

GLYNN WINS DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION

Gerard the Candidate For Senate.

HENNESSY IS DEFEATED

His Attacks on Governor Were Not Heeded by Voters.

GERARD'S VICTORY WAS BIG

American Ambassador to Germany Decisively Defeated His Two Opponents, Roosevelt and McDonough, For the Senatorial Nomination.

PRIMARY RESULTS.

For Governor. Republican—Whitman, 111,522; Hinman, 49,601; Hedges, 42,673. Whitman's plurality, 61,921. Democratic—Glynn, 159,070; Hennessy, 63,272. Glynn's plurality, 95,855. Progressive—Davenport, 15,904; Sulzer, 13,707. Davenport's majority, 2,197. For Senator. Republican—Wadsworth, 76,822; Calder, 76,904; Hill, 51,921. Wadsworth's plurality, 288. Democratic—Gerard, 123,361; Roosevelt, 53,644; McDonough, 16,102. Gerard's plurality, 69,717. Progressive—Bainbridge Colby was unopposed for the Progressive senatorial nomination. These figures are the latest available and are almost complete, only a few election districts in different parts of the state being missing. The figures include the total vote of New York city. It is not thought that the missing districts will change any of the results.

New York, Sept. 30.—Martha H. Glynn decisively defeated his opponent, John A. Hennessy, for the Democratic nomination for governor of New York in the first election under the new direct primary law.

James V. Gerard, now ambassador to Germany, received the Democratic nomination for senator, overwhelming his two opponents, Franklin D. Roosevelt and James S. McDonough.

The returns were slow in coming in. This was due to the long and complicated ballot. The organization candidates were not designated on the ballot, there appearing nothing except the name and a number. There were many "keys" distributed at all polling places, however, and the numbers of the organization and anti-organization candidates were given on cards and circulars.

Governor Glynn's plurality may reach 125,000. His vote in the entire state, with 1,013 districts missing, was 152,414.

For the Democratic nomination for senator the city vote complete and 1,831 up state districts gave Gerard 115,006 and Roosevelt 47,741. Nothing like complete returns on nominees for the other seven state offices and fifteen Democratic delegates at large to the constitutional convention have been received. It may be a day or two before the figures are available.

ORGANIZATIONS WIN.

Division of the Opposition Helps Out Regular Candidates.

New York, Sept. 30.—Hard fights to assembly nominations in both the Democratic and Republican parties were made in nearly every district in the state. Division of the opposition vote by several candidates in many of the districts saved the organization candidates from defeat.

Alfred E. Smith, Tammany leader in the assembly and formerly speaker, is renominated at the head of the New York city delegation. Harold J. Hinman, majority leader in the last session, is renominated in Albany. In the Sixth district, represented by William Sulzer, the contest was close between S. Ullman and I. Apfel. The Tammany candidates in New York and Brooklyn won in most contests. In Erie county several of the contests were in doubt.

Candidates for the nominations for the state senate who had the backing of the organization appear to have won their contests in every one of the fifty-one districts. Compilation of the ballots was slow, but the returns so far received in New York city and from up state appear to indicate that the regular have made a clean sweep.

Many of the old Tammany leaders of the senate will go to the polls in November. Robert F. Wagner, lieutenant governor and formerly majority leader, is again a nominee. J. J. Joseph is the nominee for the Twentieth district in place of James J. Frawley. James A. Foley, often called Charles F. Murphy's senator, won easily. J. J. Walker is named from the Thirteenth district. Senators Herrick and Pollock were running ahead in their contests. Senator John Murtagh was not a candidate, and R. D. Rush will make the fight in the Forty-first district.

In the Republican contests the results appear to have been closer. Senator Elton R. Brown led the fight in Jefferson against a strong opposition and appears to have won. In the event of the Republicans winning the senate it is expected Senator Brown may be the majority leader. M. S. Halliday succeeds Senator Ormrod for the nomination in the Forty-sixth district. Senator Seth G. Heacock retired from the senatorial contest when he became a candidate for lieutenant governor, and in the contest to succeed him F. W. Christman and W. E. Collins were running close.

WHITMAN IS NOMINATED BY G. O. P.

Wadsworth Senatorial Nominee.

THIS RACE WAS CLOSE

For Governor Hinman Ran Second on Ticket.

HEDGES FINISHED THIRD.

Up State Strength Displayed by Wadsworth Was Enough to Overcome Calder's Strength in New York City Primary.

New York, Sept. 30.—Charles S. Whitman won a decisive victory over his opponents, Harvey D. Hinman and Job E. Hedges in the Republican primaries and was nominated for governor by a 56 margin.

New York city, virtually complete, and 2,499 of the 3,173 districts up the state, gave Whitman 103,733, Hinman 33,878 and Hedges 38,448 for the Republican nomination for governor.

The vote for the Republican nomination for senator in the city complete and 2,432 up state districts was Wadsworth 71,443, Calder 73,551 and Hill 25,921.

The enrolled vote of the state totaled 1,226,084, divided between all parties as follows: Republican, 522,050; Democratic, 632,015; Progressive, 111,551; Prohibitionist and Socialist, 60,908.

The Republican vote was distributed between the greater city and up state districts as follows: City, 137,071; up state, 345,979.

The Democrats enrolled 349,590 votes in the city and 282,415 up state. Of the Progressives 43,048 were enrolled in the city and 66,303 up state.

It was apparent from the first returns received from the 4,342 election districts of the state that the percentage of votes cast would be small. Supplemental reports confirmed the indications that less than 50 per cent or not more than 600,000 of the enrolled voters had taken advantage of the opportunity afforded by the new law to express directly their preferences for the men they want to run for office.

The Republican candidates for delegate at large for the constitutional convention, headed by United States Senator Elihu J. Root, were nominated without opposition. It is generally believed that the organization Democratic candidates also have been nominated. The Progressive candidates were unopposed.

Asks Gerard to Quit Murphy. New York, Sept. 30.—Franklin D. Roosevelt has sent the following cable message to the ambassador James V. Gerard, his successful opponent: "Heartly congratulations. Should abide result of primaries. In addition will make active campaign for you if you declare unalterable opposition to Murphy's leadership and all he stands for. Please answer." It is not believed Gerard will repudiate Murphy.

Impossible of Course. "Quick, quick, my dear; everybody else is in the lifeboat! The ship is sinking!" "Wait a moment. I cannot be seen like this. The lifebelt makes my coat pucker."—London Bystander.

DAVENPORT WINS IN A CLOSE RACE

Sulzer Defeated, but Made Good Show.

MOOSE FIGURES SLOW

Bainbridge Colby Was Unopposed Senatorial Candidate.

SULZER IS NOT SATISFIED.

Progressives Provided Closest Contest in First Direct Primary Ever Held in New York State. Many Names Made Count Slow.

New York, Sept. 30.—William Sulzer and Frederick M. Davenport, candidates for the Progressive nomination for governor, furnished one of the closest races in the election.

Returns available now indicate the nomination of Davenport by a small majority. Davenport's lead on the latest available figures is about 2,000. It may be smaller, and it is even possible that it may be wiped out, though the indications are that Davenport will have a lead on the final count.

It was pretty clearly established by the returns from one-half of the state that not only had the vote of the Progressive party sloughed off amazingly, but that former Governor William Sulzer had come perilously near annexing it to the Prohibition vote, which went solidly to him.

The enrollment of the Progressives was approximately 112,000. The returns, however, showed that not more than 25,000 votes had been cast throughout the state. These were divided on a basis of 55 and 45 per cent between Mr. Davenport, the regular candidate of the party leaders, including Colonel Roosevelt, and Mr. Sulzer, who sought to take the party machinery away from them and came pretty close to success.

Mr. Sulzer is not convinced that he has not done so, though the returns seemingly give Mr. Davenport a clear lead.

M'COMBS TO BE NEXT STATE CHAIRMAN

New York, Sept. 30.—Election officials everywhere reported that it was impossible to count the ballots with the celerity observable in the regular state elections. There were as many as seventy-five names on some of the ballots in districts where numerous members of the county committee were to be elected on account of the size of the party vote in those districts in the last general state election.

In the Republican and Progressive primaries fifteen candidates for delegates at large to the constitutional convention were nominated without opposition. In the Democratic primary there were two sets of candidates, one named by the organization, the other by the anti-Murphy group. The Democratic result may not be known for several days.

Now that the Democratic primaries are over and Martin H. Glynn has been chosen as the Democratic candidate for governor it can be stated that the new Democratic state committee selected at the primary election will name William F. McCombs as chairman to succeed William Church Osborn.

Mr. McCombs is chairman of the Democratic national committee and managed Woodrow Wilson's campaign for his nomination for president and his subsequent election. It is expected that, following Mr. McCombs' election as chairman, even if President Wilson does not come out affirmatively for the Glynn ticket, there will be no further "bushwacking" of the regular Democratic state ticket in New York on the part of federal officeholders.

Governor Glynn will follow up the election of Mr. McCombs as chairman by an announcement that Democratic leadership in this state must emanate from up state and that, while he is governor, should be re-elected, he proposes to be the party leader in New York state just as President Wilson has elected to be the Democratic leader in the nation while he is filling the office of president.

It is expected that Mr. Whitman will name his own chairman of the state committee. Theodore Douglas Robinson is slated for re-election by the Progressives.

A CHAIRMANSHIP PUZZLE.

Whitman Doesn't Know Who to Choose as State Leader.

New York, Sept. 30.—Charles S. Whitman finds himself in an embarrassing situation regarding the choice of a chairman for the new Republican state committee, which is to meet for organization at the Republican club at noon tomorrow.

The only avowed candidate is Ogden L. Mills, who was an ardent Hinman partisan and undoubtedly would be elected chairman if Hinman had won the primary. In the new committee of 150 men are many friendly to Mr. Mills. Among them are Herbert Parsons and County Chairman Koenig, to whom Mr. Whitman is indebted for good work in his campaign. The Barnes group and James W. Wadsworth, Jr., on the other hand, are against Mr. Mills.

Mr. Whitman, as is the custom with successful candidates, has the privilege of selecting the man he chooses for state chairman and the manager of the Republican campaign. His first choice was Fred Tanner, but Mr. Tanner has definitely withdrawn himself from consideration. As to Mr. Mills Mr. Whitman has expressed no opinion, but there is reason to believe that somebody else would be preferred. If the independents and the Barnes men can compromise on a chairman up state possibly Mr. Whitman will feel relieved.

A choice will probably be made tomorrow, as the law compels the state committee to elect its officers within ten days after the primary.

If Mr. Whitman should be elected governor and resign the district attorneyship Governor Glynn would have the appointment of his successor in the county office. But Mr. Whitman has no intention of resigning. If he becomes governor he will appoint a district attorney on Jan. 1 who will hold office until his successor is chosen at next year's general election.

MAKES PLEDGE.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30.—After studying the primary results, which indicated that he had defeated John A. Hennessy for the Democratic nomination by an overwhelming majority, Governor Glynn expressed his satisfaction at the opportunity the victory afforded him of representing the Democratic party in New York state while "President Wilson is restoring the best traditions of the party at Washington."

The governor pledged himself to carry out the reforms he has instituted and renewed his declaration of independence. He said he would be "governor in fact" if he were elected.

"The expression of confidence and approval with which the votes of the Democratic party have honored me," said the governor, "is at once a source of gratification and a reminder of the duties and responsibilities which such an expression imposes."

Hennessy to "Go It" Alone. New York, Sept. 30.—John A. Hennessy, defeated by Governor Glynn for the Democratic governorship nomination, intends not to abide by the decision of the primaries, but will run as an independent candidate. Although the fiery little foe of Boss Murphy has not yet officially announced his intention of going it alone, it is so stated from a credible source.

PURELY BASKET BALL

The Hopkins School team has laid out an open-air basket ball court on the grounds and are practicing daily in order to get in shape for the season. Joe Werner is fast getting his men in shape for the first game which will be staged in a couple of weeks.

A meeting of the vestry of the Episcopal Church will be held on October 7th and at this date the members will decide on the renting of the court at the Parish House for basket ball.

The High School team has been holding open-air practice now for about a month and the team is showing up well. Although a team requires much more endurance on an outside court than inside and the players have met with some pretty hard work it is generally believed that this sort of practice will prepare them better for the season than under any other conditions.

The management of the High School endeavored to schedule a game for this Saturday, but as we go to press nothing definite has resulted. However it is expected that the team will make its initial appearance on next Saturday.

The High School has lost one of its last year's varsity forwards, Gordon Bieson, who has discontinued his studies at the local institution. However there are two new men, Volpert and Wilson, who look good for the position.

LOST BOY

Missing from Lake Placid about the third of next month, a tall complexioned young man, about five feet six inches of age, height, thirty-seven years. Had on, when last seen a pair of swallow tail seal skin trousers with sausage stripes, fashionable mutton chop waistcoat with fast iron trimmings, double-barrel frock coat, striped collar and tobacco lining, water tight canvas boots with patent leather tops laced up the sole. Is deaf and dumb of one eye and hard of hearing with the other, is slightly stoop marked at the back of his head, pocks upright when he walks crooked, a slight impediment in his look and wears a Grecian bend on his upper lip, whiskers cut off short inside. Was carrying an empty carpet bag in each hand and a wooden bag in the other containing stamers, railroad tunnels and shoe lacing. Was born after his younger brother, his mother being present on the occasion. Anyone giving such information to above will leave same with DeRue
