Steelers-Eagles Open NFL Action Tonight

New York (AP)—There are six games on the National Football League's weekend schedule and by the time the final whistle blows tomorrow afternoon the Eastern Division should have an undisputed leader with only one undefeated team.

CALIF. JOCKEY NEW CHAMPION

Albany, Calif. (AP)—Soft-spoken Willie Shoemaker is the new world's champion jockey with his 392nd win of the year.

The Texas-born turf terror hit the winner's circle aboard The Hoop in the third race at Golden Gate Fields yesterday for the single victory he needed to better the 390-win mark made last year by Tony Despirito.

Spurred by the wild applause of 8,000 fans, Wee Willie came back in the eighth race with his 392nd winner, Carry Message.

Shoemaker, a 22-year-old from El Paso and Los Angeles, stands 4 feet 11 inches in his riding boots. He weighs 95½ pounds.

In Salem, N.H., Despirito wired Shoemaker "congratulations and lots of luck. I hope I'll have a chance to ride against you soon."

Are YOU a "Wise Guy" about Fires?

Here's how to tell: See if you can find any of these fire hazards in your home:

 Smoking in bed	 Frayed electric cords	 Matches near children
 "Junk" in cellar, attic or closets	 Overloaded electric outlets	 Ordinary extension cords on heaters, fans
 Chimney that sparks	 Flammable cleaning fluid	 Cigarette carelessness

If you find any of these fire hazards—and if you don't get rid of them at once—then you belong with the "wise guys". Because 9 out of 10 home fires are preventable—and these are the ways and places they start.

It may take trouble to go through a house from top to bottom, looking for and getting rid of fire hazards. But it's a lot more trouble to have a fire—even aside from the danger to human life and to pets.

So be fair to your family! Be fair to your neighbors! Be fair to yourself! Check your home for fire hazards today. No, don't put it off till tomorrow—then you would be a wise guy.

"Sparky" says:
Don't Give Fire a Place to Start!
...or the next house that burns may be your own!

And don't forget to help "Smokey," the Bear, prevent forest fires!
