"LOOK UP AT THE HEAVENS"

By Percy M. Proctor

In the southern sky as the stars come out these evenings of late June, one star, the famous Antares in the constellation of the Scorpion, stands out strikingly red in color. The Greeks, who knew the god of war and the planet named for him as Ares, gave this star its name of Antares, which means "rival of Ares", while we who call the planet Mars as it was known to the Romans, would refer to Antares as the "rival of Mars." It is an appropriate name for a star whose color so closely resembles the red of the planet that they look like red twins whenever they are seen close together as they usually are for several evenings when Mars is making one of its close visits to the earth.

Antares is a supergiant among the stars, some 400 million miles in diameter, so enormous that if the sun were put at its center, there would be room enough completely within it for four planets - Mercury, Venus, the earth, and Mars - to follow their orbits around the sun. In volume forty million suns would be required to equal it, yet so nearly is Antares only a red-hot vacuum that its huge sphere contains only material enough to make about thirty suns.

In its beauty and majesty, Scorpius is the constellation of the summer skies which rivals Orion, the great ornament of the winter heavens. It is an easy constellation to find and trace if you have a vantage point from which there is a good view down to the low southern horizon. Red Antares will stand out clear and red as the starting point. Above and to its right are three stars arranged in a shallow arc roughly perpendicular to the horizon. They are the claws of the Scorpion. Down from them through Antares stretches the long line of stars that outline the Scorpion's body and end in an upward loop to the left so that they form what looks like a fishhook or a capital letter J.

Anniversary greeting's to PHYLLIS and NEIL GREENE and to two dear people who have just hit their Silver Wedding Day, THE FERLISE'S. PHYLLIS and NEIL are still babes for they are just starting their 8th year of wedded bliss? Just kidding.

What a beautiful Graduation Day the SENIORS at DEER PARK HIGH SCHOOL had on Sunday. The speeches were short and very poignant and 470 students will not be going on to greater glory. Love to all of you on this very special day of days. As I listened to the names being called, I wondered where the years had gone to. I also laughed at an applauding parent who said, "Hey, I'm applauding for me not them." That's about the size of it!

FISH of DEER PARK was delighted to hear that JAMES McDONAGH, President of the Eisenhower Republican Club and SYD ASKOFF, County Legislator, visited County Executive JOHN KLEIN to discuss discount movies for the Senior Citizens in the Town of Babylon. One gentleman present wants to also have coffee and cake. We understand that he was a representative from United Artists. Transportation reductions for the aged was another item on the agenda, that should not be forgotten.

Birthday Happiness to ROBERT MANTIA, son of MRS. GRACE MANTIA, of W. 14th Street. He was recently promoted to Army Specialist Four at Fort Hood, Texas where he is serving with the 2nd Armored Division.

The ROSENBERG household was quite busy as of late, what with relatives coming and going from California; South Carolina and Florida. Son David was home on leave and his grandmother visited from Florida and the entire family took pride in son Joel's graduation from Deer Park High.

Bless you all, and have a good week, Deer Parkers.

The Possession Of Joel Delaney

By Steve Podd

If you are looking for a first rate thriller, The Possession Of Joel Delaney is for you. With all the trash released at local theatres recently, this film shines with excitement and is a top notch suspense yarn. Shirley MacLaine gives a beautiful performance and the film is in her capable hands. She plays a rich divorcee whose brother begins to act strangely after his return from Africa.

The suspense builds as the audience and Miss MacLaine begin to find out why. The picture holds your interest all the way until the chilling climax, and is well worth your time and money. On the same bill is the disastrous Hannie Caulder. If you're smart, skip it, but don't miss The Possession of Joel Delaney.
