

PUBLISHED BY

VOL. XXIX. No. 49.

ITHACA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 18, 1845.

[WELLS & SELKREG.]

WHOLE No. 1453.

JOURNAL & ADVERTISER
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
By the Quarter—$2.00 in advance; $2.50 if not paid in advance.

WELLS & SELKREG,
PLAIN & FANCY JOB PRINTERS
AT THE OFFICE OF THE
ITHACA JOURNAL

ITHACA HOTEL,
S. D. THOMPSON,
JAMES CLARK,
MERCHANT TAILOR

Flour, Brick, Feed, &c.,
EAST END OF OWEGETT ST. ITHACA.

TOBACCO FACTORY
REMOVED
To the Wooden Buildings opposite the Bank

DRUG STORE,
B. CURRAN is now receiving a DRUG STORE

PARASOLS AND SUN SHADES,
BY CAMP & WINTON.

NEW PUBLICATIONS,
Cass's New North American Reader, or Fifth

Abnurn Advertisement,
BRASS AND SILVER PLATING &
THE MAKING ESTABLISHMENT

Stoves! Stoves!
Wholesale or Retail at the old Bank

LIVERY & EXCHANGE STABLE,
THE SUBSCRIBERS would inform their friends

PARTICULAR NOTICE—All persons indebted to the subscribers, who accounts have been

5000
Dealers of OATS & other articles

DENTISTRY—PROFESSIONAL NOTICE.

THE SUBSCRIBER has the pleasure of informing his friends and the inhabitants of Ithaca, and its vicinity generally, that he has formed a partnership with

NEW HAT & CAP STORE,
C. HENNING, (late of the firm of H. & H. Hennings)

AT THE SIGN OF THE ANVIL,
No. 107 Owegett street, various kinds of

COVENS,
THE OLD STAND in the Alley near the Post

IRON FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP,
THE OLD STAND in the Alley near the Post

NEW STORE & NEW GOODS,
CASH AND PRODUCE.

SIGN OF THE LITTLE INDIAN,
THE SUBSCRIBER has the pleasure of informing his friends

TOBACCO, CIGARS & SNUFF,
THE SUBSCRIBER has the pleasure of informing his friends

POTASH KETTLES,
A SUPERIOR ARTICLE on hand from P. H. CONRAD

CLOVER SEED,
LARGE and Small, by CAMB & WINTON.

TRUTH AKIN TO NATURE!
HAVE YOU PAIN? Be thankful.

BRANBURY PILLS,
THE BEST MEDICINE FOR THE BOWELS

BRANBURY PILLS,
THE BEST MEDICINE FOR THE BOWELS

BRANBURY PILLS,
THE BEST MEDICINE FOR THE BOWELS

BRANBURY PILLS,
THE BEST MEDICINE FOR THE BOWELS

BRANBURY PILLS,
THE BEST MEDICINE FOR THE BOWELS

BRANBURY PILLS,
THE BEST MEDICINE FOR THE BOWELS

BRANBURY PILLS,
THE BEST MEDICINE FOR THE BOWELS

BRANBURY PILLS,
THE BEST MEDICINE FOR THE BOWELS

BRANBURY PILLS,
THE BEST MEDICINE FOR THE BOWELS

BRANBURY PILLS,
THE BEST MEDICINE FOR THE BOWELS

To my first Gray Hair.

Gray hair! I'm in my prime,
And will not have that coming now,

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

Hearts—and stop our ears.

Hearts—and stop our ears,
From their agonizing lamentations

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

opportunity of hearing I shall take it upon me

opportunity of hearing I shall take it upon me
to do so.

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

an ounce; but any excess less than half an

an ounce; but any excess less than half an ounce, is not to be regarded.

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

An Ancient Mexican Art re-discovered.

An Ancient Mexican Art re-discovered.
Mackennan, of Indiana, County, Ky., visited

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,

Am I, when only twenty-two,
And feeling younger every day,

I'll pluck them from the stolen hair;
And then no horrid hair shall pluck

But if I pluck them, more will grow;
One every day say that I do.

From the New Haven Fountain,
You good to sign the Poet.

By MRS. MARY B. BAIN.

There, Alice, the bell rings. I hope William
And I will not have that coming now,