A Lady Cured of Rheumatism.

Baltimore, Md., May 7, 1887.
My health was much shattered by Rheumatism when I commenced taking Brown's Iron Bitters, and I scarcely had strength enough to attend to my daily household duties. I am now using the third bottle and I am regaining strength daily, and I cheerfully recommend it to all.
I cannot say too much in praise of it. Mrs. MARY E. BRASHEAR, 273 Prentiss St.

Kidney Disease Cured.

Christiansburg, Va., 1887.
Suffering from kidney disease, from which I could get no relief, I tried Brown's Iron Bitters, which cured me completely. A child of mine, recovering from scarlet fever, had no appetite and did not seem to be able to eat at all. I gave him Iron Bitters with the happiest results.
J. KYLE MONTAGUE.

Heart Disease.

Wine St., Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 2, 1887.
After trying different physicians and many remedies for palpitation of the heart without receiving any benefit, I was advised to try Brown's Iron Bitters. I have used two bottles and never found anything that gave me so much relief.
Mrs. JENNIE HISS.

For the peculiar troubles to which ladies are subject, BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is invaluable. Try it.

THE GHASTLY MORGUE.

A Very Large Proportion of the Bodies Recognized.

From the New York Sun.

A recent experiment at the Morgue with a new process for rendering drowned bodies recognizable was interrupted by the identification of the body by friends. So far as it went, however, it showed the practicability of removing some of the obstacles in the way of recognizing the bodies recovered daily from the rivers and the Bay. Deputy Keeper Fogarty, who assists Keeper White in the care of the Morgue, and has been there since 1874, was asked what he thought of the new process.

"To tell the truth," he said, "I can't see the use of it. As a general thing bodies are recognized by the clothes. We have a record book of clothing and articles found on the person. It is a common thing, also, for a body to be recognized from the record we keep of missing persons. There were 5,500 bodies brought to the Morgue last year, and only 150 of them were sent to Potter's Field unrecognized. As the law requires us to keep a body only seventy-two hours, it often happens that after a body is interred in Potter's Field the friends recognize it not only by the clothing but by the photograph which is taken of every unrecognized body before burial, under the plan adopted by Commissioner Brennan in 1868. The fact is, therefore, that in all probability none are ever kept in Potter's Field who have any friends in the neighborhood to desire that they should be buried elsewhere.

"There have been many experiments in embalming bodies in the Morgue. Inventors are turning up all the time with new patents. The body of Mr. Berger, who died in the Insane Asylum, was embalmed and kept here two years. There are several embalmed bodies that are up in the museum and have been kept about fourteen years.

"There are stories of men being robbed and dressed up in old clothes and thrown in the river. But I do not think that any cases of that kind get through the Morgue without discovery. If people have any friends, and are at all respectable, they are pretty sure to be missed, and the description gets here before the body comes. But, of course, it will not do any harm to have all the bodies embalmed and made recognizable, if there is anybody to pay for it. The present need of the Commissioners, however, is to get money enough to put up good necessary buildings and pay their employees fair wages."

Stabbing His Coat Collar.

From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Some years ago a story came from Paris that a criminal condemned to death had been executed in a novel way and without blood letting. The culprit was blindfolded and laid upon a marble slab after being informed that he was to be bled to death. A needle was used with which to prick his arm, and as the point touched him drops of warm water were sprinkled so they ran down his side, and to the condemned it appeared that he was bleeding to death. In a little while the experiment proved successful, and the man expired, such was the force of imagination. A case somewhat resembling this was brought to the notice of police officer Jones the other day. As he passed the Vandavia building he saw a man lying on his back in the entrance. The stranger's hands were crossed upon his breast, and his legs were close together. As Jones afterwards said, "He looked every inch a corpse." The face was bloodless. The eyes were closed as though in death. The handle of a jackknife protruded from a point between the collar and the jugular vein. The blade was hidden. Jones jumped to the conclusion of suicide. He took hold of the knife and drew it out of its resting place. The blade was unsullied. Being aroused, the man said that he had attempted suicide. Instead of wounding himself, he merely stabbed the collar of his coat. Then he felt that he was dying. Visions of father, mother, and home passed through his mind, and he said, only for a moment, and then he became unconscious. He was perhaps just entering the spirit land when Jones called him back.

THE NARROW PREJUDICE—Which a few people hold against a patent medicine, ONLY because its formula isn't written in latin, which they can't read, is narrow-minded, and not in keeping with the progress of the age. ZOPESA will cure every case of Dyspepsia and Biliousness if the directions are followed.

Which Arm to Offer.

To an inquiry, "Which is the most correct way to ask a young lady to take your arm, and which arm are you to offer?" the Cincinnati Commercial replies as follows: "Well ask her to take your arm; do not grab her by the elbow. You might gently and softly inquire, 'Will you take my arm?' It is rather solemn to say, 'Please take my arm'—unless you are afraid she is about to get hurt, and you are substantially asking her to save herself. In that way you may without impertinence, show a tendersolicitude. As to which arm to offer, other things being equal, the one next your heart. If you are taking her out to dinner something will depend on the location of the dining room and your place at the table. If you are on the street the safest rule is to take the outside place, so as to serve as a body-guard against runaway horses. The presence of a few boys with velocipedes or tricycles on the sidewalk might change the situation. Above all things preserve your composure—remember that you are a good man and bear up bravely.

Not an experiment or cheap patent medicine is Brown's Iron Bitters. It is prepared by one of the oldest and most reliable chemical firms, and will do all that is claimed for it, fought with pistols; Harris was killed and Cander fled.

Ask your physician and he will tell you that Buchu is one of the best, surest and safest remedies for aiding, strengthening and cleansing the kidneys. It is one of the ingredients of Hops and Malt Bitters.

ROCH. MED. CO., Rochester, N. Y.

MR. WM. WESTFALL

of Dutchess County, N. Y., 80 Years of age, Suffered Continually for Many Years from Stone in the Bladder.

Great age and painful disease are a sad combination. Yet Mr. William Westfall, formerly of Rock City, Dutchess Co., N. Y., now of Washington Hollow, in the same county, came to the office of Dr. David Kennedy, the eminent Physician and surgeon of Rondout, N. Y., some time since, in a condition to excite the sympathy of the most cold-blooded and hard-hearted person in the world. We say he came—he was, rather, carried to the Doctor's office, for he was totally helpless, and bore the weight of 80 years besides. He had suffered long from Retention of Urine, and had all the symptoms of an aggravated case of calculus formations in the bladder. The usual instrumental examination revealed the presence in the bladder of a urinary calculus of uncommon size. Dr. Kennedy frankly told Mr. Westfall that, owing to his age and debility an operation was out of the question, but that he could, by the prescription of "Kennedy's Favorite Remedy," together with local treatment, make him comfortable and leave him to live out all his days. The outcome of this was that the patient enjoys good health of this day.

THE REASONS WHY DR. KENNEDY'S "FAVORITE REMEDY" is being extensively used by our people are as follows: It is a combination of vegetable alteratives. It is pleasant to the taste, adapted to both sexes and all ages, is effective in affording immediate relief in all cases of Kidney troubles, Liver Complaints, Constipation of the Bowels and derangements peculiar to women. At the same time purifies the blood, thus giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease or age. "Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy" for sale by all druggists.
