

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By Mary Graham Bonner

ANIMAL'S APPEARANCE

"Grunt, grunt," said Porky Pig. "Squeal, squeal," said Miss Ham. "Grunt, grunt, squeal, squeal," said Mammy Sausage. "Grunt, grunt," said little Black Squealer, and then he added: "Squeal, squeal." "Grunt, grunt," said Brother Bacon. "Squeal, squeal," said Mrs. Pink Pig, and Master Pink Pig, and Master Pink Pig's mother said: "Squeal, squeal," too.

After a Camping Trip.

"Grunt, grunt," said Pinky Pig's mother, and her son said the same.

"Grunt, grunt," said Sir Percival Pork. "Squeal, squeal," said Sir Benjamin Bacon.

"I had something to say," Grandfather Porky Pig grunted. "He had something to say," Miss Ham squealed.

"Let him say it, squeal, squeal," all the others said.

"I want to say," began Grandfather Porky, "that it is very strange that people should talk so much about us. I mean about untidiness. It is true we are not as neat as we might be, but then we are natural pigs."

"Now it is natural for people to be neat and tidy, and yet how they do look at times!

"No animal ever looks so untidy as a person does after a camping trip. And most animals 'rough it,' as the saying is, with a certain beauty and ease. When people rough it they look frightfully.

"Their hair is untidy, and they wear most unbecoming clothes, but animals look their same, usual way."

"When cows sleep out at night they do not look all upset when morning comes, but when people have slept out all night in tents how do they look in the morning?

"Yes, animals have far better appearances after they have 'roughed it.' And with only one suit apiece, too, it is pretty remarkable."

"Then," continued Porky, "I have something else to say."

"He has something else to say, squeal, squeal," said Miss Ham. "Let him say it, then," said the other pigs. "Squeal, squeal, let him say it."

"Ah, you're nice, polite pigs today," said Porky. "But this was the other thing I had to say."

"When people have eaten an enormous meal they say: 'We feel as though we could never eat again.'"

"Yes, they will eat again, and before so very long, too. We never make such speeches."

"They should be more honest with themselves. They should say: 'We've just eaten a huge dinner, but when supper comes we will be hungry, just the same.'"

"For that would be the truth. But I can waste no more time in talking, for I am getting hungry once more myself."

"Still, I think people should not boast of their superiority over animals when you think how they look when they rough it, and how animals look when they are out all summer long."

"Fine talk," said Miss Ham. "Fine, squeal, squeal," said Mammy Sausage.

"Good sense, Grandpa," said Brother Bacon. "Noble words," said little Black Squealer. "Squeal, squeal, noble words."

"I Agree With Mamma."

"The truth, grunt, grunt," said Sir Percival Pork. "The truth, indeed, squeal, squeal," said Sir Benjamin Bacon.

"Just as you say, so it is," said Pinky Pig's mother, and Pinky Pig said: "Squeal, squeal, I agree with Mamma."

And all the pigs agreed that what Grandfather Porky Pig had had to say was sensible, and true, too. And quite often, though, they grunted to themselves and said:

"Porky has good thoughts for a pig."

Tommy Pushed Himself
While little Junior and his friend Tommy were playing in their back yard, Tommy fell down and then ran into the house, sobbing. Junior's mother questioned her little boy. "Junior," she asked, "did you push Tommy?"

"No, ma'am," came the ingenious reply. "He jes' pushed himself."

Had Pa There
"My son, it is sticking to a thing that causes one to rise in this world." "How about the fly and the fly-paper, pa?"

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP BY THIS SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.

Somebody Forgot His Cus

It was a sleepy sort of day, the class was about half the usual size and the "prof." was calling the roll in a half-absent manner. To each name some one had answered "Here" until the name of Smith was called. Silence reigned for a moment only to be broken by the instructor's voice: "My word! Hasn't Mr. Smith any friends here?"—College Humbug.

MARS AIR RARE AND PLANET COLD

Washington, Sept. 29.—Belief that the temperature of Mars is low and its atmosphere rare was expressed yesterday by the Carnegie Institution of Washington, announcing the results of the observations made at the Mount Wilson Observatory in California during the recent approach of the planet to the earth.

Measurements of the temperature and heat radiation of Mars were made with a vacuum thermocouple attached to the observatory's 100-inch reflecting telescope. Transmission screens were used so that the light reflected from the planet and the thermal radiation from its heated surface could be separated and analyzed.

The report says: "The measurements indicate that the temperature of the tropical regions of Mars at Martian noon is about 10 degrees above freezing, and that the mean temperature over the south polar cap is about 95 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. The average temperature of the tropical regions between Martian sunrise and 9 o'clock is 10 degrees above zero."

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

ier National Park reservation, is a log-built, primitive type of the lower grade seat of learning. To the twenty odd Indian pupils who daily walk several miles to get the beginning of their education, the celebrated physician gave the professional attention and advice for which he usually collects large fees.

Chief Owen Heavy Breast who founded this school, escorted the doctor from the railway at the main gateway of Glacier Park, back over the hill to the crude little school building. The "Big Pale Face Medicine Man" cleverly told simple interesting fairy-tale-like stories to the little Indian boys and girls as the most effective way to impart his medical knowledge of trachoma to the child minds.

Simplicity
Cultivate simplicity, Coleridge, or rather, I should say, banish elaborateness; for simplicity springs spontaneously from the heart, and carries into daylight its own modest buds, and genuine, sweet and clear flowers of expression; I allow no hotbeds in the gardens of Parnassus.—Charles Lamb.

TO PREVENT BLINDNESS AMONG INDIANS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—Through the philanthropic spirit of Dr. L. Webster Fox, Philadelphia, noted American eye specialist, the United States Indian Department's good work of stamping out trachoma from the Blackfoot Indian tribe has been greatly supplemented, for he has given of himself and his master medical mind.

During a recent vacation tour of Glacier National Park, Dr. Fox voluntarily and gratuitously visited the Owen Heavy Breast Indian School. This institution, situated on the Glac-
