

RIGHT UP TO DATE

The Geneva Daily Times Last Saturday.

A COMPLETE SCOOP

The Sole Purveyor of Important Local News.

IT LEADS THE PROCESSION

Is From Three Days to a Week Ahead of Its Contemporaries, and Gives Them a Pace to Difficult for Them too Follow.

The Times set a pretty lively pace for its contemporaries last Saturday and threw a good deal of dust in their eyes as it swept past them on the home stretch. It does not claim any particular credit for the act, for that is a part of its business, and to have done anything less would have been a signal dereliction of duty toward its patrons and a confession of failure in grasping the situation.

It has been the purpose and aim of the Times to furnish the news, promptly, fully and in proper order, believing that such a service, especially in local matters, would demonstrate the fact that it has a legitimate place among the institutions of Geneva. That it has already done this, during the period that constitutes the first three months of its existence, needs no confirmation save that found in the united voice of its readers. It has shown repeatedly its superiority, as a news-gatherer, over its contemporaries, and for enterprise and accuracy has placed itself in the front rank of Geneva newspapers.

It has been a common remark among readers, and almost everybody in Geneva reads the Times, that the volume and importance of the local news, printed from day to day in its columns, is not only a surprise to them but something almost incredible, so accustomed had they become to an antiquated and imperfect review. Their conception of news has been materially enlarged under the daily presentation by the Times of fresh, live and newsworthy matter. The past quarter has been an educational one for Geneva newspaper readers, who have come to know the place and the people better than ever before, and to realize that the Times has a mission here that it is filling with some degree of credit.

On several occasions it has out-news-papared its contemporaries, much to the delight of its friends but at no time so completely as on Saturday when it published a full account of a Geneva suicide, in detail so full that the subsequent forty-eight hours have brought to light no new facts, of which its local contemporary of that day had not a paragraph, a sentence, a line or a word. The "suicide" in the newspaper parlance, was so complete as to make one wonder why such papers are published anyway. The event occurred during the forenoon, giving the Times ample opportunity to investigate the case thoroughly, to sift the facts from the rumors current on the streets, and to construct a correct and logical narrative of the occurrence and its cause.

It is upon such a service, repeated as it is from time to time, that the Times claims to be a newspaper for its readers. It is the people's paper, and its province is to give the news, always up to date, and in a way that he who runs may read, and he who reads may be intelligently posted on the current events in his own town as well as abroad.

LAWRENCE PARK BALL GAME.

The Seneca Falls and Waterloo combination baseball club will play the Cornell club at Lawrence Park on Thursday afternoon. A good game can be expected, as Cornell has a crack club and they will probably go against Mark Baldwin, the ex-lexus pitcher. Admission 25 cents, grand stand free for ladies.

All ladies' shoes and ties have been reduced 25 per cent at Oulebon's Desideratum store.

ADVANCING PRICES IN FABRICS.

There has been a marked advance in the dry goods trade on all kinds of prints, cambrics and gingham, that goes to show that the era of low prices is passing. Some of our Geneva merchants have stocks that can never be replaced at the present quotations.

The Geneva, Waterloo, Seneca Falls and Cayuga Lake Traction Company is prepared to collect parcels in any part of Geneva and Waterloo and deliver same to any part of Waterloo and Geneva respectively. GENEVA A CATSPAW

The Case Against Knight Probably Dropped.

FOUR DAYS IN CUSTODY

Heid Without a Warrant and Discharged on Habeas Corpus Writ—A Singular Case.

James Knight, a Geneva boy who has been restrained of his liberty for several days past by being confined in the lockup, was released on Saturday afternoon at Canandaigua, as was announced exclusively in the Times of that day. Knight was released on a writ of habeas corpus, secured before Judge Metcalf. Argument was made by the well-known law firm of Hawley, Nicholas & Hoskins. It was shown conclusively by Knight's attorneys that the Geneva authorities had no right to hold their client on a telegraphic order without a warrant. It took Judge Metcalf only a few minutes to decide the case, and Knight left the court room a free man. In company with friends and relatives he returned to Geneva on the 4:30 train.

No officer from the scene of the alleged shooting has yet made his appearance in Geneva to serve the warrant issued for Knight's arrest, a copy of which is in the possession of Acting Chief Bales. According to reports from Port Jervis none is liable to visit Geneva, as may be seen by the appended despatch:

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The Commissioners of this County, Pa., yesterday at Milford refused to appropriate a dollar towards the prosecution of James J. Knight, the alleged murderer of Charles Twist, and refused to authorize the district attorney to take any steps to bring Knight, who was discharged from custody at Geneva, N. Y., to Milford.

Since this decision it has become known that two other murders in the county were disposed of in a like manner. The commissioners give as their reason that they were afraid the county auditor would refuse to allow for disbursements such as were asked.

If the foregoing be true the case is practically disposed of. As a matter of fact there was little evidence against Knight on which to base the charge of murder. There was no motive. He and Twist were the best of friends. The stories of the trainmen from the start were conflicting, no two telling the same story and no one telling it twice alike. The evidence was purely circumstantial, and it is altogether improbable that a Pennsylvania jury would ever have found Knight guilty. He is to be congratulated on the favorable termination of the case.

SUICIDE OF WM. A. ROSE.

Nothing new Has been developed Since Saturday's Report.

Nothing new has developed in the Rose suicide case except that it has been ascertained beyond doubt that no one witnessed the taking off of the unfortunate man. Ralph Vaguan, who was on the Onondaga, saw Rose sitting alone at the stern of the boat behind the ladies' cabin. A heavy south wind was blowing at the time. It is supposed that Rose waited until he was unobserved and then made the fatal leap.

His brother Edward was a caller Saturday at the Times office and expressed deep regret at his brother's act. He expressed a willingness to attempt the recovery of the body, but as no one knows just where the suicide occurred it was concluded that a search would be in vain. The deceased was about 57 years of age.

LATE FIRE AT STOVE WORKS.

A Heavy Loss From Water Amounting to $15,000.

The loss at the stove works fire which occurred on Friday, August 16th was one of the largest in the history of fire losses in Geneva. The insurance companies are out $14,300 on the stock and $730 on the building, a total of $15,030.

By this may be seen that nearly $15,000 damage was done by water. The damage by fire was comparatively small. Five streams of water were poured into the building for nearly two hours and it is a wonder that the damage was not greater. The loss has been adjusted and the work of setting things aright has been begun.

THROUGH TO SENECA FALLS.

Direct by the Electric Railway from Geneva Without Transfer.

Direct communication by electric railway between Geneva and Seneca Falls is now established. The first car over the line, No. 10, with Charles Fitzworth, conductor, and Judd Lerch, motorman, left Seneca Falls this morning at 6:30. E. F. Slack, superintendent of the eastern end, and a party of friends took the initial trip over the road. Superintendent Thos. Craig was present and viewed with satisfaction the completion of the wedding of iron between Geneva and Seneca Falls. Trips will be made on the old schedule time. That is, cars will leave the Franklin House every forty minutes as usual.

BREVITIES:

Little Joe is now doing business in his own name at the old stand, having discharged his indebtedness to Rothchild, Baum & Stern, last Wednesday. He says he is prepared to sell clothing cheaper than any merchant in town.

Work on the sea wall under the new appropriation began to-day. Men are engaged in getting the stone out of the quarry at Waterloo. This morning the engineers began setting the templates preparatory to beginning the work of construction.

There have been no new developments in the case of Wm. A. Rose, who was drowned by jumping from the Onondaga on Saturday, in addition to the report published exclusively in the Times on that day. The body in all probability will never be recovered.

This morning Mrs. A. A. Campion fell into a cistern at her home on Colt street. The top gave way and Mrs. Campion was precipitated to the bottom. The cistern contained about eighteen inches of water. Mrs. Campion fortunately escaped with only a slight injury to one of her hands.

This morning E. J. Broderick, the Seneca street hatter, sent by mail a hat to George E. Walker, Douglass, Alaska. Mr. Walker was formerly a resident of Geneva, having been employed at the Optical Works. He is a brother of Mrs. Wm. McConnell and Mrs. S. A. Dally. Mr. Walker evidently knows a good thing when he sees it, and he will see it when the hat arrives.

ARE AFTER RAINES

Stay-at-Home Process to be Tried on His Vote.

ATTEMPT TO DEFEAT HIM

Saxton in Worse Odor With Anti-Platt Men Than With Platt Men, and Severely Criticized.

From the New York Sun.

If the anti-Platt republicans of New York county can in any way contribute to the defeat of John Raines for senator in the Wayne-Ontario district they certainly will. This was the announcement made last night. It was also made known that republicans more or less friendly to Mr. Platt will
