

C. N. TYLER WEDS BRIDE AT FALLS

Tyler-Carey
Niagara Falls—In rites performed at 8 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 8, 1941, in the First Presbyterian Church, Miss Madelynn Esther Carey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Carey of 625 Walnut Ave., Niagara Falls, N. Y., became the bride of Clarence N. Tyler, Jr., of Niagara Falls, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Tyler, Sr., of Newark.

The double ring ceremony was performed before a bank of fall leaves, chrysanthemums, and candelabras, by the Rev. A. C. Van Raalte. The pews were marked with tall candles and pomps.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in ivory satin, en train, with sweetheart neckline, pointed sleeves, and fitted bodice, shirred at the waist. Her finger tip veil of illusion was caught by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried her father's prayer book, trimmed with sprays of orchids and gardenias. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace.

Miss Marie Casey of Baltimore, Maryland, aunt of the bride, and maid of honor, chose a brown taffeta gown with fitted bodice, small train, and carried a muff of pomps. She wore a necklace of pearls.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. William Cornish of Lewiston, N. Y., Miss Jeanne Brewer and Miss Shirley Pharr, of Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Cornish wore gold taffeta. Miss Brewer, rust taffeta, and Miss Pharr, moss green taffeta. All wore pearl necklaces, and carried muffs of pomps.

Best man was Jaak C. McClary of Niagara Falls. Ushers were James A. Carter of North Tonawanda, Newton DePuy, and Vernon Severson of Newark, N. Y.

The mother of the bride was gowned in burgundy velvet with a corsage of fall flowers. The mother of the bridegroom chose white velvet, with a corsage of pomps. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. E. B. Upper, wore royal velvet and a shoulder corsage of pomps.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the Red Coach Inn, Niagara Falls, N. Y. The table was decorated with a three-tiered wedding cake, white candles and fall flowers.

Out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Tyler, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Newton DePuy, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Severson, Miss Elizabeth Loomis, and Mrs. W. Meade of Newark; Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Parrish of Rochester, and others from Boston, Cleveland, and Buffalo.

The couple left on a short wedding trip through Canada.

The bride is a graduate of Niagara Falls High School, Miss Farmer's School, Boston, Mass., and has lived in Texas for the past six winters. The bridegroom is a graduate of Newark High School, and has resided in Watertown and Niagara Falls for the past four years.

Pranuptial functions honoring the bride included a personal shower Oct. 23 by Mrs. A. E. Goodwin; a miscellaneous shower Nov. 3 by Mrs. A. T. Carter; a kitchen shower Nov. 2 by Mrs. Gilbert Winchester; a linen shower by Miss Jeanne Brewer on Nov. 4; a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. William Cornish on Oct. 30; and a tea by Mrs. J. J. Carey on Friday, Nov. 7.

He was born April 29, 1855, in Albany. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Johnston, Newark; a son, Carl F. Johnston, Geneseo; and one grandchild.

500 DONORS SOUGHT BY RED CROSS

those desiring to make donations are asked to fill out the registration blank on page 4 and send it at once to the Wayne Chapter, American Red Cross, Newark, N. Y. They will then be contacted and an appointment arranged.

The blood obtained here will be shipped at once to Philadelphia where it will be converted into plasma and stored in a frozen state. It is then dried and distributed to the Army and Navy and the Red Cross. All that is then needed to make it available for instant use in the event of an emergency is to add distilled water. Doctors believe that dry plasma remains effective for at least ten years. As a safeguard, however, a time limit of five years is placed on it.

Members of the general committee sponsoring the drive of the local Red Cross for donors is composed, in addition to Chairman Winegard, of the following: Mrs. John Metcalf, Mrs. Phoebe Murdock, Mrs. Pauline Donnelly, Mrs. Clifford O'Brien, Mrs. Ruth Dee, Mrs. William Marks, Mrs. Marion McDougall, William Scheerens, August Martin, Ward Crider, Harold Foster, Jack Utter, Dr. Elmer L. DuBois, Edmond Hesser, H. G. Howard, George Fox and William Williams.

All plasma from blood now being donated is 100 per cent for American use. It is going into a reservoir in the Army and Navy. The first available supply processed is being shipped to Navy Bases. Eventually every fighting ship will have a store of plasma—all navy yards and bases—all army camps. If there is no war it will be stored in reservoirs at strategic centers whence it can be rushed by airplane to wherever needed when disaster strikes.

Transfusions are needed not only in cases of hemorrhage but also for shock. These are the most common causes of death on the battlefield and are also the main causes of death in peace time disasters such as explosions, storms, fires and wrecks.

Veterans' Mother Sends Gazette to Men in the Service

Rochester, N. Y.
Editor Courier-Gazette
Newark, N. Y.
Dear Mr. Howard:
This is Armistice Day and in memory of the men who have served their Country with so much courage and faithfulness I am enclosing a small gift to be used in sending the "Newark Courier-Gazette" to a few of the men who have gone from Newark. I have a feeling that your paper will be a comfort to those who are far from their homes.

You will not wonder that my heart is filled with sincere admiration for Soldiers when I tell you that for most of the years of my life I have been close to those who have been called to serve their Country.

A very young and beloved Uncle was in the Mexican War and killed in his first battle. My husband was in the Civil War. Two of my Sons were in the Spanish-American War and my youngest Son was in the World War.

These days that we are living through now, bring to my mind many sad memories and I pray that by some miracle Peace will come to the World.

"Blessed are the peacemakers for they shall be called the children of God."

With my best wishes and much admiration for the work you are doing,
MRS. ADELAIDE T. CRAPSEY
(Editor's Note—The Courier-Gazette sends the newspaper to service men at cost. A number of them will be made happy by Mrs. Crapsey's contribution of $3.00 for this purpose).

Varied Play Held as Best For Children

By MRS. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine
When a modern young father is asked what he is planning for his son in the way of a career, he will smile a superior, enlightened smile and say, "Oh, I'll let him make his own life." But when it comes to which sport the child shall excel in, the telegrams announcing the baby's arrival to far-flung college friends as often as not describe the infant as a future tennis star or a fullback of fabulous power.

Now if there is really a family tradition of excellence in a certain sport, the exuberant young parent's ambition for his son may not be misplaced, for aptitudes and types of co-ordination can be inherited. But for a parent to choose a game for a child because of his own sporting enthusiasm for that particular sport and expect the youngster to make good at it, may lead to grief for both parents and child.

This doesn't mean, however, that you should leave your child's education in games entirely to chance. For proficiency in any sport requires a great many different kinds of bodily performance, and some of these nerve and muscular skills have to be learned in childhood. Moreover, they have to be learned so well that they appear to be outright gifts of the gods when the time comes for them to function in a chosen game.

Your first responsibility then, is to see that the child participates in the varied play activities which will insure proper muscular development and co-ordination of nerve center and muscle. Growing children need from four to five hours a day of big muscle activity—that is, the muscles of the trunk, shoulders and hips—and boys and girls during early adolescence need from two to three hours of such activity if they are ever to realize their maximum physical and nervous powers.

Does this mean that "Have you done your climbing and jumping for today, Junior?" should be added to the maternal query as to the day's consumption of vegetables? Such extreme vigilance on the part of parents would do more harm than good, for the modern emphasis in physical education is more and more on establishing a liking for exercise. Callisthenics have their place, especially in an adult program for keeping fit. But with the child just encourage his enjoyment of the activities he thinks are fun and you'll be taking nature's most reliable tip as to what will aid his proper physical development.

Finally, consensus of physical education experts that early specialization in a single sport is a disadvantage, rather than an advantage, should relieve your mind of the fear that your child may miss his chance to win championships later on unless you choose a sport for him when he is still too young to know his own preference, and keep him persistently at it.

TIPS GIVEN ON 'KRAUT'

Sauerkraut is a wholesome and healthful food, and cabbage not wanted for storage may be used for kraut.
Select only sound mature heads of cabbage. Let them stand at room temperature for a day or two to wilt so they will not be so apt to break in the cutting. Then wash and quarter the heads, and remove the core with a sharp knife. Shred the cabbage either with a knife or a slaw cutter with blades set to cut the shreds about the thickness of a dime. Cut about five pounds of cabbage at a time, weigh it, and mix it thoroughly with two ounces of a scant 1/4 cup of salt. Be careful not to bruise the cabbage. Pack the cabbage-salt mixture into an earthenware or a painted pine or cypress cask. To extract the juice, press down each layer firmly with a large wooden masher, but do not pound the kraut. When the salt has dissolved, the brine should reach nearly to the top of the container.
Cover the kraut with a clean, white muslin cloth, and cover

THE WORLD We Want To Live In

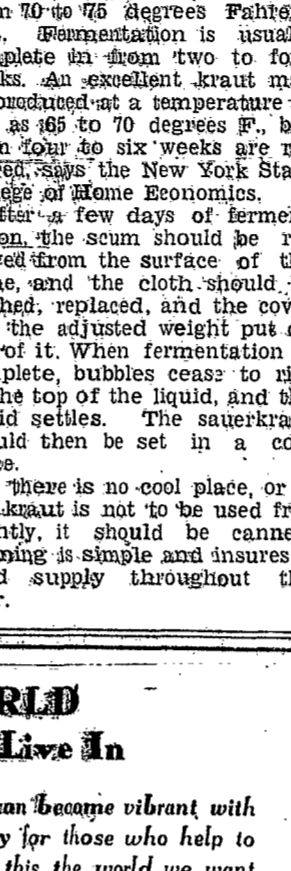

Life can become vibrant with beauty for those who help to make this world we want to live in. One Divine truth, shining through the war-torn world, is the old, old homily: "In generosity, not greediness, men of all lands can find contentment for soul and body." Collective accountability for the improvement of human relations is made up of the individual responsibility of each of us.

Our service is for all people, regardless of class, creed or other circumstance, at a price in keeping with their wishes.
