by B. Maltby and S. M. Giddings; at Canandaigua, by E. Warner; at Rochester, by G. Hitchcock; and by the Druggists in Utica, New-York, and Boston.

Geneva, Jan. 1, 1829. 1ych21

CHEMICAL

EMBROCATION,

OR, WHITWELL'S orig'l OPODELDOC, for Bruises, Sprains, Rheumatism, Cramp, Numbness, Stiffness of the Neck or Limbs, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Stings of Insects, Vegetable Poisons, or any external injury. Recommended by one of the first Physicians in the United States, whose certificate, as well as those of numerous respectable individuals, accompany each bottle.

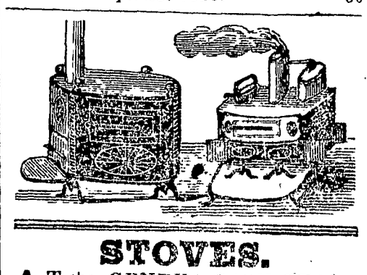
CAUTION.—It is greatly to be deplored, that as soon as any important improvement or discovery is made in Medicine, the community must be cheated, and the inventor, in a degree, deprived of his just reward, by a host of servile imitators, (instigated by envy and self-interest) imposing their spurious compounds on the public, as a substitute for the genuine article, thereby tending to bring such improvements into disrepute, and even utter contempt. Such instances are so numerous, that it is judged by many that all deviations from the common course are unimportant, unless followed by a train of imitators, counterfeiters and impostors. Therefore be sure that you receive Whitwell's Opodeldoc, or you may be most wretchedly imposed upon. Price 37½ cents. ☞ VOLATILE

AROMATIC SNUFF,

For many years celebrated in cases of catarrh, head ache, dizziness, dimness of eye sight, drowsiness, lowness of spirits, hypocondria, nervious weakness, &c.—it is most fragrant and grateful to the smell, being mostly composed of roots and aromatic herbs. It is absolutely necessary for all those who watch with or visit the sick.—Price 50 cents and 25 cents.

☞ The above valuable articles for Sale at the Bookstore of J. BOGERT.

Geneva, Sept. 23, 1828. 60



STOVES.

AT the GENEVA CASH STORE—The subscribers have just received, on consignment, a large supply of COOKING STOVES, with Copper and Tin Furniture.

PARLOR, OVAL & BOX STOVES.

Also—A large quantity of English and Russia Sheet Iron Stove Pipe, which will be sold at unusualy low prices and on accommodating terms.

DE ZENG & HALL.

Geneva, 22d Sept. 1828. 06

Select Hymns.

JUST published by the subscriber, and for Sale at his Bookstore, a "Selection of Hymns for the Musica Sacra," being the words of the Set Pieces, &c. in that collection of Music—Together with a number of other Hymns, from various authors, with references to Tunes suitable for each.

J. BOGERT.

Geneva, April 2, 1828.

THE CELEBRATED AMERICAN COUGH DROPS.

ARE an effectual remedy for all diseases of the lungs, such as Colds, Obstinate Coughs, Influenza and Consumption. It is now about six years since the discovery of this medicine, and not a case has come to the knowledge of the proprietor, which it has failed of curing or alleviating—it promotes digestion, gives tone and vigor to the stomach, promotes the discharge of phlegm, and restores the lungs to the healthy discharge of its functions.

NEW CERTIFICATES.

This certifies, that the subscriber has been for a long time afflicted with the Asthma, (and for three years was unabled to sleep in a reclining posture,) attended with difficult respiration, and all the other distressing symptoms usually attending the complaint. Had tried almost all the various remedies recommended for the disease, and not finding the least benefit result from their use, had almost despaired of finding any relief.

Having heard the American Cough Drops highly recommended, as a last resort, I made a trial of two bottles, and finding my difficulty of breathing lessened, and my general health improved, I continued the use of them until I had used 12 or 15 bottles, when I found my health completely restored. I can rest well, and have no difficulty of breathing—am able to attend to my business, and have not had any return of the complaint. From the great benefit I have received, and knowing by sad experience, the distress suffered by persons troubled as I have been, I freely recommend the American Cough Drops, as a Medicine that, with perseverance, will, in most instances, alleviate, if not cure the distressing disorder. LYMAN WILCOX.

Berlin, Sept. 12, 1825.

The Subscriber having been for several days severely afflicted with influenza, accompanied with a violent cough, loss of appetite, and symptoms of fever, was entirely cured, by using half a bottle of the American Cough Drops. From a perfect confidence in this remedy, I would recommend a trial of it to all afflicted in a similar way. L. D. VANSANDS.

Middletown, Feb. 25th, 1825.

This certifies, that I was for nine months laboring under a violent affliction of the lungs, attended with a very hard Cough, and every symptom of the consumption; having made use of many remedies without any removal or lessening of the complaint, was induced to try the American Cough Drops as a last resort, and after using one bottle, I was retored to perfect health.

CHARLES D. BUTLER.

Meriden, Jan. 3, 1826.

The Subscriber was violently attacked with the influenza, attended with a violent cough, and many turns of spitting blood and symptoms of an approaching consumption, was induced to make use of the American Cough Drops, and to my astonishment, after using one bottle, I was relieved from every symptom of disease, and my health was perfectly restored.

March 7, 1826. WM. DOYLE.

For Sale at the DRUGGIST STORE of WM. W. CARTER.

Geneva, 30th January, 1828. 1y*72

FARMERS'

Fire Insurance and LOAN COMPANY.

JEREMIAH VAN RENSSELAER, Esq. the Agent of this Company at Canandaigua, having resigned, the public are hereby respectfully informed that the business of Fire Insurance of that Agency will hereafter be under the entire management of JAMES REES, Esq. of Geneva, who will act as General Agent of this Institution in the WESTERN COUNTRY, and who is authorized to make arrangements for the Renewal of all such Policies as may Expire, as well as for any new Insurances that may be applied for.

This Company have a Capital of Five Hundred Thousand Dollars, all paid in and securely invested, together with a large surplus to meet any contingent losses that may be incurred. The public may be assured that all claims for Losses will be adjusted on the most liberal principles, and promptly paid. New-York, April 1, 1828.

JOHN T. CHAMPLIN, Pres't.

JOHN KING, Sec'y.

☞ Those persons who wish INSURANCE, will please apply to the subscriber, at the Office of the Ontario Insurance Company, in Geneva, who is also authorized to Renew Policies issued by that Company and the Western Fire Insurance Company, at Canandaigua, without any other expense than the payment of the premium. The premium of Insurance will be as moderate at this Office as at any other regular Insurance Office in this state.

JAMES REES.

Geneva, April 9, 1828. tf83

LA MOTT'S

COUGH DROPS.

Prepared by A. CROSBY, as see indented on each bottle, and with the signature of A. Crosby with pen and ink, to each bill of directions, which is enveloped in a stereo or check plate. The public have noticed the many certificates from physicians and others, which have accompanied the publicity of this valuable medicine. It is now fairly before a benevolent and enterprising American people, and the vender only asks for it, a place among the list of family medicines for a cough and asthmatic remedy, as a certain pledge of his willingness and ability to reciprocate the favour.

For sale by the principal Druggists in the United States. CAMBRIDGE, N.Y.

The above valuable Medicine, together with Crosby's Chemical JAPAN BLACKING, in large and small bottles—for sale at the Medical Store of

WM. A. TOWNSEND.

Geneva, June 24, 1828. 93