Platen piano make comeback

Edward Hart, 35, the owner of the Hart Piano Factory in Plattsburgh, has decided to begin producing player pianos again.

Hart said he was inspired to make the move after reading an article about the history of the instrument.

"I've always been interested in the history of music," Hart said. "I think it's important to keep these kinds of instruments alive."