

...their subordination, and their confidence... by in some measure setting up a counter-revolution in each department and in each commune...

"Such, Citizens, from the month of Picardie was the power of royalism, that the discovery of the conspiracy of Boyette, Dunois, and Villouron, merely augmented its audacity, and fortified its means even by its fanaticism...

"I received a letter from Fauche-Borelli, of Neuchâtel, who requested me to remit 5000 livres to M. de Montgallard, and to request him immediately to repair to Halle, and meet him there...

"I finished this to M. de Montgallard. He again felt the necessity of my going to Halle, and I had to have them, requested an interview upon the 11th of December, postponed it, however, till the 4th, and at last heard from him at 6 o'clock in the evening, with the Duke de Montel...

"After having talked to me very fully of his escape from England, his return to France, and his migration with the rabble of the emigrants, I said nothing to him, in the middle of their ratiocination, but I have written a memorandum on the subject of the Jacobin club had in the moment of its triumph...

"I was after my journey to the Hague that I went to Neuchâtel, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle...

REVILLIERS LEPAUX, President. LAGARDE, Secretary.

A notice from the Directory, intimated to the members of the two councils, that the Theater of the Odeon was prepared for the Council of 500, and the Amphitheatre of the School of Medicine for the Council of Elders...

COUNCIL OF FIVE HUNDRED.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4. A Marriage was nominated to the chair, provisionally, and he called on each person as he had discharged the office of secretary to come to the Bureau, and sit in that capacity...

CITIZEN REPRESENTATIVES.

"The executive directory hastens to communicate to you the measures that have been formed to take for the safety of the country and the maintenance of the constitution. With this view, it transmits to you all the papers it has collected, as well as those it published before you were assembled...

"The 1st of September, 1795, will be celebrated as the anniversary of the formation of the republic. It is the day which has seen the birth of the republic...

...convert it into a great object of patriotic passion; resolve upon it, and had it not been for the Montgallard, kings and emperors would have been even the enemies of their liberty...

"The executive directory will transmit to you a copy of the papers, from which it results that Lambert-Colomes, one of the new third of the council of five hundred, was the principal agent of the conspiracy Louis XVIII. at Lyons..."

"I received a letter from Fauche-Borelli, of Neuchâtel, who requested me to remit 5000 livres to M. de Montgallard, and to request him immediately to repair to Halle, and meet him there...

"I finished this to M. de Montgallard. He again felt the necessity of my going to Halle, and I had to have them, requested an interview upon the 11th of December, postponed it, however, till the 4th, and at last heard from him at 6 o'clock in the evening, with the Duke de Montel...

"After having talked to me very fully of his escape from England, his return to France, and his migration with the rabble of the emigrants, I said nothing to him, in the middle of their ratiocination, but I have written a memorandum on the subject of the Jacobin club had in the moment of its triumph...

"I was after my journey to the Hague that I went to Neuchâtel, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle...

"I received a letter from Fauche-Borelli, of Neuchâtel, who requested me to remit 5000 livres to M. de Montgallard, and to request him immediately to repair to Halle, and meet him there...

REVILLIERS LEPAUX, President. LAGARDE, Secretary.

A notice from the Directory, intimated to the members of the two councils, that the Theater of the Odeon was prepared for the Council of 500, and the Amphitheatre of the School of Medicine for the Council of Elders...

COUNCIL OF FIVE HUNDRED.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4. A Marriage was nominated to the chair, provisionally, and he called on each person as he had discharged the office of secretary to come to the Bureau, and sit in that capacity...

CITIZEN REPRESENTATIVES.

"The executive directory hastens to communicate to you the measures that have been formed to take for the safety of the country and the maintenance of the constitution. With this view, it transmits to you all the papers it has collected, as well as those it published before you were assembled...

"The 1st of September, 1795, will be celebrated as the anniversary of the formation of the republic. It is the day which has seen the birth of the republic...

...some wine, and a crown in each state's hand. They must want for nothing at the first moment. It is necessary to pay my army for the fourth or fifth days march in the Breach territory...

"Go, and carry this answer to the Prince written with my own hand, and give me his answer. Every thing impinged upon the Prince the necessity of deciding, and deciding speedily...

"Besides good sense imposed upon him another law, that of examining without passion what sort of a man Pichegru was, what was his ruling propensity, what were his propensities...

"I received a letter from Fauche-Borelli, of Neuchâtel, who requested me to remit 5000 livres to M. de Montgallard, and to request him immediately to repair to Halle, and meet him there...

"I finished this to M. de Montgallard. He again felt the necessity of my going to Halle, and I had to have them, requested an interview upon the 11th of December, postponed it, however, till the 4th, and at last heard from him at 6 o'clock in the evening, with the Duke de Montel...

"After having talked to me very fully of his escape from England, his return to France, and his migration with the rabble of the emigrants, I said nothing to him, in the middle of their ratiocination, but I have written a memorandum on the subject of the Jacobin club had in the moment of its triumph...

"I was after my journey to the Hague that I went to Neuchâtel, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle...

REVILLIERS LEPAUX, President. LAGARDE, Secretary.

A notice from the Directory, intimated to the members of the two councils, that the Theater of the Odeon was prepared for the Council of 500, and the Amphitheatre of the School of Medicine for the Council of Elders...

COUNCIL OF FIVE HUNDRED.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4. A Marriage was nominated to the chair, provisionally, and he called on each person as he had discharged the office of secretary to come to the Bureau, and sit in that capacity...

CITIZEN REPRESENTATIVES.

"The executive directory hastens to communicate to you the measures that have been formed to take for the safety of the country and the maintenance of the constitution. With this view, it transmits to you all the papers it has collected, as well as those it published before you were assembled...

"The 1st of September, 1795, will be celebrated as the anniversary of the formation of the republic. It is the day which has seen the birth of the republic...

...some wine, and a crown in each state's hand. They must want for nothing at the first moment. It is necessary to pay my army for the fourth or fifth days march in the Breach territory...

"Go, and carry this answer to the Prince written with my own hand, and give me his answer. Every thing impinged upon the Prince the necessity of deciding, and deciding speedily...

"Besides good sense imposed upon him another law, that of examining without passion what sort of a man Pichegru was, what was his ruling propensity, what were his propensities...

"I received a letter from Fauche-Borelli, of Neuchâtel, who requested me to remit 5000 livres to M. de Montgallard, and to request him immediately to repair to Halle, and meet him there...

"I finished this to M. de Montgallard. He again felt the necessity of my going to Halle, and I had to have them, requested an interview upon the 11th of December, postponed it, however, till the 4th, and at last heard from him at 6 o'clock in the evening, with the Duke de Montel...

"After having talked to me very fully of his escape from England, his return to France, and his migration with the rabble of the emigrants, I said nothing to him, in the middle of their ratiocination, but I have written a memorandum on the subject of the Jacobin club had in the moment of its triumph...

"I was after my journey to the Hague that I went to Neuchâtel, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle...

REVILLIERS LEPAUX, President. LAGARDE, Secretary.

A notice from the Directory, intimated to the members of the two councils, that the Theater of the Odeon was prepared for the Council of 500, and the Amphitheatre of the School of Medicine for the Council of Elders...

COUNCIL OF FIVE HUNDRED.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4. A Marriage was nominated to the chair, provisionally, and he called on each person as he had discharged the office of secretary to come to the Bureau, and sit in that capacity...

CITIZEN REPRESENTATIVES.

"The executive directory hastens to communicate to you the measures that have been formed to take for the safety of the country and the maintenance of the constitution. With this view, it transmits to you all the papers it has collected, as well as those it published before you were assembled...

"The 1st of September, 1795, will be celebrated as the anniversary of the formation of the republic. It is the day which has seen the birth of the republic...

...some wine, and a crown in each state's hand. They must want for nothing at the first moment. It is necessary to pay my army for the fourth or fifth days march in the Breach territory...

"Go, and carry this answer to the Prince written with my own hand, and give me his answer. Every thing impinged upon the Prince the necessity of deciding, and deciding speedily...

"Besides good sense imposed upon him another law, that of examining without passion what sort of a man Pichegru was, what was his ruling propensity, what were his propensities...

"I received a letter from Fauche-Borelli, of Neuchâtel, who requested me to remit 5000 livres to M. de Montgallard, and to request him immediately to repair to Halle, and meet him there...

"I finished this to M. de Montgallard. He again felt the necessity of my going to Halle, and I had to have them, requested an interview upon the 11th of December, postponed it, however, till the 4th, and at last heard from him at 6 o'clock in the evening, with the Duke de Montel...

"After having talked to me very fully of his escape from England, his return to France, and his migration with the rabble of the emigrants, I said nothing to him, in the middle of their ratiocination, but I have written a memorandum on the subject of the Jacobin club had in the moment of its triumph...

"I was after my journey to the Hague that I went to Neuchâtel, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle...

REVILLIERS LEPAUX, President. LAGARDE, Secretary.

A notice from the Directory, intimated to the members of the two councils, that the Theater of the Odeon was prepared for the Council of 500, and the Amphitheatre of the School of Medicine for the Council of Elders...

COUNCIL OF FIVE HUNDRED.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4. A Marriage was nominated to the chair, provisionally, and he called on each person as he had discharged the office of secretary to come to the Bureau, and sit in that capacity...

CITIZEN REPRESENTATIVES.

"The executive directory hastens to communicate to you the measures that have been formed to take for the safety of the country and the maintenance of the constitution. With this view, it transmits to you all the papers it has collected, as well as those it published before you were assembled...

"The 1st of September, 1795, will be celebrated as the anniversary of the formation of the republic. It is the day which has seen the birth of the republic...

...some wine, and a crown in each state's hand. They must want for nothing at the first moment. It is necessary to pay my army for the fourth or fifth days march in the Breach territory...

"Go, and carry this answer to the Prince written with my own hand, and give me his answer. Every thing impinged upon the Prince the necessity of deciding, and deciding speedily...

"Besides good sense imposed upon him another law, that of examining without passion what sort of a man Pichegru was, what was his ruling propensity, what were his propensities...

"I received a letter from Fauche-Borelli, of Neuchâtel, who requested me to remit 5000 livres to M. de Montgallard, and to request him immediately to repair to Halle, and meet him there...

"I finished this to M. de Montgallard. He again felt the necessity of my going to Halle, and I had to have them, requested an interview upon the 11th of December, postponed it, however, till the 4th, and at last heard from him at 6 o'clock in the evening, with the Duke de Montel...

"After having talked to me very fully of his escape from England, his return to France, and his migration with the rabble of the emigrants, I said nothing to him, in the middle of their ratiocination, but I have written a memorandum on the subject of the Jacobin club had in the moment of its triumph...

"I was after my journey to the Hague that I went to Neuchâtel, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle...

REVILLIERS LEPAUX, President. LAGARDE, Secretary.

A notice from the Directory, intimated to the members of the two councils, that the Theater of the Odeon was prepared for the Council of 500, and the Amphitheatre of the School of Medicine for the Council of Elders...

COUNCIL OF FIVE HUNDRED.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4. A Marriage was nominated to the chair, provisionally, and he called on each person as he had discharged the office of secretary to come to the Bureau, and sit in that capacity...

CITIZEN REPRESENTATIVES.

"The executive directory hastens to communicate to you the measures that have been formed to take for the safety of the country and the maintenance of the constitution. With this view, it transmits to you all the papers it has collected, as well as those it published before you were assembled...

"The 1st of September, 1795, will be celebrated as the anniversary of the formation of the republic. It is the day which has seen the birth of the republic...

Commercial Advertiser.

NEW-YORK: TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 7.

Republicanism in France, pure and undefiled! Two Directors and more than sixty members of the two Councils, arrested, banished and their property sequestered...

The French minister of marine has suspended the military preparations for landing in England—alleging they are very expensive, and while the British navy is mistress of the sea, he thinks the preparations useless. What a wonderful and timely discovery!!

Lord St. Vincent, was killed off Cadix, and admiral Duncan off the Texel. Six ships of the line were ordered to reinforce the former, under the command of Sir John Orde, vice admiral Nelson, who has retired upon a pension.

The President of the Dutch Convention has officially announced the rejection, by the people, of the new constitution.

Trellhard and Bonnier were the new commissioners at Lille—men who are stated to have been of less accommodating views and manners than the former five, another confirmation of the unfortunate result.

Tallyrand Perigord. We find him still among the candidates of the successful party. He was on one nomination for the new vacancy in the Directory, and his predecessor was again employed. We presume it was in some diplomatic agency which he attended to the unsuccessful issue at Lille.

Marbois, Gen. Jourdan, Gen. Hoche, and others, are among the new party.

A gentleman, who came passenger in the Mary, informs, that Mr. Marshall, one of the American commissioners, had arrived in Holland. We do not find, in the English prints, any accounts of the arrival of Mr. Marshall on Mr. Geny.

Pastoret, who not long since presented a lengthy report on the relations between France and the United States, favorable to us, is among the proscribed. In short, the change that has taken place does not add to our former hopes of a speedy accommodation of differences.

While France continues subject to those repeated revolutions, in men and things, stability, or even rectitude of conduct, is not, from past events, to be looked for by any neutral nation.

We have received the Redacteur, and another Republican Journal on the 7th inst. inclusive, with great interest.

...some wine, and a crown in each state's hand. They must want for nothing at the first moment. It is necessary to pay my army for the fourth or fifth days march in the Breach territory...

"Go, and carry this answer to the Prince written with my own hand, and give me his answer. Every thing impinged upon the Prince the necessity of deciding, and deciding speedily...

"Besides good sense imposed upon him another law, that of examining without passion what sort of a man Pichegru was, what was his ruling propensity, what were his propensities...

"I received a letter from Fauche-Borelli, of Neuchâtel, who requested me to remit 5000 livres to M. de Montgallard, and to request him immediately to repair to Halle, and meet him there...

"I finished this to M. de Montgallard. He again felt the necessity of my going to Halle, and I had to have them, requested an interview upon the 11th of December, postponed it, however, till the 4th, and at last heard from him at 6 o'clock in the evening, with the Duke de Montel...

"After having talked to me very fully of his escape from England, his return to France, and his migration with the rabble of the emigrants, I said nothing to him, in the middle of their ratiocination, but I have written a memorandum on the subject of the Jacobin club had in the moment of its triumph...

"I was after my journey to the Hague that I went to Neuchâtel, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle...

REVILLIERS LEPAUX, President. LAGARDE, Secretary.

A notice from the Directory, intimated to the members of the two councils, that the Theater of the Odeon was prepared for the Council of 500, and the Amphitheatre of the School of Medicine for the Council of Elders...

COUNCIL OF FIVE HUNDRED.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4. A Marriage was nominated to the chair, provisionally, and he called on each person as he had discharged the office of secretary to come to the Bureau, and sit in that capacity...

CITIZEN REPRESENTATIVES.

"The executive directory hastens to communicate to you the measures that have been formed to take for the safety of the country and the maintenance of the constitution. With this view, it transmits to you all the papers it has collected, as well as those it published before you were assembled...

"The 1st of September, 1795, will be celebrated as the anniversary of the formation of the republic. It is the day which has seen the birth of the republic...

...some wine, and a crown in each state's hand. They must want for nothing at the first moment. It is necessary to pay my army for the fourth or fifth days march in the Breach territory...

"Go, and carry this answer to the Prince written with my own hand, and give me his answer. Every thing impinged upon the Prince the necessity of deciding, and deciding speedily...

"Besides good sense imposed upon him another law, that of examining without passion what sort of a man Pichegru was, what was his ruling propensity, what were his propensities...

"I received a letter from Fauche-Borelli, of Neuchâtel, who requested me to remit 5000 livres to M. de Montgallard, and to request him immediately to repair to Halle, and meet him there...

"I finished this to M. de Montgallard. He again felt the necessity of my going to Halle, and I had to have them, requested an interview upon the 11th of December, postponed it, however, till the 4th, and at last heard from him at 6 o'clock in the evening, with the Duke de Montel...

"After having talked to me very fully of his escape from England, his return to France, and his migration with the rabble of the emigrants, I said nothing to him, in the middle of their ratiocination, but I have written a memorandum on the subject of the Jacobin club had in the moment of its triumph...

"I was after my journey to the Hague that I went to Neuchâtel, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle. M. de Montgallard, then to Halle...

REVILLIERS LEPAUX, President. LAGARDE, Secretary.

A notice from the Directory, intimated to the members of the two councils, that the Theater of the Odeon was prepared for the Council of 500, and the Amphitheatre of the School of Medicine for the Council of Elders...

COUNCIL OF FIVE HUNDRED.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4. A Marriage was nominated to the chair, provisionally, and he called on each person as he had discharged the office of secretary to come to the Bureau, and sit in that capacity...

CITIZEN REPRESENTATIVES.

"The executive directory hastens to communicate to you the measures that have been formed to take for the safety of the country and the maintenance of the constitution. With this view, it transmits to you all the papers it has collected, as well as those it published before you were assembled...

"The 1st of September, 1795, will be celebrated as the anniversary of the formation of the republic. It is the day which has seen the birth of the republic...