

DAILY SENTINEL.

PRICE ONE CENT OFFICE CORNER OF FORD & WATER STREETS. BY S. FOOTE.

VOLUME 1. OGDENSBURG, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 21, 1849. NUMBER 55.

THE DAILY SENTINEL.

This paper will be issued daily, so long as the Proprietor shall be supported in his experiment at one cent per number, to town and county subscribers, and will be sent to the latter, as many times per week as desired, and paid for.

ADVERTISERS.

It will offer great facilities to advertisers; as it will insert advertisements at unusually low rates.

TERMS.—Five lines or under ten cents for the first insertion, and one cent for every subsequent insertion.

All advertisements marked and paid in advance at the above rates.

CONTENTS.

The Daily Sentinel will be published every morning, (Sunday excepted) and contain all the telegraphic news received at the Prescott station, at 7 o'clock the evening previous, and any other important news that may come hand. Published at the office of THE OGDENSBURG SENTINEL, where all advertisements must be left as early as 4 P. M., to ensure publication the next morning.

This paper will be continued so long as it will pay its own expense, and if discontinued, all advances will be refunded.

This paper will offer a convenient medium for traveling concert, showmen, &c., and for all persons wishing to advertise on short notice, the arrival of new goods, or articles to which dealers wish to call particular attention, and any number of extras will be at any time furnished to such as wish them, giving the desired advertisement the most conspicuous place.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

St. Lawrence Hotel,
BY JAMES LARKIN,
Corner of Ford and State streets Ogdensburg.

Alden Villa,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN BOOTS, SHOES
AND LEATHER,
the Old Stand of R. & A. Vilms, sign of the Mammoth Boot, Ogdensburg, N. Y.

H. G. & S. Foote,
ATTORNEYS, SOLICITORS, & COUNSELLORS,
Opposite the Bridge, corner of Ford and Water
Streets, Ogdensburg.

Dr. Ambler and Blodgett,
SURGEON DENTISTS,
Office two doors from the St. Lawrence Hotel,
State st., Ogdensburg.

H. S. Humphrey & Co.,
SUCCESSORS TO
L. S. Morris,
APOTHECARY STORE IN THE BRICK BUILDING,
Sign of the Golden Mortar, Ford Street, Og-densburgh, N. Y.
Prescriptions carefully prepared.

A. & H. Mathieson,
TAILORS AND DRAPERS
Ford Street, Ogdensburg

Ogdensburg House,
BY D. D. CARR,
At the West end of the Bridge, Ogdensburg
N. Y. B. Horses and Carriages will be furnished on reasonable terms and on short notice.

Amos Reed,
ATTORNEY, SOLICITOR AND COUNSELLOR,
Office in Hopkin's new building at the North end of the Bridge, Ogdensburg.

H. R. Hare,
DRUGGIST AND APOTHECARY,
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Eye-
Stuffs, &c., at the sign of the Blue Mortar, Ford St.
Ogdensburg, N. Y.

Seely & Freeman,
MANUFACTURERS OF ALL KINDS OF JEWELRY,
Three doors east of G. N. Seymour and Sons,
Ford Street, Ogdensburg.

L. D. Pomerooy,
BOOKSELLER, STATIONER, AND BINDER,
Sign of the Big Book, Ford St. Ogdensburg N. Y.
All orders promptly executed.

Tre蒙特 House,
BY JOHN B. HAGGETT,
Water Street, Ogdensburg, N. Y.
Near the Steamboat landing.

New Pedler's Exchange,
FORD STREET, OGDENSBURG, N. Y.
Just received, a new and splendid assortment of Spring and Summer Goods, which will be sold at our usually low prices. BRONNER & KRAFT,
April 20, 1848.

Jenner, Sprague & Co.,
SUCCESSORS TO
SEARLE & JENNER,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN DRUGS,
Medicines, Paints, Oils, Glass, Putty, Dyewoods,
Dye Stuffs, Patent Medicines, French Chemicals, Perfumery &c. &c. 51.

L. F. Finckel,
GROCERY, AND PROVISION STORE,
Ford Street, Ogdensburg, N. Y. 31

North American Hotel,
BY JAMES BEALLS,
Opposite the Post Office and Custom House, Pon-tack St. W. will give prompt and every attention to travelers. 21.

Amos Stocker,
MERCHANT TAILOR AND DRAPER,
Ford Street Ogdensburg, N. Y. 21-1/2

Dentistry.
Dr. AUSTIN has this day removed his office to State Street, 2 doors from the St.
Lawrence Hotel
Ogdensburg, May 12, 1849. 21-1/2

Blanks
OF ALL KINDS, KEPT CONSTANTLY ON hand and for sale at this office.

Ware-House Receipt Books
FOR Sale at this Office and at L. D. Pomerooy's

Americans in Russia.
Much more interesting is the Imperial farming institution, also in the vicinity of the capital. It is a model farm of seven hundred acres, and a school for the improvement and instruction of the peasantry. With the exception of the hedges planted about it in the English style, there is nothing in the condition and management of the farm itself entitled to particular observation. A museum is attached to the premises, replete with all kinds of agricultural implements, from the outlandish machines called Russian ploughs, to the light and simple articles by that name from the United States. The stalls contain fine cattle of various breeds, and there were some model cottages, inhabited by those who, having passed their time as common laborers, were now learning to live as farmers should live, like men and christians. We tasted the bread, butter, cheese, and various preparations of milk, the produce of the place, and all of which were as good as these things always are at model farms. Two hundred peasants from sixteen to twenty years of age, and educated here. Each province is allowed to send a certain number, who are supposed to be selected with reference to their superior intelligence and industry. Fifty of them are graduated, and a new class of fifty admitted every year. We were informed by the director of the establishment, a German, that some of the graduates have turned out well, and some been found indifferent and incurable. To teach them cleanliness is almost impossible, and he assured us that when they first entered the school, they literally did not know the difference between sweet and sour.

One of the most amusing incidents attending our visit to this institution, was to find there an American who had but lately arrived in the country. He spoke nothing but English, and could hold no communication whatever with those around him, except through the medium of signs and gestures. He was a tall thin man, with a thoughtful countenance. He had brought with him a number of improved instruments of agriculture.
See fourth Page.