Vote. The House version would create a new "conquest of cancer agency" to fund research. The Senate bill could reach the House floor for a vote within two weeks.

The Future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future. The future is always different than the past. The answer is revealed by a glance at the future. The House and the Senate do not always agree. The President may or may not agree with Congress. The stock market is said to reflect the immediate economic future.