Hydrometer for Lime-Sulphur.

During recent years commercial preparations of the lime sulphur wash have been used quite extensively for spraying for certain insects and plant diseases. The proprietary mixtures, like the home prepared wash, are derived from lime and sulphur. The measure of value of lime-sulphur wash for the treatment of of insects is the soluble sulphur that it contains. Analysis of samples of different brands sold in the State of New York during 1909 show that the range in densities of the solutions that were examined was from 28.80 to 33.90 degrees Baume. It is evident that with the varying results in preparing lime-sulphur solutions by professional as well as amateur makers, some measure of strength and value must be found if the orchardist is to do uniform, accurate work in his spraying. Such a measure lies in the specific gravity of the concentrated mixtures.

THE HYDROMETER

Every fruit grower who is making his own solution will find a hydrometer with a scale of 0 to 30 Baume more suitable for his purposes. Other hydrometers are intended for use in testing commercial lime sulphur solutions

It was a red letter day for Rochester fandom, marking the opening of the Eastern League season at Rochester. A monster parade, led by the Fifty-fourth Regiment Band, with city officials, members of the press and of visiting teams being one of the chief attractions as it made its way from the Court House to the Base Ball park. The game however resulted in humiliation for the Rochester team by a score of 4 to 1.

The coming session will be the most important ever held because of the centennial celebration. Bishop Berry, while not having had so long an experience as Bishop Warren, is well informed on conference workings and will no doubt make a success of the Lyons sessions.

Large Barns Burned.

The large barns on the farm of Albert Spooner at Rochester Junction, formerly the Dr Otis place, were destroyed by fire on Tuesday night last. When discovered about 11.30, the fire had gained such headway that it was useless to attempt to save anything. In the underground stable were 19 head of milch cows, 2 calves and a bull, all of which perished in the flames. On the floor above were stored the farm machinery, ensilage cutter, wagons, etc, together with 250 bushels of oats and about 15 tons of hay, all of which were a total loss. The barns had recently been remodeled and were insured for only $800 Mr. Spooner carried a policy in the Grange and will be allowed only $25 per head for his cows that cost him $60. His loss will be at least $1,500. Four tramps were seen at the corner at nightfall and it is thought that possibly one of the men may have perished, as some bones have been found in the ruin that point strongly that way.

In a Vicious Circle.

Tuberculosis.

Keep Strong and Kill the Germs.

Last winter the Legislature passed and Governor Hughes signed, a most important law for the prevention of tuberculosis. The main points of the law are:

1. Any physician can have the sputum of a patient examined without charge, through his local health officer.

2. Every physician must report every case of tuberculosis known to him, to the health officer of his city town or village. (There is a health officer in every city, town and village in the State.)

3. When a consumptive dies or removes, the premises must be cleaned and disinfected, and if necessary renovated under the direction of the health officer, before they can be occupied again.

4. A person who insists upon carelessly spitting may be complained of to the health officer and fined ten dollars ($10) if he refuses to obey the health officer's instructions.

5. A physician attending a case of tuberculosis must take all the proper precautions and procedures to secure the protection of the other members of the family; or if the physician does not wish to do this, and so states in writing, these duties devolve upon the local health officer.

How long will it take the Empire State to practically wipe out tuberculosis? It all depends on whether those who read this information and similar circulars do their part. If each person does his part, the disease can be enormously reduced in this generation.

OBITUARY.

Mrs Hattie Lillibridge died at the State Hospital in Rochester on Sunday last, aged 42 years. Her husband and little son Reed, survive. The funeral was held on Tuesday, Rev. F. H VanKeuren officiating.

Grand Jury Investigating Election Bribery Charges.

Governor Hughes, following the statement made by prominent Rochester citizens, backed by the State Associations to Prevent Corrupt Practices at Elections on Friday designated Attorney General O'Malley to conduct the election cases arising in the late congressional election in Monroe county. Mr. O'Malley has named Elmer E. Charles of Warsaw as special prosecutor to assist in presenting the case to the grand jury which was sworn in Monday. Evidences of bribery and colonization at polls is at hand and it is thought there will be about 100 cases to prosecute.

Big Circus.

The Barnum & Bailey great circus is to appear in Rochester on Tuesday, May 24. This is the best news of the day to those who are fond of the circus form of amusement. For fifty five years this has been the leading show of the world. This year it comes forth with an entire new equipment which cost the management $3,500,000

The main performance is given in three rings, on two stages, on an immense Roman race track and in the dome. The climax of the program is the appaling performance of Deap rado, a mad Frenchman, who leaps from the dome of the tent and lands on his bare chest. Additional thrills are given by Jupiter, a pure-white Arabian horse. It rides to the dome of the tent in a balloon and descends amid a Niagara of exploding rockets and fireworks. Then there is Charlie the First, beyond all question the most remarkable animal that ever came to the notice of a scientist. Charlie the First is merely a chimpanzie, but he has become the greatest bicycle rider and acrobate in the world He does an act on one of the stages that is the wonder of the age.

In the menagerie is found the most remarkable zoological exhibit ever seen outside of the interior of the African jungle. It is Bambino, the first and only baby giraffe ever born or exhibited in America. Only once before in history has the stork visited the giraffe pen of a captive zoo of animals. That event happened over fifty years ago in London, England The youngster died before it could be placed on exhibition. Bambino is only three feet tall, less than one-seventh of its mother's height. The youngster is worth its weight in gold.

On the list of performers are the names of 400 of the world's most talented performers, The new parade is a marvel It is a panorama of a thousand wonders There are three miles of it. Here is an opportunity for the people of Honeoye Falls and vicinity to see the greatest circus ever organized. The railroads wil lower the rates of fare and special excursions will be run.

—St. Paul's Dramatic Club will present "The Corner Store," with songs and specialties, at Village Hall, Wednesday May 25th. Dancing later.

ALL TIRED OUT.

Tired all the time;
Weary and worn out night and day;
Back aches; side aches;
All on account of the kidneys.
Must help them at their work.

A Honeoye Falls citizen shows you how:

James McKenzie, East street, Honeoye Falls, N. Y., says: "My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills was satisfactory in every way. I suffered intensely from kidney trouble and although I underwent treatments and took medicines of various kinds, I found little or no relief. My back ached constantly and I could not rest well, arising in the morning all tired out Headaches annoyed me and I had but little strength or energy. Finally I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the Lillibridge Drug store and their use brought prompt and permanent relief. I know of other parties who have taken Doan's Kidney Pills with the same success." (Statement given August 24, 1906)

RE-ENDORSEMENT.

On October 5, 1909, Mr. McKenzie was called upon and he said: "I am just as strong in my praise of Doan's Kidney Pills now as I was during the summer of 1906, when they so effectively cured me of kidney complaint. The trouble has never returned and my health could not be better than it is at the present time."

High School Entertainment

The High School entertainment on on Friday evening was attended by a company that filled Village Hall to the limit of its seating capacity.

A program of unusual merit was opened with a selection from Il Trovator by the High School orchestra under the direction of Prof. Webster, with Misses Irene French, Marguerite Keyes, Elma Nau, Mina Shepard, Miss Darron and Mac. O'Brien, violinists; Kern and Ernest Palmer, clarionetists and Corabell Yorks pianist. The young folks gave two numbers that were greatly enjoyed.

A Dolls Drill by fourteen little girls from Miss McLaughlin's room under the direction of their teacher, was very cutely done.

Then followed a violin solo by Miss Pauline Hayes and a violin quartette by four young ladies from the school orchestra, that were very well executed.

Miss Marguerite Webster gave the next number, a violin solo, the Witches Dance. The selection is a very difficult one requiring months of patient labor to commit to memory, and her skillful mastery of the piece denoted a talent of high order. Miss Webster is a sister of Mrs. Anna Thomas of Boston, who will be remembered by the older music loving public from her visits among us a few years ago. She is still, with her husband John Thomas, engaged in entertainment and high grade concert work in that city.

A very novel feature of the program was the Rainbow Drill by eighteen young ladies in white, with colored sashes and rainbows to match. The drill was worked out by Miss Eleanor Howard and was given under her direction and is quite a ways in the lead in the matter of marching and posing of anything of a similar nature ever presented here.

Miss Ethel Chapman gave a humorous reading "Mrs. Tubbs at the Sewing Circle", that was finely rendered.

Miss Webster gave another violin selection that was thoroughly enjoyed.

A laughable farce comedy "A Case of Suspension," with a well selected cast of characters, under the direction of Miss Savage, afforded no end of amusement. The scene is laid in a girls' seminary. The young ladies are planning a spread for a few of their college friends in the same town. Two over-zealous members of the faculty in their efforts to "rubber" find themselves in a humiliating plight and are forced to join in the festivities much to their chagrin.

The closing number was a second selection by the orchestra "National Airs."

In conclusion a word of credit is justly due Prof. Webster to whose painstaking efforts during the winter the successful appearance of the orchestra is mainly due, and the proceeds of the evening were intended to remunerate him in part for his labors, as well as the fine musical treat afforded.

Lincoln's Declaration of Total Abstinence.

The particulars of Mr. Lincoln's total abstinence stand when visited at his home in Springfield, June 19, 1860, by a committee from the convention which named him for the presidential office, are thus detailed by Dr. J. G. Holland:

"Mr. Ashmun, the president of the convention, at the head of the committee, visited Springfield to apprise Mr. Lincoln officially of his nomination. In order that the ceremony might be smoothly performed, the committee had an interview with Mr. Lincoln before the hour appointed for the formal call They found him at a loss to know how to treat a present he had just received at the hands of some of his considerate friends Knowing Mr. Lincoln's temperate or rather abstinent habits, and laboring under the impression that the visitors from Chicago would have wants beyond the power of cold water to satisfy, these friends had sent in sundry hampers of wines and liquors. These strange fluids troubled Mr. Lincoln, and he frankly confessed as much to the members of the committee. The chairman at once advised him to return the gift and offer no stimulants to his guests, as many would be present besides the committee. Thus relieved, he made ready for the reception of the company according to his own ideas of hospitality."

When the committee finally arrived, Mr. Lincoln greeted them in these words: 'Gentlemen, we must pledge our mutual healths in the most healthy beverage which God has given to man It is the only beverage I have ever used or allowed in my family, and I cannot consistently depart from it on the present occasion. It is pure Adam's ale from the spring." He touched a tumbler to his lips and pledged them his highest respects in a cup of cold water. Of course, all of his guests were constrained to admire his consistency and to follow his example.

The many other acts and utterances of Mr. Lincoln which confirmed this belief in his loyalty to the temperance cause are widely known, from his famous address on the temperance question delivered February 22, 1842, to his signing the historic presidential declaration of Edward C. Delavan, and his final words to Major J. B. Merwin, spoken on the very day of his assassination, that "the next great question after reconstruction will be the overthrow of the Liquor traffic."

Railroading as a Career for Young Men.

One of the best lines of employment for young men to go into today is railroad work, either as train brakemen or locomotive firemen. The pay of these positions ranges from $75 a month for brakemen to $100 a month for firemen. By good and steady work a brakeman can become a conductor in from one to two years, and a fireman can become an engineer in from two to three years. Conductors earn about $150, and engineers about $200 a month. Conductors are made exclusively from brakemen; and engineers are made only from firemen.

There are about a thousand railroads in the United States, and they own and operate about 70,000 locomotives and an equal number of trains. For these they require a total of 140,000 engineers and firemen, and over 200,000 conductors and brakemen—a grand total of train and engine men of about 350,000 Among this large army of men there are always many changes occuring which cause vacancies, and some thousands of new firemen and brakemen are hired annually to recruit the service. So there are just so many chances for healthy young men to get these good paying positions.

Also the railroads prefer to hire young men from the country and small towns, rather than city men, to become firemen and brakemen, and later conductors and engineers, because they have found by experience that the men from the rural districts are stronger and more hardy, have less bad habits and give better satisfaction in the work.

The Railway Educational Association of which the New York Central and other railroads are members, is reaching out into the rural districts of New York State to get the men needed for railroad positions in this State. The Association has requested the co-operation of the TIMES to bring the matter to the attention of the young men in this vicinity.

Courses of Preparatory Instruction, one for firemen and one for brakemen, are given by the Association to fit those who want either position to properly and successfully perform their duties after employment. They teach the meanings of all the signals in use on the railroads, and everything else either a fireman or brakeman needs to know about the work they will perform. The Scholarship fee is moderate, and each scholar is guaranteed a position within a month after completing the Instruction. The Lessons are very thorough, yet plain and practical, and no examinations are required unless the scholar wishes them Careful study of the lessons is all that is necessary.

As the railroads will hire only healthy young men between 20 and 30 years old, the Association will accept only such men as scholars—as it wants only men for whom it can obtain positions promptly.

Young men in this vicinity who meet the requirements and want one of the positions mentioned may obtain full particulars free of charge by addressing the Association in care of this office, stating the position preferred and enclosing a two-cent stamp for a reply.

I Make a Friend iWth Every Suit

One reason why I have my clothes made by The Royal Tailors is that they are expert.

friend-makers as well as clothes-makers. When they cut a suit they cement a good will; my customers are so elated with Royal clothes that they talk about them —and me— all over town.

The Royal Tailors are not spending a fortune in advertising without a foundation to stand on.

They are giving the best dollar for dollar satisfaction in the country.
