This baker shapes wood from castoffs

WHITE PLAINS — The Christmas sale and exhibition at the Westchester Art Society, 88 East Post Road has a special feature this year: wood-carvings made from old table legs, chair legs and baseball bats.

After a lifetime of kneading dough Shimon Green of 50 Fountain Place, New Rochelle, has taken up new tools. A baker who retired four years ago because of bad health, Shimon Green now carves wood.

A daughter had taken him to see the Rockefeller collection of primitive art from Dutch Guiana at the Whitney Museum. He wasn't an art lover or museum goer, but the collection at the Whitney impressed him and remained in his mind.

He started by using an old second-hand kitchen set which he and his wife had bought many years ago. He worked on first one chair, then another until the whole set was used up. His family looks everywhere for things for him to carve

The exhibition and sale at the WAS, has a wide selection of art and crafts at reasonable prices. The show will run through December 23 during gallery hours, Tuesday to Sunday, 12 to 4 p.m., Wednesday evenings until 9 p.m.

through January 7, at The Hudson River Museum in Yonkers.

Amy Jones has exhibited in numerous one-man shows in the United States and abroad since 1938. In June, her work was seen for the second time at Venice's Galleria Santo Stefano, where she will return in 1974. She will also exhibit, by invitation, in Verona and Rome at that time. Her work has been in many group exhibitions in galleries, colleges, and museums in this country and Europe.

Born in Buffalo, Amy Jones was raised in Brooklyn, attended Pratt Institute on an Alonzo Milton Nodine Scholarship, and later studied with Xavier Gonzalez, Victor Candell, Gabor Peterdi, and Carlus Dyer. She is an instructor at the Bedford Art Center in Bedford Hills and the College of New Rochelle, where she taught etching this summer

Paintings, prints and drawings by Amy Jones are in the permanent collections of the New Britain Museum of American Art; Norfolk Museum of Arts and Sciences in Virginia; Wharton School of Finance; New York Hospital, where she has 35 works, Standard Oil of New Jersey; US Air Force, Commercial Union Insurance Company; and Springfield College in Illinois. Her work is included in the private collections of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rodgers, Mrs. Louis Dreyfus, Mr and Mrs. Ralph Straus, Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein, and Mr and Mrs. Cass Canfield.

Amy Jones has received many awards and is listed in "World Who's Who 1973", "2,000 Women of Achievement", and "Dictionary of International Biography".

Three works of artist Amy Jones are in the current Crafts and Graphics Exhibition/Sale at The Hudson River Museum, 511 Warburton Avenue, Yonkers. Museum hours are Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., 7 to 10 p.m. on Wednesdays, and Sundays from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Wine-tasting set to aid orchestra

SCARSDALE — The orchestra guild of Music for Westchester Symphony Orchestra will have a wine-tasting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Liebowitz Sunday from 3 to 5:30 p.m.

Music for Westchester is the county's only full-scale, fully professional symphony. The wine-tasting is a benefit for the orchestra through the courtesy of Schenley Industries.

Guests at the wine-tasting will have the opportunity to see the Liebowitz's house. Mr. Liebowitz is an architect.
