MANY NEW SONGS

Undergraduate Committee Prepares Several New College Songs—Long Felt Want at Last Supplied—Students Practice in Chapel—Attitude of Faculty on the Matter Appreciated by Undergraduates.

Wednesday morning, the chapel service was given over entirely by Professor Ford to the practicing of the new college songs composed by the recently appointed Song Committee. Three songs had been written, and copies of these were distributed among the students and sung with much enthusiasm. In devoting the chapel period to the practicing of the songs, Professor Ford spoke briefly of the importance of such songs as an influence in producing college spirit.

The deplorable lack of a sufficient number of college songs has long been felt by the undergraduate body of the University, and even by the alumni. Last year the matter was brought to a head by the appointment of a song committee from the student body to endeavor to satisfy the long-felt want. Several excellent songs were written by the committee and the work fairly started. This year, a new committee has been appointed, and in a remarkably short time, three songs were prepared and submitted to the student body.

THE ST. LAWRENCE RAM

St. Lawrence, mother dear,
To thee we sing,
And through this northern land
Your praises ring.
We'll hurl thy colors, bold,
To the sky,
We'll stand by thee to win,
To win, or die.

CHORUS

Let us cheer with a ram,
A ram, a ram for loyalty,
And again with a ram,
A ram, a ram for victory.
Let us on to the fight,
The fight, to win our laurels
Bright.

(Repeat verse.)

—Air, "Fordham Ram."

MIDDLEBURY IS EASILY ROUTED BY ST. LAWRENCE

The Scarlet Team Shows Up Big Against the Team from Vermont on Athletic Field in a Forty-six to Nothing Game, Saturday, Before a Large Crowd—St. Lawrence Goal Never in Danger—Many Substitutes Used—Every Man Plays a Fast, Hard Game.

In the game on Saturday the Varsity simply swept the Middlebury team off its feet, and time and again the boys carried the ball down the field for a touchdown until finally the score stood at forty-six to nothing. Every man on the team played a fast, hard game, and went into each play as though the result of the contest depended upon it. Although most of the glory belongs to the backfield, the men on the line showed their temper whenever Middlebury had the ball, by either throwing the opposing backs for a loss or allowing them only a paltry two or three yards. In only one department of the game did Middlebury excel, and that was in the punting; for Leonard booted the ball between forty and fifty yards every time that he kicked.

By a strange coincidence the score of Saturday was within one point of being the same as the score of the preceding game, only reversed, and the men fought like tigers during the last five minutes of play to bring the score up to this point.

The students attended the game in a body, and the large, enthusiastic cheering section was a clear demonstration of the wisdom of making the athletic tax larger and giving a season ticket to each student. The agitation for more songs and yells also bore fruit on Saturday in the varied singing and cheering that was kept up through the game. The new yell "Laurentia" was especially effective, and it rang across the field as clearly and piercingly as a clarion call. This yell was suggested by Professor Gaines, to whom the thanks of the students are due.

Referee Stevens blew his whistle for the start of the game promptly at three o'clock, and Leonard kicked off to Logan, who was downed on the Varsity's thirty-yard line. The St. Lawrence backfield immediately began to rip through the Middlebury line, and before five minutes had passed Logan broke away the field and after running forty yards crossed the line for a touchdown. Welch kicked the goal, and the score stood six to nothing. Kinney kicked off for St. Lawrence, and Chapman, who received the ball, was downed in his tracks. Howard and King could not gain through the line, and Middlebury lost the ball on downs to St. Lawrence. On the next play, Williams circled the end for a gain of forty yards, and Logan followed suit by dodging the Middlebury ends for a run of twenty-five yards and another touchdown. Welch kicked the goal, and the score stood twelve to nothing. Leonard received the kick-off for Middlebury. The Middlebury backs again tried to go through the St. Lawrence line, but Leonard was forced to punt and sent the ball soaring for a distance of forty yards. After being penalized for off-side play, St. Lawrence also punted. King made an end run of twelve yards, and Leonard and Howard by tackle plays secured first down again for Middlebury, but a fumble at this point gave St. Lawrence the ball. Timmerman, who had recovered the ball, secured five yards on an end run, and Williams fifteen. The quarter closed with the ball in the middle of the field and the score twelve to nothing. Logan played by far the best game in this quarter, and it was largely through his work that St. Lawrence scored.

In the second quarter the Varsity did not score, but nevertheless continued to outplay Middlebury and kept the ball in the latter's territory most of the time. Kinney carried the ball first for St. Lawrence and made six yards through center. Timmerman secured first down for the Varsity; then Welch and Logan, between them, circled the ends for thirty yards. Within easy striking distance of the Middlebury goal St. Lawrence was held for downs, and Leonard immediately kicked out of danger. At this point Lafferty and Gately were substituted for Calder and Kennedy respectively. Shay went in at right end for Middlebury. After making several good gains, the Varsity attempted a forward pass but lost the ball. Smith tried to get around the end, but was thrown for a loss. Leonard made one of his long punts and St. Lawrence began working the ball down to the other end of the field. A severe setback was received in two penalizations in succession for off-side play, and in the loss of the ball in another try at a forward pass. After an exchange of punts, the quarter ended.

In the second half Calder and Kennedy went back into the game. Kinney kicked off to Leonard, who carried the ball ten yards before he was tackled. Shay was thrown for a loss, and Middlebury resorted to her punter. Williams caught the punt. Logan, after Timmerman had gained five yards through tackle, made his third touchdown of the game on a long run of forty-five yards around end. Welch kicked the goal, making the score eighteen to nothing. In this part of the game Welch was running the team at quarter back and Williams was playing at end. Howard caught Kinney's kick-off and brought it back twenty yards. Leonard punted to Timmerman, and then St. Lawrence took a march down the field for her fourth touchdown, which was also made by Logan, although this time the ball only had to be carried a short distance for the score. Welch kicked his fourth goal and made the score twenty-four to nothing. On receiving the kick-off Leonard punted the ball for a distance of fifty yards. Again the Varsity made one of its trips down the field for a touchdown. Welch started things by going twenty yards around right end; Calder made the first down; Olds covered eighteen yards on a trick play; and then, after a few more plays, Timmerman was rammed over for a touchdown. Welch for the first time did not kick the goal, and the score was twenty-nine to nothing.

In the first play of the last quarter Hutchins got through the line and threw Smith for a loss. Leonard covered eight yards by skirting the left tackle, but as Howard could not gain on the next play the ball reverted to St. Lawrence. The Varsity now displayed more snap than ever, and a run of twenty yards by Timmerman was followed by three successful forward passes on one of which Calder made thirty yards. Welch scored the touchdown and kicked the goal. Gardner went in at fullback and Kinney was transferred to Hutchins's place on the line. On the kick-off Shay obtained the ball and made a pretty run through the field for twenty yards. Kinney broke through and blocked Leonard's punt, and then fell on the ball. Gardner soon carried the ball over for still another touchdown. Welch kicked the goal, and the score stood forty-one to nothing. Calder recovered a fumble by Middlebury just after the kick-off, and Griswold, Welch, and Logan, by success-
