Fairport is having a plenty to engage public interest this spring. The village election is no more than over than we give consideration to the High school project. Certainly things do move.

Invitations have been issued by Mrs. R. Sarachen, of 3 Lake View Park, Rochester, for the marriage of her niece, Miss Rose Sklof, to Robert Sayles, of Fairport, on Sunday afternoon, March 25, at 5 o'clock, with reception at 8 o'clock.

We received last week from Macedonia a letter giving several news items from West Walworth, but as no name was signed to the communication, it had to go into the waste basket. We are always glad to get news from all around, but we must know who sends it in.

Several Fairport people are prize winners in a contest recently conducted by one of the Rochester papers, Mrs. Josephine Thayer winning $75.00, Russell Sickels and A. E. Allison each $5.00, and smaller amounts going to H. M. Bentley and Howard Arnold.

To some who contributed to the box of 100 books sent by the W. C. T. U. to the Caney Creek Community Center at Pippa Pass, Ky., recently, it was a disappointment that the boys failed to appear last Friday at the Fairport High school. But visitors as well as the pupils enjoyed the live singing of the assembled school.

Thelma Juanita Aldrich, daughter of Mrs. Bessie Aldrich and the late Bacon Aldrich, formerly of Conquest, N. Y. died Friday at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Moore, of 64 East Church street. Funeral services were held at Nye's funeral parlor in Rochester Monday and the remains were taken to Conquest for interment.

The next dinner under the auspices of the Fairport Community League will be given in the Congregational church next Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. The speaker will be William F. C. Nelson, who is taking a theological course in the University of Rochester, and is acting as assistant pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church of Rochester. Mr. Nelson has spoken before the Rochester Ad club and other organizations, and is said by Fairport people who have heard him to be a very interesting and entertaining speaker. The dinner is open to both men and women, and it is hoped there will be at least 200 who will be in attendance.

Little Herald classified ads work veritable wonders. Scarcely a week passes but some patron calls our attention to the very satisfactory return from a little want or for sale ad, but here is one that is somewhat out of the ordinary. Mrs. Clarence Kleinhenz found a child's ring in the snow early in January and advertised it in the Herald. Soon she received an inquiry from a Herald subscriber at Indianapolis, and the result was that the ring was positively identified as one that had been presented as a gift to a child of the Indianapolis family, who were spending the holidays here, and the gift was returned to the lady, who was made very happy in again having it in her possession. The happy little girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Carner.

Page seven of today's Herald has an interesting announcement.

Eleventh hour statements featured the village election yesterday.

Mrs. Wayland Hare is confined to her home in East Church street by reason of a broken limb received in a fall on the ice.

C. L. S. C. will meet Monday with Mrs. E. H. Gazley, 147 South Main street. Roll call, quotations from George Elliott.

The children of the primary department of the First Methodist Sunday school are to have a party in the primary rooms on Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

Brooks-Shepard Post of the American Legion will have a special meeting tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. A county officer will be present and give an address.

A straw vote was taken in the south side school yesterday, all above the third grade, on village president and the water question, with the following results: Tinney, 358, Bridges 145, Adams 76. For Ontario water, 313; against, 256.

Among the donors of windows in the Lutheran church was A. W. Fett, not Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Fett, as appears in the article on the sixth page, through an error, as Mr. Fett is not a married man.

Mrs. Henry Grawbarger is in the Homeopathic hospital, suffering from an injury to her back received in a fall on the ice one day last week. It is believed no bones were broken, but she received a severe shaking up, and all her friends are hoping for a speedy recovery.

The very best pictures of the season are being shown at the Rivoli theater, some being presented here even before shown in the leading theaters of Rochester. "The Pride of Palomar," which played here three weeks ago, is being advertised by the Eastman for next week.

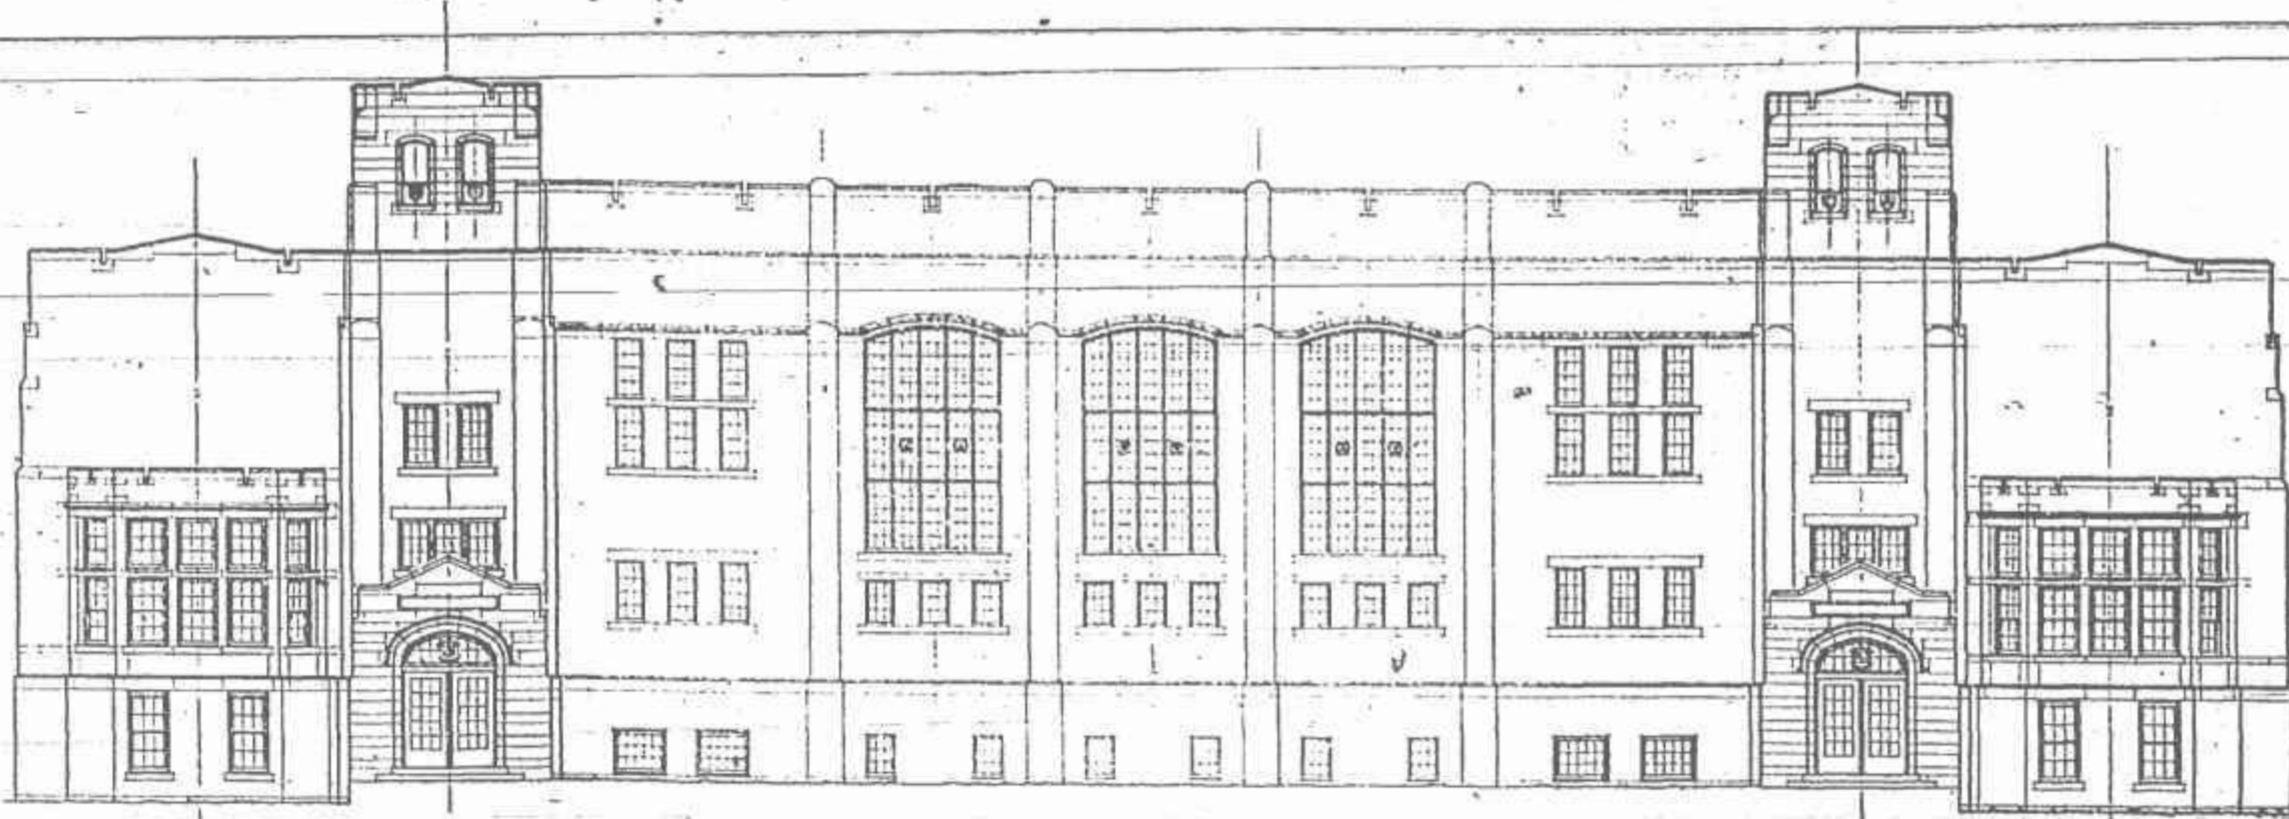

Mr. and Mrs. George Ostrander, of Clifton Springs, have rented the S. J. Robbins place in West street, and will move here the first of April, when Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Baker move into the Blythe house, which they have purchased. Mrs. Ostrander was formerly Miss May Newman of Fairport.

Fairport grange will meet Saturday evening, March 17. A St. Patrick's frolic will follow the business meeting. Each member be prepared to answer roll call with an Irish story or joke. Refreshments will be served. Members are requested to bring fried cakes. All members try to be there, as a good time is in store for them.

Announcement has been made that Artisan Lodge, F. & A. M., of Amsterdam, will celebrate the 100th anniversary of its formation tomorrow, with an address at 9:30 in the evening by the grand master, Judge Tompkins, of Nyack, and by Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy. The address will be broadcasted by the General Electric Co., WGY, and Masonic radio fans will be interested in picking up the addresses.

Attorney Ednor A. Marsh, of Rochester, a past district deputy grand master of the 33rd district, was the guest of honor at the meeting of Fairport Lodge, No. 476, F. & A. M., Monday evening, and gave a stirring address on Masonry. It was announced that at the next communication, March 26, the third degree will be conferred by the Fellowcraft team of Frank L. Shines Lodge, of Rochester, all of whom are former service men. The visitors will be entertained at dinner by the Fairport Lodge, and a large attendance is anticipated.

H. Claude Hardy, superintendent of schools, and all his co-workers, as well as students and their friends, are much gratified that the best record ever obtained by the local school was made in examinations held for the first term's work this year, according to advices received from the Department of Education at Albany. There were 434 papers written, of which the local schools claimed 391, the balance being written by pupils from outside schools. Of the 391 papers sent to Albany 389 were accepted by the department, giving the school a record of over 99 per cent. The two papers returned, it is stated by Superintendent Hardy, may yet be accepted, as there was a misunderstanding as to time requirements, and this would give Fairport schools a perfect record. The highest percentage ever obtained here previous to this was 94 per cent.

FRONT ELEVATION OF FAIRPORT'S PROPOSED NEW HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING IN WEST AVENUE.

As will be noted by the official call in another column, the people of Fairport will vote April 9 on building a new High school building in West avenue and making an appropriation of $375,000 to cover it and changes in the old building and providing temporary quarters for grades during construction. It is planned to demolish the old Schummers house, as the cost of moving it to another site, nearly $7,000, is considered prohibitive.

It is planned to build a new High school on the north end of the present school property fronting on West avenue. The building will be of fire proof construction, with reinforced concrete floors and hollow tile walls faced with brick. It will be 166 feet front by 135 feet deep. The class rooms grouped on an H shaped corridor will all be furnished with east or west light as required by the State Department of Education.

The first story contains offices for the Superintendent of Schools, Principal and general administration, library, eight rooms with wardrobes for the seventh and eighth grades, toilet rooms and two rest rooms with toilet and individual wardrobes for men and women teachers. The men's room will be used as a meeting place for the school board. Fire and smoke proof stairways lead to basement and second floor.

The auditorium with graded floor squares out the front of the plan, making it compact and economical. A stage 32 feet wide by 20 feet deep will be adequate for amateur productions. More and more are school buildings being used by the community and this auditorium will supply a much needed meeting place for large public gatherings, seating as it will about 725. Entrance is gained from the first story corridor, the balcony opening off the corridor above. The projection booth for the stereopticon will be designed in such a manner that a motion picture machine can be installed at any time if desired.

The high school will occupy the second story containing the following rooms: Two study rooms, four home rooms where pupils will report and also recite, two smaller rooms for recitation purposes only, a drawing room and a group of 3 rooms for instruction in the sciences. A laboratory with tables equipped with a sink and water, gas, and electricity and cupboards and drawers for apparatus will provide for individual experimentation in chemistry and physics.

Another room properly equipped will house the biology department. There will be a lecture room for recitations and demonstrations by the instructor. Fume hoods, cupboards, apparatus rooms and a small photographic dark room completes the science group.

A small room in a quiet and isolated location on the second floor will be used as a clinic and hospital. Here a pupil taken ill can be immediately treated and under observation. This will help to obviate the danger of an epidemic by contagion. The necessary toilets are placed over those on the first floor, thereby concentrating the plumbing.

In the basement there will be provided rooms for commercial courses, manual training, and home making, a large lunch room and cafeteria connected with which will be a kitchen where cooking may be taught. Between the two wings projecting in the rear of this H shaped plan will be a gymnasium. Located in a court as it is with walls constructed on three sides, it is only necessary to excavate four feet deeper, build a wall on one end, to floor and roof it, thus making the entire cost of the gymnasium with its 40 by 70 foot floor very slight. At the side of the floor and under the wings of the building will be seating for 480 spectators at basket ball games. Stairways connect this space with the first story corridors and also with the entrances on the rear so that in the evening, the remainder of the building may be entirely cut off if desired during games. Opening directly off the gym are rooms for the physical instructors with a small examination room between. Locker, shower and toilet rooms for both boys and girls and two small locker rooms for visiting teams complete the physical training system. The head of the Department of Physical Education at Albany has approved this arrangement.

Beside auditorium and gymnasium, the building will contain 30 rooms, thereby furnishing facilities for a broader course of instruction than is now provided.

The exterior of the school will be Gothic in style. The two towers on the front besides adding greatly to the attractiveness serve the very practical purpose of admitting fresh air which is drawn down to the basement by fans where it is heated and forced to the various rooms.

The plans prepared in the office of O. W. Dryer, architect, of Rochester, have been approved at Albany and are fast nearing completion.

Fairport's annual charter election, held yesterday was easily the most interesting ever held in the history of the village. The complete vote is given above. A total of 1117 persons voted, including a large number of women. It was past 1:30 this morning when the entire vote had been counted and all the ballots were known.

Greatest interest centered in the water question and the village presidency. After the result on the head of the ticket became known, a huge bouquet of flowers was presented to Mr. Tinney by friends, and later in the evening some of the more enthusiastic obtained tin pans and held an impromptu celebration. The entire election passed off without unusual incident. No voter was challenged. About 6 per cent of the ballots were spoiled by defacing or wrongly marking or writing on them and had to be thrown out.

The voting began at noon, and kept up briskly all the afternoon, sometimes a line extending to the sidewalk outside being in waiting. The board of village trustees had charge of the voting, and each taxpayer was handed four separate ballots, one containing the names of candidates, and each of the other three containing the propositions. Voters not taxpayers were handed the officers' ballot only. There were five booths to which voters could go to mark their ballots, and the voting averaged about 100 per hour. Some people, especially women, did not vote after having stood in line for a long time, and left the polling place. Automobiles were busy all afternoon carrying voters to the polls.

When 7 o'clock arrived there was a line of nearly 200 people waiting to vote, and it was past 8 o'clock when the last ballots were cast. At that time the ballot boxes were sealed and Trustees Crouch and French were left in charge, while President Tinney, Trustee Arms and Clerk Howard went to the hall above, where the annual appropriations were all voted, as recommended by the board, though it will not be necessary to include in the tax levy $4,000 of the total amount for this reason. T. J. Bridges introduced a resolution that $4,000 of the general fund be transferred to the following funds: Highway, $2,000.00; police $1,000.00, fire $500.00; sewer $500.00. This resolution was adopted unanimously. This leaves around $8000.00 in the general fund, which is believed to be ample, and in the course of the year there will come into the fund from two to three thousand dollars from the county treasury arising from mortgage, bank, income and other taxes. The appropriations appear in the fourth column.
