Marion Heritage Days "A Dutch Treat"

It's a real "Dutch Treat", as the Annual Marion Heritage Festival, honors their traditional Dutch ancestry, on September 8, 1990. Ballots dropped off at the Public Library in Marion determined who would be the honorary "Dutch" King and Queen to reign over the festival. Visitors attending the festival in Dutch costume will be eligible for judging with winner receiving recognition. Breakfast specials begin at 6:00 a.m. for the early riser. A Slo-Pitch Baseball Tournament calls "batter up" at 8:00 and from 9:00 a.m. until closing the day is filled with food and action for all.

School athletic field will provide a bird's eye view of festivities and the surrounding areas. Wagon wheels will turn during the day to give riders a more prosaic and closer to the ground approach.

Music in the park will be continuous after 10:00 a.m. and food will be in abundance throughout the day. Fresh biscuits covered with chicken and gravy, Dutch lettuce, Socyzen, barbecued chicken, Southern barbecued ribs, all will be waiting to temp you as you browse among the attractions. Of course, there will also be plenty of hots and hamburgers for those who can resist the Dutch treats.

Planners did not forget the children, for the Festival schedules a Toddler's Race at 10:30 a.m., a Junior Jog at 11:00, a Junior Obstacle Course at 11:30, as well as a Penny Arcade, face painting and wagon rides.

Antique dealers, a flea market, and downtown sales by merchants will offer opportunities to search for bargains and treasures. The Library will sponsor a used book sale, a will also show video tapes of various Marion events. Other visitors may wish to visit the displays and exhibits in the museum, view the quilts, needlework and woodworking shows, or enjoy the tour of historic cobblestone houses.

The "Dutch" King and Queen will be crowned at 10:00 a.m. after which helicopter rides from the Elementary

Macedon Center's Lumberjack Festival

You won't hear Woody Herman playing "The Woodchopper's Ball", but you will be in for plenty of excitement on September 8 and 9 when the Eighth Annual Lumberjack Festival is held in Macedon Center at the Firemen's Field, Route 31F and Canandaigua Road. All "visiting lumberjacks-for-a-day" can sit down to breakfast in the fire hall from 7:00 - 11:00 a.m. on Saturday or 8:00 - Noon on Sunday at this Festival sponsored by the Fire Department, the Historical Society and the United Methodist Church.

Gates open at 8:00 a.m., and many commercial and craft exhibitors will occupy you until the competition begins at 9:00 on Saturday, with finals starting at 1:00 p.m. on Sunday. There will be log rolling, crosscut sawing, chain sawing, horizontal log chop, buck sawing, and tree feeling. The ever popular greased pole climb is back, complete with the frantic antics of contestants trying to climb a pole greased well with Crisco.

Food is available throughout both days, and dancers can "swing your partner" at the big square dance from 7:00 - 11:00 p.m. Saturday night in the fire hall.

The festival will end Sunday with a drawing for handcrafted wood items. For churchgoers, the "come as you are" church service will be held at 9:30 a.m. Sunday.
