

Commodore Foster's Boat in Position at Island... A. Battle momentarily expected.

There appears to be a large rebel force on the Kentucky shore, and we have counted thirteen guns in position on the bluff.

The recent depredations of the Merrimac have caused a rattling among the dry bones of Congress and the Navy Department.

Our Key West Correspondence. Co. I, 90th Regiment, N. Y. S. V., Key West, Florida, February 16, 1862.

Mr. Editor—DEAR SIR: Having received one of your papers in which I find myself as a special correspondent, and I am so much obliged to you for your kind notice.

There is still another class, the wealthy and affluent, who, from fear of the law, acknowledge the existence of a Government, but beneath the expression of righteousness is lurking the spirit of a Judas, and they would sell the entire army of the North for a few million pieces of silver than did Judas sell his master.

I am happy to say that the officers of the 90th observe that dignity which is found alone among New York men, and do not identify themselves with the vulgar herd.

I cannot close without mentioning some of the many good qualities of our officers, and our Capt. Geo. Vaughn, second in command, is a son of Virginia, and has full credit for his gallant services.

In conclusion, I would say that the Jamaica boys are all well, and if they ever go in battle, they will show you all that they will acquire themselves with some of the in the attempt; and they will wish to be engaged to gratify you, and will mention nothing but the good of our country.
