CONFIDENCE IN THE TIMES. THE confidence in THE TIMES, expressed by the business men of Geneva during the past week, has been more than gratifying. A large number of the leading business and professional men of the place have shown their confidence in the enterprise, and given their encouragement in a most substantial manner, by sending their individual checks for advance payments of a year's subscription to the paper.

We may be pardoned for saying that the receipts of the office for the week up to Saturday night, from subscriptions alone, were greater than the total expenses of the business for the same time. The meaning of this is that THE TIMES has more than paid its own way during the second week of its publication, and that this is a remarkable experience no newspaper man will dispute. It is doubtful if a similar experience has ever fallen to the lot of any daily paper in the state. It is surely something unusual. The common experience of newspaper publishers, in new enterprises, points to a constant sinking of money, from week to week for a long period, in the current expenses and a general lack of sympathy and encouragement from patrons.

It is with a feeling of profound gratitude that the publisher of THE TIMES recognizes the confidence of its patrons in his efforts to make a first-class daily paper for Geneva, a confidence which means something, backed up by a series of five dollars notes and a substantial patronage. We believe more than ever in THE TIMES, and are more than ever sanguine of its success. It is our purpose to show that the confidence expressed by the business men of Geneva in THE TIMES, at the beginning of its existence, has not been misplaced, and that the many kind acts of our friends have been appreciated. This we shall endeavor to prove.

FASHION ON THE BICYCLE. JAMES B. TOWNSEND, who is supposed to know something about fashionable women, having married one of them writes for the June Scribner, that the rapid development of the present interest in bicycling among people of wealth and leisure in America is perhaps its most striking feature. Scarcely a year has elapsed since the first woman known at all in and to the fashionable world of New York rode her wheel along the Boulevard and through Central Park, and this she did amid all manner of adverse comment from and by her associates. A few society men, so called, of an adventurous and athletic turn of mind rode the well-remembered "high wheel" spasmodically for some years, and some few again essayed the safety bicycle when it was invented. These, too, were jeered at by their fellows, and with exceptions soon abandoned a sport in which they did not find congenial companionship.

The society world, which in this generation had taken up croquet, roller-skating and lawn tennis in turn with avidity, and tired of them in succession watched with languid glances the bicyclists seen in the streets and met with in its drives and rides - was rather disposed to grumble at them as an audience, and to silently approve all measures to restrict their privileges. It was for the most part ignorant of the rapid development of the sport, of the capital invested in bicycle manufacture, of tournaments, leagues and classes. It the wheel, and was as far away from even the idea of adopting the wheel itself a year ago as it was before the invention of the safety bicycle. It was a New York physician's wife who first learned to ride a year ago, and became the pioneer among fashionable wheel-women, and her example and that of her husband was soon followed by other well-known New York men and women.

FOOLING THE LABORING MAN. The silverites are trying to make the laboring men of the country believe that a return to free silver coinage would be to their benefit, while the intelligent working-men will give the matter a little consideration they will see that such theories cannot be supported by the facts in the case. The St. Cloud Journal says that - "The laboring men who have to rely on their daily wages are the ones who would be the hardest hit by the free coinage of silver, and the cheapening of the dollar. The best stand of value in labor, and this is about the only product that has not been cheapened. The laboring man to-day can buy as many gold dollars, and a great deal more of most everything else, as he could a few years ago. It is just as honest and reasonable to say that the 'crime of 1873' was a conspiracy on the part of the laboring people, to depreciate the price of products, whereby they doubled the purchasing power of their day's work, as the claim advanced by the free silver advocates."

WHAT a climate we have! LET politics "dry up" until fall. PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN cannot be gotten up in this kind of weather.

THE St. Louis is on the "briny deep" Good luck to the finest great American liner.

Is woman's suffrage to end in a catch? Mrs. CATI will soon be its presiding genius.

AN important question is agitating the city papers of New York. Did it did not BENJAMIN HARRISON buy a fifty cent straw hat?

EDITORS throughout the state should beware not to make too many visits to Geneva, since THE TIMES has published its "whisky spring" to the world. We give warning, that no more papers need be represented in the vicinity of that spring.

THE TIMES extends its heartiest thanks to Geneva's business men and merchants for the liberal way they have come forward and paid for it a year in advance. We assure you, gentlemen, that your confidence has not been misplaced this time.

"It is a Credit" Naples Record THE GENEVA DAILY TIMES made its first appearance on Tuesday of this week, and is a credit to its publishers as well as showing the rapid growth of the town.

"Come to Stay" Correspondent Europa Telegram THE GENEVA DAILY TIMES made its first appearance on Tuesday of this week, and is a credit to its publishers as well as showing the rapid growth of the town.

"Bright and Noway." Showville Enterprise The Geneva Daily News, which suspended publication on Tuesday, was succeeded the same afternoon by the DAILY TIMES. It is a bright and new, seven-column paper, is well supplied with advertising favors, and the initial sample copy before us is an exhibition of its promised standard of excellence. The DAILY TIMES is certainly Geneva's advertiser and the reading public. M. J. Dillon is its editor and publisher, and Elton G. Salisbury the city editor.
