

News from the Greenwich Central School

Leaders of Student Council

The students of Greenwich central school have elected Yvonne Johnson president of the student council and Marty Hughes vice president for the 1967-68 school year. The voting culminated a week of campaigning and separate assemblies for junior and senior high school.

At the assemblies each candidate was introduced by his campaign manager and presented his views. One candidate for vice president, Don Brownell, was ill on the day of assembly and his campaign manager, George Harrington, introduced him at the assembly. The other candidate for vice president, Marty Hughes had

Paul Walker as campaign manager.

There were also two candidates for president, Yvonne Johnson and Ginny Williams. Yvonne Johnson who is currently vice president had Gail Pearson as a campaign manager. Ginny Williams had campaign manager Betsy Barber introduced her at the junior high assembly and Kathy Fullerton at the senior high assembly.

This year for the first time the student body in the high school had an opportunity to ask the candidates questions. Mike Harfen, president of the student council, moderated this portion of the program. Donald Brooks, advisor to the student council, was also present.

Harry Belafonte Will Be at SPAC To Open Season

Two concerts by Harry Belafonte and his company will officially open the 1967 season at the Saratoga Performing Arts center June 29 and 30. Mr. Belafonte will be the first attraction to appear as part of the center's plans to expand the season both in length and scope.

Mr. R. P. Leach, executive director of the center said that with Mr. Belafonte's appearances, the center inaugurates its new policy of presenting outstanding artists from various fields of the performing arts. To encompass a broader spectrum of entertainment, both popular and classical events will be presented during the 1967 season in addition to the regular appearances of the New York City Ballet in July and the Philadelphia orchestra in August.

Daniel Defoe, creator of "Robinson Crusoe," wrote some 30 books in the last four years of his life.

Recognition Day For the Teachers

Teacher recognition day was held at the Greenwich central school Tuesday, arranged by the local Parent Teachers association. All members of the faculty and administration were presented with boutonnières, and coffee and cake were served in the teachers' room.

'School's In, Work's Out' On the Farm

Young people under 16 years of age can work on farms after school, on week ends, and during vacations, according to Frank E. Mercurio, regional director of the U. S. labor department's wage-hour and public contacts divisions.

Mr. Mercurio reminded farmers, parents and youths that when "school's in, work's out." He added that the fair labor standards act prohibits youths under 16 from working during school hours in a district where school is in session.

Even though it is legal for youths over 16 to do farm work during school hours, Mr. Mercurio urged all youths to stay in school and graduate.

"A youth who doesn't finish school is selling himself and his eventual family short," he said. "For in today's economy, unskilled jobs are fast disappearing and are, for the most part, unrewarding. The young person who sticks it out and graduates will reap much larger earnings over his lifetime than the youth who doesn't," he emphasized.

Mr. Mercurio also reminded farmers that the minimum wage provisions of the FSLA may apply to some of them for the first time this year. Growers who use a lot of labor probably will have to pay at least $1 an hour this year.

C. J. Lytle Back After 7 Months in the Pacific

C. J. Lytle, PT 2, who serves as a fire control technician on the destroyer USS Newman K. Perry, has returned to the United States after spending seven months in the Pacific. The Newman K. Perry was one of the navy support forces in the Bay of Tonkin and other areas around Vietnam.

The destroyer arrived in Newport, R. I., May 8, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christie E. Lytle, met the ship when it came into port. C. J. spent a few days at home, and returned to his ship at Newport. He expects to have a leave starting the end of the month. He will complete his four years in the navy in October.

New System Of Pricing Class 1 Milk

Dairy farmers who supplied the Massachusetts-Rhode Island federal order market during April this year will be paid $4.72 a hundredweight for 3.5 per cent milk received at zone 21 plants, 201-210 miles from Boston. The April blended price is 15 cents a hundredweight above the price for April of last year and is 70 cents above the price for April-1965. The April price is equal to, slightly more than 40 cents a quart.

The seasonal incentive pricing plan provides for setting aside money from the market pool in the flush production months of March through June, with the money so set aside added back in the short production months of August through November. For April the set-aside reduced the blended price 33 cents, approximately offsetting the gain from the higher class 1 price. Thus the April blended price is nearly the same as it would have been under the old pricing plan.

The butterfat differential for April is 8.1 cents, the same for March but up from the 7.5 cent differential of April 1966. In April, 55 per cent of the receipts from producers was used as class 1 milk. This was down from the nearly 56 per cent of receipts used as class 1 last year.

PEDESTRIANS CAUTIONED be dangerous not only for the pedestrian but can create a hazardous situation when a motorist stops to offer a ride. Figures compiled by the state police this year indicate that the increase in pedestrian accidents in 1966 is continuing into 1967.
