TRENDS OF THE WEEK.

The Herald notes on its front page a pronouncement that the public is given to the idea that the use of such a machine as the electric light plant is for the exclusive benefit of certain individuals. The newspaper, which is the official organ of the town, has been frequently called to the attention of the town by the people in support of this idea. It is the people who support the Herald, and none others, who are supposed to regard its circulation as a public duty. The Herald has not the right to publish any statement that it is the only organ of the town that has been in existence for over one hundred years.

The Herald has been in existence for over one hundred years, and its circulation has been the subject of much discussion. The newspaper has been frequently called to the attention of the town by the people in support of this idea. It is the people who support the Herald, and none others, who are supposed to regard its circulation as a public duty. The Herald has not the right to publish any statement that it is the only organ of the town that has been in existence for over one hundred years.

The Herald has been in existence for over one hundred years, and its circulation has been the subject of much discussion. The newspaper has been frequently called to the attention of the town by the people in support of this idea. It is the people who support the Herald, and none others, who are supposed to regard its circulation as a public duty. The Herald has not the right to publish any statement that it is the only organ of the town that has been in existence for over one hundred years.

The Herald has been in existence for over one hundred years, and its circulation has been the subject of much discussion. The newspaper has been frequently called to the attention of the town by the people in support of this idea. It is the people who support the Herald, and none others, who are supposed to regard its circulation as a public duty. The Herald has not the right to publish any statement that it is the only organ of the town that has been in existence for over one hundred years.

The Herald has been in existence for over one hundred years, and its circulation has been the subject of much discussion. The newspaper has been frequently called to the attention of the town by the people in support of this idea. It is the people who support the Herald, and none others, who are supposed to regard its circulation as a public duty. The Herald has not the right to publish any statement that it is the only organ of the town that has been in existence for over one hundred years.

The Herald has been in existence for over one hundred years, and its circulation has been the subject of much discussion. The newspaper has been frequently called to the attention of the town by the people in support of this idea. It is the people who support the Herald, and none others, who are supposed to regard its circulation as a public duty. The Herald has not the right to publish any statement that it is the only organ of the town that has been in existence for over one hundred years.

The Herald has been in existence for over one hundred years, and its circulation has been the subject of much discussion. The newspaper has been frequently called to the attention of the town by the people in support of this idea. It is the people who support the Herald, and none others, who are supposed to regard its circulation as a public duty. The Herald has not the right to publish any statement that it is the only organ of the town that has been in existence for over one hundred years.

The Herald has been in existence for over one hundred years, and its circulation has been the subject of much discussion. The newspaper has been frequently called to the attention of the town by the people in support of this idea. It is the people who support the Herald, and none others, who are supposed to regard its circulation as a public duty. The Herald has not the right to publish any statement that it is the only organ of the town that has been in existence for over one hundred years.

The Herald has been in existence for over one hundred years, and its circulation has been the subject of much discussion. The newspaper has been frequently called to the attention of the town by the people in support of this idea. It is the people who support the Herald, and none others, who are supposed to regard its circulation as a public duty. The Herald has not the right to publish any statement that it is the only organ of the town that has been in existence for over one hundred years.

The Herald has been in existence for over one hundred years, and its circulation has been the subject of much discussion. The newspaper has been frequently called to the attention of the town by the people in support of this idea. It is the people who support the Herald, and none others, who are supposed to regard its circulation as a public duty. The Herald has not the right to publish any statement that it is the only organ of the town that has been in existence for over one hundred years.

The Herald has been in existence for over one hundred years, and its circulation has been the subject of much discussion. The newspaper has been frequently called to the attention of the town by the people in support of this idea. It is the people who support the Herald, and none others, who are supposed to regard its circulation as a public duty. The Herald has not the right to publish any statement that it is the only organ of the town that has been in existence for over one hundred years.

The Herald has been in existence for over one hundred years, and its circulation has been the subject of much discussion. The newspaper has been frequently called to the attention of the town by the people in support of this idea. It is the people who support the Herald, and none others, who are supposed to regard its circulation as a public duty. The Herald has not the right to publish any statement that it is the only organ of the town that has been in existence for over one hundred years.

The Herald has been in existence for over one hundred years, and its circulation has been the subject of much discussion. The newspaper has been frequently called to the attention of the town by the people in support of this idea. It is the people who support the Herald, and none others, who are supposed to regard its circulation as a public duty. The Herald has not the right to publish any statement that it is the only organ of the town that has been in existence for over one hundred years.

The Herald has been in existence for over one hundred years, and its circulation has been the subject of much discussion. The newspaper has been frequently called to the attention of the town by the people in support of this idea. It is the people who support the Herald, and none others, who are supposed to regard its circulation as a public duty. The Herald has not the right to publish any statement that it is the only organ of the town that has been in existence for over one hundred years.