

FORTY IS DEATH TOLL OF STORM

Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama Suffered Most.

PROPERTY LOSS $2,000,000.

Shiloh Battlefield Was Center of Devastated District, Its Villages Having the Largest Number Killed—One Town is Completely Off the Map, Hurricane and Then Fire Sweeping Through It—Crops in Southern States Are Demolished.

New Orleans, Oct. 15.—Forty persons, possibly more, were killed in the storm that swept from central Alabama through Georgia and into central Tennessee. The death center is over Shiloh battlefield, in southern Tennessee, where in the villages of Denmark, Whitwell and Pittsburg Landing the death toll is known to be twenty-four, and partially verified reports declare that at least another score of persons were killed in country districts in that vicinity.

The little city of Denmark, Madison county, Tenn., was completely blown from the map. The storm passed quickly, and then the ruins of the town caught fire. The flames completed the work of destruction. The neighboring towns of Buford Station, Whitwell (a factory town), Mulberry, Wartace, Dyersburg and Mercer also suffered from the same gale, but the death toll in these villages was not so heavy.

Property Loss is Two Million. The total damage from the gale in the three states of Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama will be nearly $2,000,000. This property loss is in ruined crops and demolished towns. The storm had its origin in central Alabama. It swept through Georgia, doing much property damage around Atlanta, then passed into Tennessee, where it spread death through a half score villages. Telegraph and telephone wires are down, and communication with the stricken districts is possible only by the most roundabout routes. The storm was peculiar in the history of southern weather. It seemed half hurricane and half tornado.

Japan's Doctors May Not Advertise. Washington, Oct. 15.—According to the revised law in Japan, physicians are not allowed to advertise their ability, method of treatment or previous career.

TRADE ACTIVITY WIDENING.

Dun's Review Says Higher Rates For Money is Good Sign.

New York, Oct. 15.—Dun's review of trade today will say: Higher rates for money, while they are an occasion of some hesitation in speculative margins, are nevertheless a natural consequence of the widening industrial and mercantile activity and the movement of the crops. The cold weather, while inflicting further damage on the already reduced cotton crop, is, on the other hand, quickening the distribution of fall merchandise. The reports from the iron and steel trade maintain their buoyant character. The quickened movement in dry goods is maintained in spite of the higher prices of raw materials. Reports of railroad earnings in the first week of October show remarkable gains of 12.2 per cent over 1908 and 8.2 per cent over 1907.

FELL TO EARTH IN AIRSHIP.

Wain Biplane is Wrecked, and Pilot Ricket Has Broken Leg.

Paris, Oct. 15.—A Voisin biplane, which was being piloted by M. Ricket at Juvisy, turned over completely while in the air and crashed to the ground. The machine was wrecked, and Ricket sustained a broken leg. He was also badly bruised, and his condition is serious.

The biplane belonged to the National Aerial League, of whose school of pilots Ricket is director, having succeeded Captain Ferrer, who was killed recently while testing an aeroplane. Before making the ascent Ricket placed an extra large reservoir in the machine, intending to take a long flight. He also removed the vertical divisions between the planes, thus spoiling the machine's equilibrium.

LAKE LAUNCH BELIEVED LOST

Caught in Storm and Last Seen Laboring in Narrows and Out of Course. St. Paul, Oct. 15.—The launch Sarah L. left days out of Walker, Minn., is believed to have gone down with all on board on Leech lake in a storm. A government boat has been sent out to look for dead bodies. The Sarah L. was last seen laboring in the narrows and out of its course. It had on board Miss Maud Morical of Walker, Mrs. Patrick Kennedy and her daughter Stella, Mrs. Karl Manley and twenty-four Indians.

No Hitch in Johnson-Ketchel Fight. San Francisco, Oct. 15.—There is no hitch in the Johnson-Ketchel championship fight to take place this afternoon, according to information from both camps, and the battle will take place. There had been an earlier report of a misunderstanding over a $10,000 side bet.

Died of Laziness Disease. Jeffersonville, Ind., Oct. 15.—Willard Todd, a wealthy farmer, died of a peculiar disease. It attacked him in the form of sluggishness and could not be combated, though he suffered no pain.

F. G. Fritz, Oneonta, N. Y., writes: "My little girl was greatly benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble." Foley's Orino Laxative is mild, pleasant and effective, and cures habitual constipation. W. H. Rose.

HANDS ACROSS THE BORDER.

All Ready For Meeting Between Presidents Taft and Diaz.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 15.—Preliminary to the meeting today between President Taft and Diaz on the border here, President Diaz has arrived at Juarez. Governor Campbell of Texas, with staff and other state officials, has arrived. President Diaz remains in Juarez and will not cross to El Paso until the hour when he pays his formal call on President Taft.

There was record breaking time made in moving the Texas cavalry, Ninth infantry and three batteries of artillery from San Antonio to El Paso. The troops made the trip in nineteen hours, or five hours less than the time of the Sunset limited passenger train, for the distance of 625 miles. The troops will police El Paso during the meeting of the presidents.

McCARREN IN CHEERY MOOD.

Jokes With Doctor, Though Critically Ill, and Fighting Hard. New York, Oct. 15.—The condition of Patrick H. McCarren is hopeful, according to a statement by Dr. Peter Hughes. When the physician entered McCarren's room he said jocularly to the senator. "You are looking good."

SENATOR PATRICK MCCARREN. (A characteristic photograph and one of the latest taken of the New York state politician.)

but McCarren smiled feebly and replied, "You can't kid me. I never was good looking." The physician in return said, "You never were very bad looking," and then the senator quoted that old adage, "Handsome is as handsome does," and sank back upon his pillow. The physician met a group of politicians inquiring about the senator's condition and said, "Mr. McCarren is putting up a bully fight."

Both Boys Saved.

Louis Boon, a leading merchant of Norway, Mich., writes: "Three bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar absolutely cured my boy of a severe cough, and a neighbor's boy, who was so ill with a cold that the doctors gave him up, was cured by taking Foley's Honey and Tar." Nothing else is so safe and certain in results. W. H. Rose.

Dr. Deane, who is the descendant of Thomas Nelson, Jr., one of the signers, will have charge of the religious services, which will be held tomorrow in the famous Colonial church at Yorktown. Monday will be set aside as Thomas Nelson Day, the chief feature of which will be a reunion of the Nelson family. An interesting program has been arranged for this occasion.

Tuesday will be devoted to appropriate exercises in celebration of the great event of 1781—the ending of the war for American independence.

Bell, Wausau, Wis., writes: "Before I commenced to take Foley's Kidney Pills I had severe pains in my back, could not sleep, and was greatly troubled with headache. TAFT AND DIAZ MEET AT EL PASO

Extra Police Protection for the Two Executives.

INCIDENT FIRST ON RECORD

Never Before Have the Presidents of United States and Mexico Met While Both Were in Office—Taft Banquet in Mexican City of Juarez and Also a Guest of Ohio Society in El Paso—Will Visit Golf Grounds.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 15.—Custom rules and regulations were almost nullified and the usual respectability of the United States and Mexico vanished before the enthusiastic hosts which crossed and recrossed the Rio Grande today in the wake of the chief executives of the neighboring nations. Gringo and Mexican mingled amicably and all was merry as a wedding bell announcing the marriage of once warring people. Even the Sons and Daughters of the Texas Republic forgo San Antonio and the Alamo long enough to pay roving tribute to the gray and grizzled chief magistrate of Mexico.

Long before the arrival of Mr. William Howard Taft and Sen. Francisco Diaz, an unprecedented crowd had gathered in El Paso and Ciudad Juarez. They emptied from the incoming trains like swarming locusts and filled the streets, hotels and places of public resort. Swart and swart, proud and haughty Spaniards, cowboys in regulation attire and plain citizens in store clothes rubbed elbows with dark-eyed Senoritas and Texas belles in the gaily decorated saloons and on all sides floated the Stars and Stripes and the brilliant banner of Mexico.

The arrival of President Taft's train was the signal for an ovation that lasted for several minutes. A welcome which sprang in an increasing volume of sound all over the city. President Diaz was greeted in a manner no less hearty. Bands crashed in noisy salute and the players were able and then to make themselves heard above the glad acclaim of the populace. Troops saluted their commander in chief, and thousands of children joined in singing the national anthems of the two republics.

After the separate receptions at El Paso and Juarez, President Diaz crossed the bridge to pay the first call upon President Taft. As the two chief executives clasped hands for the first time, the people almost went mad with the excitement of the occasion. It was an historic moment when the aged but soldierly chief magistrate of the Mexicans gave his hand into the hearty clasp of the portly representative of Uncle Sam.

It was the first time in the history of the United States and of Mexico that the Presidents of the two republics have exchanged greetings while in office. After the formal greeting President Taft was host to President Diaz and to the federal, State and municipal officers who accompanied him at a banquet in the Chamber of Commerce building.

The President and other distinguished guests viewed a gorgeous pageant which passed the reviewing stand at 12 o'clock. Bands and military of both republics were at the head of the parade, and these were followed by civic and fraternal organizations of both El Paso and Juarez and by thousands of school children from the two cities.

Prominent in the line of parades was the Ohio Society of El Paso, with its membership of 300, the members of which wore buckeyes, as did President Taft.

After the parade has passed, President Taft and his party will board the palatial train of President Diaz and will go to Mexico with him. In Juarez President Taft, his Cabinet officers and the others of his party as well as the city officials of El Paso will be guests at a banquet tendered by President Diaz.

From the Juarez banquet hall, President Taft will be escorted to the Chamber of Commerce building in El Paso, where he will be tendered a reception by the Ohio Society.

From the Chamber of Commerce he will be given a five-mile ride in an automobile over paved and macadam streets and roads to the El Paso Country Club.

In the golf courses the President will find something unusual at El Paso. Instead of plodding over a green course the President will "hike" over gravel dotted grasswood.

es. H. Haynes, six feet three and a half inches, C. R. Fillman, six feet four inches, and R. B. Parsons, six feet five inches. Their bulk is in proportion to their height. The four are quiet, unassuming, modest always to be met upon when needed. R. B. Parsons, the tallest, has had experience in guarding presidents as he was with Sherman, Texas, in 1895.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Washingtonians are greatly interested in today's meeting between Taft and Diaz partly for the reason that it is the first time such a meeting has ever reached a serious stage, although repeatedly proposed during recent years. President Roosevelt would have arranged such a meeting during his last trip to Mexico, but it was cancelled by the fact that President Diaz, who is now seventy-nine years old, was too ill to undertake a journey to the frontier.

Theoretically no President of the United States can leave the territory of the United States while President. The President of Mexico actually cannot do so without a permission from the Mexican Congress. President Cleveland was alleged to have left the confines of the United States on several duck-hunting and pleasure trips along the coast, but he never ventured beyond the three-mile limit unless necessary to the safe navigation of his nations. President Roosevelt made two trips beyond the territorial limits of the United States, once when he sailed from New Orleans around the Florida keys, and again when he went to Panama last year and attended a reception on the soil of Panama. Except for this reception, which lasted three hours, he was always under the flag of the United States in his journeys.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 15.—San Antonio is already blossoming out in gay colors in anticipation of the arrival of President Taft tomorrow evening. He is due at the Alamo City at 7:30 p. m. and will remain here until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, when he will leave for Corpus Christi to spend four days at his brother's ranch. During his stay here, the president will have a luncheon at the Alamo and Confederate veterans who will act as an escort, heading all parades. From the time of his arrival until his departure there will be almost continuous music. On the night of his arrival the Third Field Artillery Band will give a concert in front of the hotel where Mr. Taft will stay. The next morning, when he reviews the troops at Fort Sam Houston, three military bands will be in line. When he goes to the chapel exercises there will be music and when he attends a reception a military band will also be on hand. Bands will accompany the President to the city before he delivers his address at the Alamo Plaza, and when he returns to his hotel a two-hour program will be given.

Many ills come from impure blood. Can't have pure blood with faulty action. Liver, bowels and sluggish bowels. Burdock Blood Bitters strengthens stomach, bowels and liver, and purifies the blood.

DINNER FOR PENROSE.

Philadelphia, Oct. 15.—Senator Penrose and all the Philadelphia Congressmen will be the honored guests at a dinner to be given this evening by the hostery manufacturers and operators. The feast will be in recognition of the services of the Solons in obtaining a low tariff on socks, stockings and other products of the textile industry, and they will be represented among the manufacturers of such merchandise.

The workers joined with their employers in the demand for a higher tariff on hosiery, and they will be represented at a banquet at the "full dinner-pail" feed. The industry has been in a stagnant condition for the last year or two with the result that many men and women have been jobless.

BURTON SAILS FOR HOME.

London, Oct. 15.—Senator Burton, chairman of the Waterways Commission which has been investigating the canals and rivers of Europe sailed for New York today. Before leaving London, he stated that the members of the commission had everywhere received the warmest welcome and every possible help. Germany placed at the disposal of the commission on the trip from Mainz to Dusseldorf a large boat which flew the American flag.

The members of the commission while in England devoted their time to the special study of the Manchester ship canal and the Liverpool harbor. Meetings were held daily. The greatest assistance had been given by the Royal Society of Waterways, which recently became interested in similar work.

Senator Burton says that on the arrival of the commissioners in America a trip will be made over the tributaries of the Mississippi. A full report of the work of the commission is not likely to be issued until January.

EXPOSITION CLOSES.

Seattle, Oct. 15.—With the celebration of Bryan Day, which attracted the admirers of the Nebraska from all over the Northwest, the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition comes to a close today.

While official figures are not yet available, it is confidently expected that the report of the treasurer will show that the exposition has come much nearer to paying expenses than any of its kind ever held.

The big show was fully completed on schedule time and has been liberally patronized.
