County Buildings at Flatbush.

No. 2.

If, physically speaking, such evils as I have noticed, are generated through the want of room, and suitable apartments in the nursery building, at our county poor house, what must be the moral effects of such an arrangement? Whatever vicious or wicked habit the child may have contracted through vicious parents and evil companions, by way of the thousand evil associations of our public streets, is propagated, and becomes an ingredient in this festering mass of juvenile corruption. The good, if any there is, and the evil must sleep together in the same apartments. No rooms are afforded that they may be separated; not even till the worth or unworthiness of the newly admitted child may be come known. I would not like to charge my conscience with the moral responsibilities involved in the existing arrangement, which seems calculated to educate such as may escape death, for the prison and gallows, or at least to charge the public with their support through life.

The evils of vicious associations are not a quarter told, in what may be communicated from child to child. This nursery is built in the rear of the general almshouse, and makes the rear yard of the mansion house, the play ground for the children.—Here, they hear the conversation, and witness the example of those, whose vice and crime have hardened and debased them. The victims of want are often sent here from the grog shop and the brothel, whose characters have hardened with their years, and such by contact become the instructors of these children; and their nurses and overseers, if they permit them to exercise or enjoy fresh air in the yard, as things are, cannot prevent it.

Since the Grand Inquest of the county have presented the condition of this nursery building, which act for most all purposes, should be esteemed a deserved indictment of the whole Board of Supervisors, that body have plead to the indictment, by sending up a committee to report some plan which ought at this time to have been fully executed. I have but a hear-say knowledge of what that committee determined; so that in stating my information I will not vouch for its correctness. I was informed that the plan of a nursery-building was to be reported to the Board of Supervisors, one hundred feet in length and of convenient width. But it is proposed to build only 50 feet of its length this year, which would scarcely be better than the present building and would afford no conveniences for the proper arrangements and appointments of such an institution. Besides, the erection of the building, at two different times, would cost the county nearly one third more than if it were all done at once.

The location proposed would by no means obviate the evils of the present location from its contiguity to the Almshouse. The committee, I understand, proposed to locate the building so nearly contiguous to the Almshouse that it might be esteemed an extension of its right wing. Now the primary object of this nursery should be, to provide for the instruction of these pauper children in science and useful arts and industry, and above all in sentiments of self respect, and in moral duties. They should not be left to look on life only as it is seen in an Almshouse, nor to consider themselves in any measure as candidates for such an institution. Circumstances around them must cause them to forget that they are paupers.—Whatever of physical constitution and intellectual force there is about them, must be developed by the moral energies inspired by confidence and hope

Some of the superintendents had suggested a lot of ground near the Lunatic Asylum as the location for the nursery. Beyond the fine appearance which a proper building in that location would present to the passing traveller, little could be said in its favor. That it is within sight and hearing of the asylum, is objection enough to condemn it for the purpose proposed. Now, who would subject children to the constant sight or hearing of maniacs? But the lot suggested, when the needed enlargement of the assylum building is accomplished, will all be required for its purposes. The same is true of the other location, with respect to the almshouse; which must, within a year or two, be rebuilt and enlarged.

So long as a proper location is already owned by the county, it seems preposterous to compromise any of the interests to be sought in the measure proposed, by any little conveniences of overseers, or contracted considerations of public economy.—The extension of the avenue, about a quarter or half a mile below the hospital, will afford an available site for the proposed nursery building with sufficient ground around it for any little labor of gardening, and the like, to which the children should become accustomed.

This would not impose an extra burden worth mentioning on the superintendents in their weekly visits, while the institution itself, would be placed under the care of a manager, who would be at once its steward and schoolmaster; and whose plans and duties would come less into collision with the other departments, by this location than in the others proposed.

I have some further suggestions respecting the lunatic asylum wich I will reserve for your next paper. I have not learned as the supervisors have yet taken this department under their consideration.

Judicial Convention.

We have been obliged to crowd over the proceeding's of the Judicial Convention on the first page; and we beg to direct to them the attention of the political reader.

PENNSYLVANIA.—The House will probably stand 62 Democrats and 30 Whigs. Last year a tie.—Senate, a Dem. majority of one. Dem. majority for Canal Commissioner as far as heard from, 12,000; which the remaining counties will considerably increase.

For the Brooklyn Eagle.

MR. EDITOR:—Having seen an article in the Advertiser, in reply to some remarks that appeared in the Eagle in reference to the caucus of the whig bosses in the navy yard, and as the said article contained statements as false as Taylor's pledges, I will endeavor to set the Advertiser right, for the the benefit of its pretensions to veracity, and for the interests of its readers and all concerned.

The Advertiser says that "none but locofocoes have heretofore been employed in the navy yard." This I pronounce to be as far from the facts of the case, as the substance of the Alison letter is from the ruling principles of Gen. Taylor's action since his election.

Let me ask the Advertiser if Mr. Lee, the clerk of the yard, is not a whig, and been employed in the yard for more than fourteen years, at a yearly salary of $1000? Is not Mr. Brown, in the store keeper's department, a whig, and employed more than eight years, at a salary of $1000 a year? Have not Mr. Crum and Mr. Stewart, both whigs, been employed as long: one at a salary of $600, the other $450 a year? Are there not from four to six whig laborers in the same department, who have not lost a day for want of work for the last eight or ten years?

I will now commence with the carpenter's department, lately under foreman John M. Weekes, who received his appointment during the administration of John Tyler. I defy any man living to show that Mr. Weekes ever proscribed a man on account of his political opinions. Mr. Storer, the present timber inspector, was regularly employed by him during the whole term of his appointment; so was Adam Dodge. The Advertiser can be furnished with a large additional list of whig names if desirable or necessary.

Mr. Weekes, after being superseded in his appointment, asked permission to work in the yard at his trade, but met with a flat denial; being told that the "Secretary of the Navy had sent orders not to employ him."

But I do not blame them for this denial, for the proscription would have been too glaring, had a man so competent as Mr. Weekes, been set at work under so ignorant a tool as William W. Hallock, the laughing stock of the whole yard.

Next, the Smith's department. Here Mr. Horner lately superseded Mr. Daniel Ladd. Mr. Ladd had retained him in his employment for several years, and up to the day of his present appointment. A large number of whig workmen had also been employed in the same department for years, and of course, being whigs, are continued in employment. Names can be given if necessary.

In the Plumber's department, Mr. Campbell took the place of Mr. Sales. Here, a majority of the workmen were whigs, at the time Mr. Campbell commenced his duties; one of these men was an applicant for Mr. Sales' birth, and had been in the department for several years.

I will ask Mr. Cumberson if he did not find a number of whigs in his department, who had been employed by Mr. Rogers ever since he had been in the yard? To prevent denial, I will mention the names of T. Furnell, S. Paine, W. Willets, A. Kalyer, and A. Hicks.

I believe that I have now shown that the statement of the Advertiser was false in every particuler, and I challenge it to name a single man who had been denied employment on account of his politics, or who had been discharged for the same reason.

Lastly, for its gratification, I will inform the Advertiser, that the NAVY YARD CABINET, held another caucus on Friday afternoon in Mr. Homer's office. Mr. Hallock summoned them to attend and the "Emperor Nicholas" presided, Mr. Riley being stationed outside of the yard to watch Captain Bell!

In a few days I will give you a further account of their doings. The sudden breaking up of their caucus in Brady's sail loft by Capt. Bell, has put them in a terrible fluster, since it has been made public.

FELIX.

NOBLE BEQUESTS.—We learn, says the New Haven Courier and Journal, that the following were the bequests of the late Henry Trowbridge, Esq., of this city: $5000 to the American board for Foreign Missions; $5000 to the Home Missionary Society; $2000 to the American Bible Society; $2000 to the Seamen's Friend Society; $2000 to the poor of the First Congregational Society of N. Haven, and some others, amounting in all to about $25,000.

VERMONT.—The Legislature of this State met at Montpelier on Thursday last. Wm. C. Kittredge, of Fairhaven, was chosen speaker of the House by 37 majority—Whig of course. The Senate re-elected its Whig officers by 14 majority. The vote for Governor was then counted, and Gov. Coolidge found to lack thirty six of an election by the People. (Whole number 52,866.) Gov. Coolidge was then elected in joint ballot of the two Houses by 51 majority. So with the other Whig State officers. Lt. Gov. Pierpont had 57 majority.

FATHER MATHEW.—The Rev. prelate is at the beautiful City of Bridgeport, adding hosts of Yankees to his cold water army. He enjoys the hospitalities of P. T. Barnum, Esq., at Iranistan.

BOWLING GREEN FOUNTAIN.—That pile of rocks has been sold and the proceeds paid into the City Treasury. A resolution was before the Assistants last night for a new fountain.

The grading of the Panama railroad from Gorgona to Panama has been contracted for by Mr. Totten of the army. The price is in the neighborhood of $400,000, being within the estimate.

A committee of the Albany Common Council, have reported in favor of supplying the city of Albany with water, from Patroon's Creek at an expense of $418,851.

Thomas Carnley has been nominated for Sheriff of New York on the whig ticket. Amos F. Hatfield, formerly Sheriff of Westchester County, was last night nominated for the same office by the democrats.

William C. Hasbrouck of Orange has been nominated for Justice of the Supreme Court by the whigs against John W. Brown, the democratic candidate. Mr. Hasbrouck was lately speaker of the New York Assembly.

DECLINED.—The Hon. Frederick Robinson, the democratic candidate for Congress in the fourth (Palfrey's) district, Massachusetts, declines being any longer a candidate.

Henry Arcularius was nomiuated for County Clerk in Tammany last night. He is popular with the b'hoys, and will make a good run. We must have a popular and deserving candidate to beat him with, and that is just the sort we mean to have. —Tribune.

The Board then adjourned to Monday evening October 22d.

The Tribune states the result in Ohio as follows;

The House will pretty certainly stand:

Whig 30: Free Soil 5: Loco-Foco 34.

In dispute (Hamilton Co.) 5; of which ought to be Whig 2 (1st Dist.) Loco 3. Tie (Coshocton) 1.

By this statement the free soilers would hold the balance of power; but we suppose that the free soilers will act generally with the democratic party. This they did in the last legislature and the reasons for their doing so, are much stronger now than they were then. If, however, these free soilers are divided according to their political predilections, giving the whig free soilers to the whigs and the democratic free soilers to the democrats there will still be a democratic majority without Hamilton county. But the democrats, elected from Hamilton county, will be admitted. There is a dispute in this county between the two parties.—The whig's divided Hamilton county, into two senate and assembly districts contrary to the clear provisions of the constitution. The democrats counted this division as null, and void, and elected as usual, one senator, and five assemblymen; all democrats. The whigs on the other hand, nominated senators, and delegates for each election district. One of the districts has a whig majority, and of course elected a senator, and the two delegates. This dispute is to be settled this winter. If the five democrats are admitted it will give that party a handsome pre-ponderance, and if the delegates are divided between the two parties, it will give to the whig's two, and to the democrat's three; so that in any event the democrats will have a majority in the lower house.

CALIFORNIA HOUSES.—A gentleman, an inhabitant of Mazatlan, but at present in this city, has had an iron house built for export to Francisco, by one of our well known mechanics. It is 3 stories high, and about 25 by 40 feet in dimension. It will go out complete in every respect except the setting up. This house is nearly ready, and so well pleased is the owner with its appearance, that he yesterday gave an order for 33 iron houses, of various dimensions, to be got ready as soon as possible.—His present intention is to buy a vessel, load her with these houses, and take these smaller sizes directly up the Sacramento to the mining district.—Tribune.

OHIO.—The Senate appears to be a tie, while in the House there is a small Democratic majority.—In this calculation we class Free Soilers as Democrats or Whigs, according to their respective political affinities.—Jour. Com.

DR. DEWITT C. KILLINGER'S
INFALLIBLE LINIMENT,
Or Medicated Embrocation, continues to astonish all who use it, for strengthening, filling up, and beautifying the hair; it is equally efficacious in all nervous diseases. In tooth and nervous headache it acts like a charm; every patient is delighted with its odor and very agreeable action. It will not miss once in a thousand trials; it is as certain to cure as the application is made. Put up in large bottles, and sold only at 12½ and 50 cents each; $1 and at $4 per dozen. Not a solitary complaint has ever been made in the sale of 900,000 bottles and over in a few years.
The principal depots are 230 Pearl st., and 464 Broadway, one door above Grand street, and the druggists and grocers throughout the city and country.
It eradicates rheumatic and all other pains, heals old fever and mercurial sores, and all manner of scrofulous and glandular affections, together with skin diseases, it extracts fire and frost instantly, also the poison from the bites of insects and reptiles of every description; cuts, bruises, and hard swellings.
All Captains of steamers, and masters of vessels, if there are any who have not given it a trial, if they will send us their address, we will give them a trial free of expense.
As an internal remedy in all spasmodic complaints, cramps, bilious cholic, cholera, diarrhœa, dysentery, piles, &c., it has never failed. As a diarrhœatic, it cannot be surpassed; in difficulties of the kidneys, and weaknesses of all kinds, in male or female, are immediately relieved, and a permanent cure effected in a few days. Its action in coughs, colds, asthma, &c., is to break up the matter and fountain-head and produce an entire cure, and not simmer over for a few days, as the various nostrums generally do. We sat beside Mr. James Gordon Bennett on a certain occasion, and heard him cough almost incessantly. After some conversation in relation to the matter, we suggested a trial of our remedy, which, in a very short time produced an agreeable change, and in a few weeks he considered himself entirely well, for which Mr. B. has on several occasions alluded to the fact in his daily journal in the strongest possible terms.
N. B—The druggists and merchants generally who sell this great remedy say that they sell hundreds of this to one of any other in market, as every bottle gives entire satisfaction in all circles of society. o9 3mB

J. MARSH'S Fashionable Hair-Cutting Saloon,
(LATE CARNES',)
61 Fulton street, Brooklyn.
The Proprietor respectfully informs his friends and the public that he has taken the store late in the occupancy of Mr. P. Carnes, and has attained the services of the assistants who were employed by his predecessor. To say anything of their capabilities in their art would be entirely superfluous, as their competency is sufficiently known to the frequenters of the Saloon. J. M. professes to cut Gentlemen's hair and trim their whiskers in the newest and most fashionable prevailing style. It will be his study to maintain the character for comfort, cleanliness and convenience, so successfully carried out by Mr. Carnes, and having been for a long time with Mr. C., he feels capable of and intends to give, as far as in his power lies, satisfaction to those who may think fit to patronise him. He has constantly on hand a varied stock of choice Perfumery and Fancy Goods, in which are embraced Lubin's Extract, Hair Oils, in all their endless varieties, the celebrated Russian Kezan soap; tooth, nail, and hair brushes of French, English, and American manufacture; Rogers' and other razors; genuine cologne and bay water. Also a new article for the Hair which effectually destroys dandruff, scurf, &c., and acts as a powerful invigorator to the roots of the Hair, warranted to be entirely free from any deleterious matter and possessing only a needful and stimulating property. He particularly recommends the invigorator as an indispensable article for the toilet of the Ladies. Its use for Ladies and Children's Hair is invaluable, giving it a beautiful gloss, disposing it to curl, and keeping it radically clean.—He trusts, by unremitting attention, to meet the favors of the public. THIS SALOON IS CLOSED ON SUNDAYS. o9 tf

WANTED—By a young, respectable man, about 28 years of age, a WIFE; she must be able to bring testimonials of the respectability of her connexions; must be good looking; good tempered; well acquainted with domestic management as regards the household requirements. It is not indispensable that she should be wealthy, although property would not be considered an objection. She must know how to dress, not that it is required she should be one of those fluttering beauties who, when encased in fashionable attire, conduct themselves like pretty idiots. She will be required to conduct herself like a gentlewoman. Altho' it is not required she should do the cooking, it is expected that she should know enough and be sufficiently acquainted with culinary acquirements to know when a family dinner is properly cooked by her servants; this is positively needful to prevent her husband's having to blush for her ignorance when he invites a friend to dine with him. The advertiser is not remarkable for the homliness of his person nor for his beauty. He dresses well, though not foppishly. His habits and manners are such as will secure to his wife a respect for the judgment she exercised when she accepted his proposals. He possesses sufficient of this world's gear to ensure a genteel competency with every comfort that is positively essential, but nothing for superfluities. His temper is good and his object in thus having advertised for a partner is to secure to himself a friend who will cheerfully comply with the requirements of the obligations enjoined in the marriage ritual. Any lady possessing the above qualifications will address their post-paid communication to "Bachelor," at the office
