A WILD HUNTRESS.

The Wheeling "Register" of the 20th inst. tells the following story on the authority of Julia Messenger of Windridge, Green county, Pa., for whose veracity it vouches:

A man living near Windridge, Green county, Pa., had born to him five children, four girls and one boy. His name is Daniel Lewis. When quite young the boy and second daughter, named Lucinda Lewis, developed quite a fondness for hunting, and were out nearly all the time, roaming the woods in search of game. They seemed to delight in nothing so much as the fall life of a hunter, and would be gone from home for weeks at a time. After some four or five years the boy quit it, and entered on the more industrious pursuits of life, but the girl continued in the chase. Drawing herself more and more from human intercourse and restraint, she has become a wild woman, fleeing from the approach of her kind with the speed of a deer.

During the early years of her solitary life she used to approach her father's house and entice the dogs to follow her, learning almost any breed of dogs to become good hunters. In the hope of bringing her back to her home and to civilization, her brother followed her and shot the dog she had taken away, using every inducement to get her to go back with him. But it was all in vain.

For eighteen years, since she was twelve years of age, she has lived this wild life, sleeping in the centres of straw stacks during the night and hiding in them during the summer the wild and cultivated fruits she intends for her winter's store of provisions. She is now thirty years old, and is as wild as the most untamed denizen of the forest.

Mr. Messenger says he at one time, while out hunting, met her in the woods. Her long black hair, covering her face and eyes, was matted with burs and leaves, and her black flashing eyes made her a startling picture. She remained perfectly still until he got within twenty feet of her when she turned and fled with the swiftness no man could hope to rival.

A few days since she was seen a gain, and then had in her hand three pheasants and four rabbits, but although these encumbered her she eluded every attempt to capture her. She has been so long in the woods that she has become perfectly wild. Her dress is made of the skins of wild animals and a blanket that she has taken somewhere during some of her nocturnal predatory tours.

Mr. Emanuel Deutch, of the British Museum, died at Alexandria, Egypt, on the 13th inst. He was 41 years old, of Jewish birth, a graduate of the Berlin University, and one of the most learned men in the world.

DR. CROOK'S WINE OF TAR!

Ten Years of a public test has proved Dr. Crook's Wine of Tar to have more merit than any similar preparation ever offered to the public. It is rich in the medicinal qualities of Tar, and unequalled for its efficiency in curing the most remarkable cases of Asthma and Bronchitis, that it has been pronounced a specific for these complaints. It is also a superior Tonic, Strengthens the Appetite, Restores the Weak and Debilitated, Causes the Food to Digest, Removes Dyspepsia and Indigestion, Prevents Biliousness, Gives tone to your System.

That Pale, Yellow, Sickly-Looking Skin is changed to one of freshness and health. These Diseases of the Skin, Pimples, Freckles, Blisters and Eruptions are removed. Scrofulous Diseases of the Eye, White Swelling, Ulcers, Old Sores or any kind of Humor rapidly dwindle and disappear under its influence. In fact it will do you more good, and cure you more speedily than any and all other preparations combined. What is it? It is nature's own restorer! A soluble oxyd of Iron combined with the medicinal properties of the Poke Root divested of all its poisonous qualities. It will cure any Chronic or Leucogenic disease whose real or direct cause is bad blood. Rheumatism, Pains in Joints or Bones, Constipation, Headache, Nervousness, and all other ailments are all cured by it. For Scrofula, or Syphilis, there is nothing equal to it. A little will cure a great deal. Ask for Dr. Crook's Compound Syrup of POKE ROOT.
