FARMERS WARNED AGAINST "QUACK" REMEDIES

The Farm Bureau office has recently been in receipt of a number of inquiries regarding certain chemicals which are being offered for sale to farmers in Wyoming County. It is claimed by the representatives selling these chemicals that they will control all kinds of plant disease and insects, including blight, apple scab, potato blight and cherry magots. Investigation shows that this chemical is a form of carbon bisulphide which has been used to some extent during the past few years in the control of woodchucks. Farmers who have used this material in some cases report disastrous results, especially, where it was used for seed treatment.

The Farm Bureau is an organization to protect farmers against such "quack" remedies and members of the Farm Bureau should get in touch with Farm Bureau officials before investing in any of this material.

GUY WHEELER SHALLIES, 54, DIES AT HOME

HEAD OF ENGLISH DEPARTMENT 21 YEARS. NORMAL SCHOOL MOURNS. PROFESSOR SHALLIES KEENLY INTERESTED IN AIDING POOR STUDENTS TO GET EDUCATION.

(From Plattsburgh Daily Star June 18, 1926).

Guy Wheeler Shallies, head of the department of English at Plattsburgh State Normal School since 1905, died suddenly yesterday morning at his home, 186 Cornelia street. He had been ill several weeks, but the end came unexpectedly. He was 54 years old.

A short prayer service will be conducted at the house at 10 o'clock Saturday morning by the Rev. Ivanhoe McCullom. Burial in Kirkwood Missouri, Mrs. Shallies' former home. A sister, Miss Maude Shallies, is the only near relative surviving other than Mrs. Shallies.

Professor Guy Wheeler Shallies was born in Sandusky, New York. After attending the village school he entered the high school at Arcade, from which he was graduated, and then entered the State Normal School at Buffalo, completing the classical course.

The next four years were spent in the University of Chicago, from which he received an A. B. degree. After passing one year in the study of English at the Yale University graduate school he returned to the graduate school of the University of Chicago, from which he received the A. M. degree in Education.

Professor Shallies began his teaching in a country village school. From 1897-1904 he taught English and modern languages in preparatory schools in Missouri and Connecticut. In 1905 he came to the Plattsburgh State Normal School as head of the English department.

Hundreds of students became warm friends through his activities in their behalf. Many a girl and boy was aided in securing an education by his help in placing them where they could earn board and room.

Professor Shallies was greatly interested in nature and this interest was reflected in the care bestowed on the garden at his new home on Cornelia street. He was also very fond of antiques and his home is filled with choice pieces of furniture, rugs and china.

His death yesterday cast a shade of sorrow over commencement activities. On every hand students gathered to mourn his passing and many of them came to the house to offer their sympathies and tender their help.

Guy Wheeler Shallies In Holy Writ long ages ago it was said, "In the midst of life we are in death." True as these words have come to be regarded in these modern times their truth was realized with crushing force yesterday when it was learned that Guy W. Shallies had peacefully passed into the infinite. The Master Teacher had written "Finitis" to the volume of life. One who had been a true teacher all his days had passed through the Valley of Shadows and come into the light (Continued on page 4)

Installation of Troop No. 17 Boy Scouts of America was held Friday evening, June 17, at Kobble Kamp. The meeting was a father and son get-together meeting and the boys did the cooking and serving. After supper the Scouts led the way to a camp where they had prepared a pile ready to light. When the fathers and Scouts and Executive N. M. Miles and Commissioner Schneckenberger had gathered around the pile Scout Robert Kent lighted the fire with the use of only one match. Commissioner Schneckenberger then made a few very interesting remarks and presented the Scouts with their certificates and the committee with the Charter for the ensuing year. Executive N. M. Miles gave a very interesting and instructive talk, after which all joined in giving the Scout Oath and Law and Pledge to the Flag. Parents who are not familiar with the Scout movement and what it means to the boys should acquaint themselves with the valuable training which the boys receive in "scouting." The boys certainly have some very fine times and enjoyable events. More Holland news on page eight.
