THE BLUES. A GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION OF THE DREADFUL FEELING. What is Meant by This Form of Acute Misery—Where Doctors Make Mistakes.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way:— She has been feeling "out of sorts" for some time; head has ached, and back also; has slept poorly; been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart has beat very fast; then that bearing-down feeling.

Her doctor says, "cheer up, you have dyspepsia; you'll be all right soon." But she doesn't get "all right." She grows worse day by day, till all at once she realizes that a distressing female complaint is established.

Her doctor has made a mistake. She has lost faith in him; hope vanishes; then comes the brooding, morbid, melancholy, overlasting blues. Her doctor, if he knew, should have told her and cured her, but he did not, and she was allowed to suffer.

A Southern Pacific Vessel Wrecked With Loss of Life.

The Southern Pacific Railroad's steamer San Benito, which left Tacoma for San Francisco with a coal cargo of 5000 tons and a crew of forty-three men, was driven ashore two miles north of Point Arena, California, in a heavy gale.

Five of the crew were drowned and ten others picked up by the steamer Point Arena. The Captain and twenty-seven men were left clinging to the rigging, with slight hopes of their being saved. The vessel will be a total loss.

The steamer San Benito encountered a heavy southeast gale with a driving rain when off Point Arena and it is supposed that Captain Sanchez lost his bearings owing to the thick weather. When the vessel struck an effort was made to launch the boats. The first one, containing First Engineer Scott and his companions, was launched, but was unable to get away.

THIRTEEN HUNDRED ILL. Weyler's March Through Pinar del Rio Attended With Murders.

It is currently admitted that Captain-General Weyler of Cuba has failed in his campaign against the Cuban insurgent leader, Maceo. Though no accurate data are obtainable as to the latter's movements, all reports agree that Weyler's soldiers have been sent to Cabaiguana, Ill. Most of General Weyler's staff are ill, and are returning to Havana. He also is falling back, and will establish headquarters near Artemisa, at the state capital, which he claims is a better base of operations.

The Spaniards in Havana are indignant at Weyler's inability to crush the insurrection in Pinar del Rio, and mutterings are heard. All are dependent in Havana and consider the outlook gloomy. At the meeting to take part in the popular loan of Spanish gold was shown. All held back, and only through the pressure of the civil governor, who was present, $50,000 was raised as a free gift to Spain.

SEATTLE, Wash. (Special).—The late storm which swept Northwest Washington and British Columbia for forty-eight hours was the most severe in the history of the country. It is estimated that the damage to railroads was $1,000,000, and the loss to private property will be fully as great.

The Northern Pacific railroad express encountered a huge landslide near Boston, on the steep slope of the Cascade, and returned to Tacoma. A few miles beyond Eaton the Yakima River bridge was washed away.
