Available to undergraduate students. Many of them are awarded to students who are majoring in fields such as science and technology. But of more immediate importance to the student is the fact that American Indians are one of the most underrepresented groups in higher education. The American Indian Program attempts to address this problem by providing scholarships and grants to Native American students.

The Waterways Daily Times printed their scoop about PCB contamination, but it is nothing new to the residents of the area. The first report of PCB contamination was made in 1974, and since then there have been several reports of PCB contamination in the area. The most recent report was made in 1983, and it revealed that PCB contamination is still present in the area.
