

Halloween Antics Keep Kids, Cops, Firemen Busy

If there was an unopened window in Plattsburgh as of last midnight it was simply because of an oversight.

Homes, business establishments and automobiles came in equally for Halloween daubing, and several thousand man-hours of window washing were in prospect for the city's residents.

Police and firemen had a busy night answering a multitude of calls that were anything but productive. Grass and leaves fires set by prowling youngsters sent firemen out about a dozen times during the evening. The youthful arsonists were conspicuous by their absence by the time firemen hove on the scene.

Police received most of their calls from householders irate over small fry antics that ranged from innocent mischief to vandalism.

A Riley Avenue trio of 2, 4 and 5 years respectively held the dubious distinction of setting the pace in the latter category. They set fire to a multi-car garage behind their home. Total damage—$1400.

The city's recreation department supplied a parade and block dance calculated to reduce youthful deceptions.

Recreation Director Peter Blumette estimated that 8,000 persons witnessed the parade that started on St. Peter's Field, wound down Cornelia to Oak, then on to Broad, Margaret and Cornelia Streets, terminating in front of City Hall.

High school and college factories took over there, participating in a block dance that continued until about 9:45. Peter Blumette's orchestra provided music for the dance.

Costumes in the parade ranged from bedsheet shrouds to weird multi-colored attire that would have taxed the imagination of a surrealist.

Six judges named two kings and two queens, choosing David Hal John Walker, Sherry Hall and Lind Thompson.

Twenty-four other youngsters were cited for the originality of their garb. They were:

Albany Woman Seeks $385,000 Claim from City

Attorneys for Mrs. Ann M. Rekemeyer of Albany have filed a claim against the city for $385,000, as a result of injuries the 32-year-old woman received when struck by an auto while crossing Bridge Street on July 29.

Corporation Counsel Allen M. Light said yesterday that the claim against the city has been forwarded to the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, the city's insurer, for disposition.

The claim is based on negligence charged to Patrolman Edgar St. Louis of 160 Montcalm Avenue, driver of the car that struck Mrs. Rekemeyer on Bridge Street near the City Hall Place intersection at 8:50 p. m. St. Louis, was on leave of absence from the force and was operating his own auto.

The claim is made solely against the city and refers only to St. Louis as being negligent in operating his motor vehicle.

Mrs. Rekemeyer, eight-months pregnant at the time of the accident, suffered reported injuries to both knees. Her daughter, Cheryl, five, who was walking beside her mother, was also struck to the pavement.

The woman was admitted to the Champlain Valley Hospital. Her daughter was discharged following an examination.

Mrs. Rekemeyer's husband, Donald, also crossing the street, yanked his son, Thomas, three, out of the car's path as it was turning east on Bridge Street from City Hall Place.

Business construction permits call for the erection of a service station on North Margaret Street adjoining Scamotion Creek at an estimated cost of $15,000. Also, a storage garage valued at $4,425 on Pond Street.

During the month of September, 27 permits were filed with the city building inspector at a cost of $53,630. In August, '52 permits were filed with an overall total cost of $152,980.

Montreal Stores To Ignore Closing

MONTREAL, Que., (AP)—A city ordinance ordering Montreal stores to close on Roman Catholic holy days will be largely ignored for the third time today, All Saints' Day.

Seven big department and jewelry stores, which won a court judgment against the ordinance July 17, announced they will remain open. Many smaller stores in this predominantly Catholic city of 1,650,000 are expected again to follow suit.

Although Superior Court Justice Albert I. Smith has ruled both the ordinance and a provincial statute on which it is based are invalid, the ordinance remains on the books pending hearing on an appeal by the city, perhaps in January.
