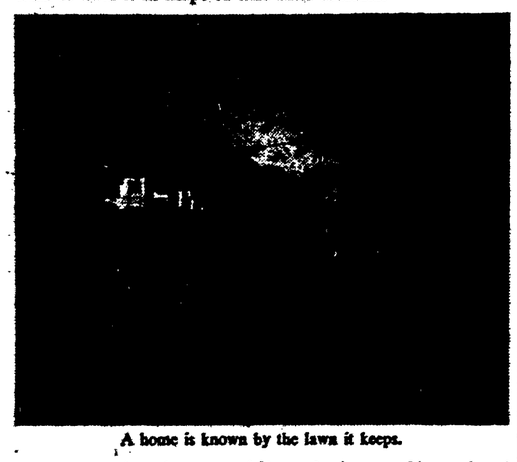
GETTING THE MOST FROM

YOUR GARDEN

by Dr. Peter Asgrow

YOUR LAWN IN SUMMER

Summer is the season when the lawn is of most value—for appearance, for the mere pleasure of walking on it, or for play. If you look upon the garden as an outdoor living room, this is its carpet and deserves to be as well cared for as an indoor carpet. If it is the children's for play, you surely will wish to have it in shape to take their tumbles.



A home is known by the lawn it keeps.

Tending the lawn in summer is no great task compared with the old days when lawns were cut with scythe or sickle, when less was known of what makes grass good and green and how to keep it so. Now we have learned that the grasses in the lawn need food, and that a good time to supply it is early summer. Spread it all over and water it well to get it down to the roots, so that it will be available there through the coming weeks of heat.

One rule may be laid down about watering: never sprinkle. Wait until there are signs that water is really needed, then soak, continuing until this imitation rain has wet the soil to a depth of five inches. This will take some hours, probably, and preferably in the evening to prevent evaporation.

In summer weather the grass should not be cut too short—two inches is about the minimum. It is not the shortness of the grass that makes a lawn look smooth, but the evenness of the cut, which should present no difficulty with the modern mower. Such slightly longer grass is more pleasing to the foot, means stronger plants, conserves the soil moisture and, by making more shade over the surface, deters the germination of crabgrass and other weeds.

A thick healthy stand of the cultivated grasses is one of the best deterrents to crabgrass, which cannot come up without sunlight, and in such a lawn is far from being the ugly pest it is where the grass is sparse and under-nourished. Yet its seeds are very widespread, and though any that appeared last summer died down with the frost, this nuisance will return with the warmer weather if given any chance. Fortunately it needs heat as well as light for germination, and by the time hot days come the lawn grasses should be thick enough to shade it. If despite this natural control it does make a start, there are now efficient sprays and powders for killing it. Get one of them from your garden supply store, and be sure to follow with care the instructions on the container.

For one reason or another it sometimes becomes desirable to repair or patch a lawn in summer. In such a case it is better not to seed with the regular, good quality mixtures. Stir the soil, add some fertilizer, water it in and then sow ryegrass. This will come up quickly and make green cover until early fall, when the place should be gone over again with the better seed.

The rule about watering laid down above is equally, or even more, applicable to the flower beds and the vegetable garden, where sprinkling may do more harm because weeds will be encouraged in the blank places between plants, and the plants themselves will spread roots on the surface, where they are likely to be hoed or burned. As with the lawn, water should not be applied until it is really necessary, and then it should not be stinted until the roots are well supplied.

To get more enjoyment from your garden send for Gifts from Your Garden, a free booklet of vegetable recipes. Address postcard to Asgrow, P.O. Box 406H, New Haven 2, Conn.

New Span To Open In 1962

Ottawa, Ont.—The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority has called for tenders for a major portion of the sub-structure of a new high-level highway bridge to cross the North Channel of the St. Lawrence River between Cornwall and Cornwall Island.

The tenders are to be received up to June 2. In December last year, the Seaway Authority and the United States entity, the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, handed over to the Cornwall International Bridge Co. the ownership and operation of a new high-level suspension highway bridge the two Seaway entities had built over the South Channel, between Cornwall Island and the United States mainland.

The sub-structure work called for under this new contract will comprise eight concrete piers and an abutment on the south or Cornwall Island side of the river and 15 concrete piers on the north or mainland side. The work will extend over a distance of some 2,300 feet and is to be finished by June 30, 1960.

The entire bridge and approaches will be about a mile long and will be composed of a series of continuous-truss-type spans. It will involve one or two other sub-structure contracts, one more for the steel superstructure and one or more for the road-finishing, deck, lighting etc. The bridge, which will have a 27-foot roadway, is expected to be completed in 1962.

The firm of H.H.L. Pratley of Montreal has been retained by the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority as consultants for the design, plans and specifications and to supervise the construction of the new North Channel bridge. The firm has, with the approval of the Authority, retained Foundation of Canada Engineering Corporation Ltd. as associate consultants for the design and supervision of construction of the substructure.

GIRL SCOUT BULLETIN

Apr. 23, Girl Scout Troop 25 held a candlelight ceremony in which the girls formed a human horse shoe. The meeting was opened with the Girl Scout Promise.

During the meeting the laws, slogans and motto were recited and there was singing.

Several girls were invested into Troop 25. They were Ann Stoddard, Patty Romeo, Sheila Podgurski, Elaine Gallion, Beatrice Conesse, Jerry Mattison, Evelyn Simpson, and Carol Kinnear.

Other girls taking part in the ceremony were Charlene St. Pierre, Sandra Bray, Mary Ann Martin, Kathy DeRosie, Jeanette Festa, Julia Catanzarite, Janice Agresta, and Judy Barkley.

Following the meeting, Mrs. Joseph Palmer, troop leader told the girls about Spain. She displayed handkerchiefs and scarves. Some of the girls who are working on their active citizenship badges were shown her citizenship papers and passports.

The meeting opened and closed with a flag ceremony.

On May 7 the intermediate Girl Scout troops held a songfest at the town hall with approximately 150 girls attending.

Mrs. Ronnie Sedlock and Mrs. Mayford Hartford led the singing and Mrs. Marie Eldon-Browne demonstrated marching. Square dancing and rock and roll were part of the program and were enjoyed by all. Mark Snider was the caller.
