NEW BOOKS.

Readers, you are now receiving the Weekly Monitor, and we shall be glad to have you patronize its pages.

CLASICAL & ENGLISH READERS.

We have just received a handsome new edition of "The London Grammar," by the late Dr. Hume, which is now in great demand. The work is well adapted to the requirements of schools, and is a valuable addition to the library of every scholar.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The following is a summary of the latest intelligence from abroad:

1. The United States have declared war against Great Britain.
2. The French army has crossed the Rhine and invaded Germany.
3. The Russian and Austrian armies have moved into Poland.
4. The Chinese have taken Peking.
5. The Japanese have captured Formosa.

President Jackson's Ways.

The President's annual message to Congress has just been received, and is now being read over by the Senate and House of Representatives.

The President's message is a long and tedious one, but it contains some important points.

The President says:

"The government is in a state of disunion, and the country is divided against itself. The people are dissatisfied with the present system of government, and are calling for a new constitution."
