GOLF AT LAKEWOOD.

GOOD SCORES BY THE LEADING AMATEUR PLAYERS.

New Record of the Links by Douglas—The Figures Set at Seventy-five. Travis and Hamilton Among the Winners To-day.

[Special Dispatch to The Evening Post.]

LAKEWOOD, November 30.—The open tournament of the Golf Club of Lakewood was continued to-day on the club links here, the three sixteens who qualified yesterday in the preliminary round meeting at scratch the three pairs cups. As ideal day greeted the golfers as they gathered at the first tee shortly after the o'clock. The sun shone clear and bright, and the cool and bracing air tended to put the players on their mettle. The course was in fine order, better in fact than it ever has been, as the scores showed. All were anxious to either equal or surpass Hamilton's record, round yesterday of 78. A small but enthusiastic gallery was on hand when play began, and it was gradually augmented later in the day. Lakewood society always turns out in force for the semi-annual tournament, and to-day proved no exception. The look of the draw finds the amateur champion, Walter J. Travis, and Findlay S. Douglas on opposite sides for the chief cup, and it was generally felt that they should play through and eventually meet in the final round. This result would arouse unusual interest, as they were also the finalists for the amateur championship tournament at Garden City when Travis earned a victory by a narrow margin.

The handicap for the tie last two places for the Golf Club of Lakewood cup between H. M. Forrest, F. G. Boyd, and John B. Gallatin was played on Saturday, resulting into the second sixteen. Nestling was then paired with Douglas and Forrest with Howard A. Colby. Walter J. Travis, amateur champion, and J. R. Maxwell were the first pair away for the pairs' cup, and the others were sent off at five-minute intervals, or as fast as they reported at the first tee.

The biggest gallery followed the amateur champion in his match with Maxwell of the Nassau Country Club, in the morning's golf game. His tee shots averaged well in both distance and direction, and his short game, particularly his approach putting, was of the same deadly order which he has shown in the golf amateurs' contests this season. Maxwell began well, and won the first two holes in nice and three to his opponent's seven and four, but thereafter he did not win a single hole, although he succeeded in halving a number. Travis pressed the match by taking third and fifth holes, and with two brilliant drives from the head by winning the seventh and eighth, and, as the ninth was halved, was two up at the turn. A three at the short 185-yard tenth hole, and a par four at the 315-yard twelfth hole, increased the amateur champion's lead to four up. The thirteenth was halved in a bogey four by each, and then Travis won the next in four to five, and the match by five up and four to play. The cards were as follows:

Walter J. Travis, Garden City:
Out ..... 5 4 4 3 4 4 5 4 5—38
J. R. Maxwell, Nassau Country:
In ..... 5 5 5 4 5 4 5 4 5—42

Findlay S. Douglas, who yesterday afternoon made a new amateur record over the course, in the remarkably good figures of 76, had little trouble in disposing of his opponent, John B. Nostlinge, of the home club, by 5 up and 3 to play. His record scored yesterday, which was made after the qualifying round, and was completed to-day on stand as a competitive record, was as follows: Out, 5, 4, 4, 3, 4, 5, 4, 6, 5—37; in, 2, 5, 4, 5, 4, 5, 6—36—73. His card in his match with Nostlinge to-day was also highclass golf, and reads as follows: Out, 4, 4, 5, 6, 4, 5, 4, 6—40; in 3, 4, 4, 4, 4, 6, x, x, x—24—64.

Archie Graham, the champion of New Jersey had a close and hard-fought match with Wirt L. Thompson, Belmont, for the conqueror of Walter J. Travis in the Westchester open tournament. Graham finally won by the narrow margin of 2 up and 1 to play. They both played sterling golf, as indicated by their cards scores of 81 and 83, respectively. They began by halving the first three holes in bogey figures, and then Graham took the lead by winning the next two holes in five to six for each. The sixth was halved, but then Graham again won two holes, but Thompson took the ninth in a brilliant three, and was three down at the turn. He then put his opponent one hole up by winning the tenth and eleventh holes in par fives, but lost the twelfth on Graham's brilliant three, and was again three down, when he lost the fourteenth in four to five. He won the fifteenth, but two dormie two when the next was halved, and Graham won the match at the next by halving in four. The cards were:

Archie Graham, North Jersey:
Out ..... 5 4 4 3 5 4 5 4 6—40
Wirt L. Thompson, Belmont:
In ..... 5 4 4 4 5 5 5 4 5—41

The other matches in the first round for the chief cup resulted in rather easy victories, except in two cases. The summary is as follows: H. Hamilton, Shinnecock Hills, J. Fi. Knapp, Nassau Country, nine up and eight to play; T. D. Hooper, Lakewood, beat I. Townsend Burden, Newport, four up and three to play; W. E. Davis, Lakewood, beat H. L. Caw, Philadelphia, five up and three to play; A. D. Compton, Westchester Golf, beat Jasper Lynch, Lakewood, ten up and one to play; and F. M. Forrest, Philadelphia, beat Howard A. Colby, Essex County, two up and one to play. The pairing for the second round this afternoon is as follows: Hamilton against Cooper; Travis against Davis, Douglas against Graham.

Some of the scores of the first round for the second and third sixteens were as follows: Second sixteen—Charles Seeley beat L. T. Boyd, Milwaukee, two up and one to play; W. E. McCawley, Philadelphia, beat A. M. Black four up and three to play; H. A. Curtis, Lakewood, beat S. B. Purvis, Lakewood, three up and one to play; F. F. Kimball, Lakewood, beat Irving W. Brokaw, Deal, two up and one to play; William Watter beat Sidney Carpenter two up and one to play.

Third sixteen—C. A. Sherman, Lakewood, beat T. G. Emmery, Montclair, two up; A. F. Southerland, Essex, beat R. A. Boyd, Shilawauke, five up and three to play; A. M. Alkaf beat A. H. McKee, Lakewood, two up; and W. H. Claflin beat Paul Kennedy two up and three to play. Crawford Livingston, Lakewood, beat F. H. Harrison one up (extra hole); Archie Pell beat R. G. Burgess, Jr., one up; R. L. Redfield beat T. Thorne three up and two to play.

NEW GRAND CENTRAL PLANS.

Directors Seeking to Appease Public Clamor.

The New York Central management has had plans for trebling the yards as a result of the heavy holiday traffic, which began on Wednesday evening, the rush of passengers began as early as four o'clock in the afternoon, and Manager J. H. Franklin of the Harlem Line said to-day that he put fifty-four trains in the first hour. Nearly every one-hound train was late and this gave the weary and hungry commuters another opportunity to criticise those in control.

So vigorous and persistent were these attacks, by the daily patrons of the road, become, and so unjust are the demands made upon such limited facilities, that the President and directors, it is said, have given their attention to the matter, the consideration of heroic measures towards relieving the present situation. It has been said that experiments and trials are constantly taking place to develop some satisfactory powerful motor, other than steam-engines; that will haul the trains from Albany down to the Grand Central Station, the object being to do away with the smoke and dirt in the present tunnel, and also in a way that will prevent the noise. However, the management was to build under the present tunnel, and thus permit of the construction of a loop. This scheme is now declared to be nothing but a story circulated to appease the public and cover the real intention of the management.

Two days of chaos during the present congestion in the yard, and, it is said, the only practical means, were suggested to-day. The first is the raising of the tracks to the ten present Neval Militia. These are State troops, which would be called into service by the governor, whenever he deemed it necessary for the purpose of affording an adequate force of the personnel of the first line of defence which will be available immediately upon the outbreak of war. Such expansion cannot be met by the Naval Militia, since these bodies are being trained for an entirely different purpose.

It must be understood that the sole object of the Naval Militia is to provide men for the bill will be the managing of the fleet. The Naval Militia is placed at the disposal of the navy department, which, in case of war, will be called upon to immediately great expansion
