

Garden club to hear talk on bulbs

"Bulbs" will be the subject matter of a talk by guest speaker William L. Meachem at Green Acres Garden Club's general meeting Wednesday, September 9, at North Castle Town Hall Annex.

Mr. Meachem, editor of "Home Garden Magazine" is a resident of Staten Island. He is co-author with Marc Reynolds of 6 Yale Place, Armonk, of "The Garden Bulbs of Spring," published in 1967 and circulating at North Castle Library.

Members of the garden club will meet at 11:30 a.m. in the annex rose garden for their horticulture hour, which will cover competition for points on roses, toward the yearly award of the Carolyn Greenacre silver trophy Mrs. Laurence Alexander is horticulture chairman. Mrs. Charles Di Bernardo and Mrs. Julius Vitarius are in charge of the rose garden this year.

As hospitality chairman for the day, Mrs. Carl A. Arend Jr. will welcome members and guests to a light lunch on the annex terrace at noon.

The meeting proper will be conducted by Mrs. John E. Richardson, president.

Mr. Meachem will be introduced by vice president and program chairman, Mrs. Richard T. Blair.

Mrs. John G. Moore of Hunter Avenue is the new corresponding secretary for the Mt. Kisco branch of the American Association of University Women for 1970-71.

Mrs. Moore is an alumna of the College of New Rochelle, N.Y.

North Castle Public Library director Mrs. Charlotte Devers is interested in obtaining the services of a couple of young men of 16 years or more to act in the capacity of library pages for the coming year. If interested, contact her at the library during regular hours.

Theatron

The new theater unit, Theatron, developed by three board members of the North Castle Players will offer its first original one-act play at Byram Hills High School Saturday, September 19, at 8:30 p.m.

"Slices from a Day Old Pie" by Mickey Klar Marks, will be performed by Deirdre Dyke and Bob Robinson, directed by Pat Kalvar.

As a prologue to the program, a poem, "Definition of Love" by the English poet Andrew Marvell (1621-1678), will be read by Minnie Jo Horwich of Chappaqua. The presentation will close with a film by Andy Kalnick, chairman of workshop for North Castle Players.

There is no door fee and everyone is invited.

Theatron grew out of the long-felt need for total community theater, and three adventurous women made up their minds to get it off the ground this fall.

Mrs. Marks, Mrs. Kalvar and Ruth (Mrs. Cy) Chaiken, all versatile in theater, believe strongly that there are many in the county who write and who would like to see their original works performed.

Also there are many organizations in need of an evening or afternoon hour's entertainment.

Second and third offerings are in the works. New actors are always welcome and information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Kalvar at 9 Castle Road, Chappaqua. Mrs.

Hotchkiss promoted

NEW YORK — Gerald G. Hotchkiss of Bedford, a member of Look's New York advertising sales staff, has been promoted to the newly-created position of manager of travel and transportation advertising.

Prior to joining Look in May, 1967, Mr. Hotchkiss was president of the advertising agency of Kingsley, Manton and Palmer in New York. Before that, he was advertising director of Eastern Airlines, assistant to the director of international editions of Newsweek magazine for three years, and in the merchandising and promotion department of Life for seven years. While with Life, he spent three years as European promotion manager with headquarters in London.

A native of New Haven, Mr. Hotchkiss is a graduate of Yale University. From 1954 to 1956, he was a captain in the Marine Corps, serving 14 months in Korea. He and his wife, Patricia, have two children.

OUTDOOR ART SHOW scheduled by the Friends of North Castle Library for October 3 and 4 is planned by Friends President Marc B. Reynolds and show co-chairmen, Mrs. Nat Steadman and Mrs. Thomas Heyman. The show will be held in the town parking area near the library.

Marks, 67 North Greenwich Road, Armonk; or Mrs. Chaiken, Croton Lake Road, Mt. Kisco.

North Castle Players are sponsoring Theatron's first presentation and hope for a large turnout.

Ladies duplicate bridge meets on Thursdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Walter Weil room of North Castle Library. Those interested in joining this year are asked to soon contact Mrs. Bernard Frechtman, Thornewood Road, or Mrs. Mike Jacobs, Thorne Lane.

Winners in last season's group were 1st place, Mrs. Robert Blome and Mrs. W.R. Fulljames; 2nd place, Mrs. Bert Macdonald and Mrs. Durwood Milone.

Information on the couples groups and the exact dates for the first sessions will be published later.

Story hour

A picture book hour for children four or older will be conducted by the North Castle Public Library starting Wednesday, September 16, in the Walter Weil room.

The program will run for eight consecutive Wednesdays from 10:45 to 11:30 a.m. for approximately 45 minutes.

Registrations will be taken on a first-come basis and may be made at the library or by telephone.

A few non-fiction books just in circulation are: Helen Leavitt's "Superhighway Superhero," with photographs showing how 'from sea to shining sea' the country is strangling in a concrete straightjacket, with pollution and environment making driving a nightmare; "Biography of a River" by John Mylod, with photographs, a history in layman's words of the people and legends of the Hudson.

Nature notes

We have been intrigued at Wampus Bend at having a brown thrasher spend time daily in the feeding area at the kitchen door. We are sure of course that his parents did not teach him to seek human companionship, for, though they nest yearly down the upper drive in the big wild rose bush, they have never appeared near our house.

Last Monday morning we looked out the window early to see two adjacent brown spots in the grass. One was the young thrasher, eating some chick scratch put there the night before. His companion was Aloysius the chipmunk, hunting sun-flower seeds. There were practically no other birds there at the moment and we remarked how they fed peaceably together.

Then Aloysius moved a little too close and the thrasher showed his true colors. He rose in the air, dived and pecked the little chipmunk on the back. Aloysius took off for the stone wall a few feet away, where he sat, with his paws against his chest, panting.

More and more chickadees and titmice are returning daily from the woods and calling sharply for more seed. The woodpeckers who took off a week or more ago, are still away, but can be heard in the thicker woods and brush far from the house.

The sound of the crickets song is shrill now in the evening and we have seen more swallows apparently migrating south. September should bring us the woodcock in the early evening, heading for warmer places.

The Rev. Paul Allen of Poughkeepsie, former pastor of Armonk United Methodist Church, will conduct the final summer lamp and candlelight service at the Middle Patent Church Sunday, September 13, at 8 p.m.

Previous to the evening service, Rev. Allen will open the Charge Conference at the 7 p.m., at which time three new trustees will be elected to the board of the Middle Patent Church. Those whose terms expire are Clinton Ferris, Richard N. Lander and Clinton B. Stevens.

A discussion of an Advent Vesper Service to be given in early December in the Middle Patent Church, will take place during the business meeting. This event will be in the charge of Mrs. Richard N. Lander.

A reunion and farewell party for over 100 June graduates of Byram Hills High School, was given at the home of Brian Portugal, 5 Colonial Court, last Saturday evening.

Students will be leaving for various colleges starting as early as the first of September to begin their freshman year.

Last June five awards were granted to graduating seniors totaling $3,200. The money was sent directly to the colleges of their choice. The recipients are: Laura Branigan, American Academy of Dramatic Arts, New York City; Anne Gouert, New York State University, Brockport, N.Y.; Benjamin Guthrie, New York State University at Potsdam, N.Y.; Elizabeth Hansbury, Seton Hall College, Greenburg, Pa.; and Elissa Henkin, Radcliffe College, Cambridge, Mass.

The Treasure Mart, run by women of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, will reopen Thursday, September 10, for the coming year.

On the Saturday following they will conduct a special sale of furniture and other items, including large gilt picture frames. Victorian in style, they are just what artists are always seeking for oils.

The sale will run from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., and offer sofas, chairs and tables, a dining room mahogany table, a reclining and an upholstered chair. There is a baby carriage and bassinet, a low bench and fire screen and a good mattress and spring.

Mrs. Bert Macdonald, chairman of the mart, said it has been refurbished and she hopes will have added attraction for their many customers. The steering committee, headed by Mrs. Rocco Bamba, has a large crew of volunteers. If you have donations contact Mrs. Macdonald; they are tax deductible.

The Treasure Mart is in the basement of the church at Maple Avenue and old Route 22, across from Wampus Brook Park. Hours are 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. every Tuesday and Thursday.

MOHEGAN LAKE — Lighting apparently ignited part of an old barn early Monday morning on Route 132, which connects Shrub Oak and Route 202.

Twenty-five men and two engines responded to the 6:30 a.m. alarm, according to Chief Vincent Mellone. He said that one corner of the building, located on the Wagnefel property, was found ablaze and it had probably been struck by lightning and smoldered for sometime. Damage was minimal.

Mohegan firemen responded to a fire alarm at 2:48 p.m. Sunday for a dump fire on Route 202 near the Dairy League garages. The burning refuse consisted of old tires and logs and was doused by firemen then covered with dirt by the owner, Crinity Wilson.

Drug arrest

CHAPPAQUA — Robert Yardis, 20, of 17 Winthrop Road, Chappaqua, was arrested at 11:50 Monday night by Westchester Parkway Police who charged him with possession of a dangerous drug in the sixth degree.

Mr. Yardis was in his car at the Saw Mill River Parkway and Roaring Brook Road when he was arrested by Ptl. William Scherer. He was arraigned in Mt. Kisco court and released to the custody of his attorney.

Charles Beattie, director of the center and pool, announced the official closing of the pool area as the end of Labor Day. Tennis courts, however, are open at all times.

He remarked that he was closing another satisfactory year, with a fine staff, a large family registration and a well behaved and cooperative group of children.

Mrs. Allen H. Shaw of Maryland Avenue, chairman of the Byram Hills Scholarship Bridge, has announced that the various playing groups are being organized this month to start play in October for the 1970-71 season.

There was a total of $810 added to the scholarship fund as a result of last season's bridge games. Over 80 resi-
