KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are acknowledged by their olive color.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker. There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister. Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chafes, frost-bitten feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

MUSTEROLE

Feel Dull, Dopey? It's Your Liver

A congested and inactive liver robs you of energy, pep and vitality; makes you constipated, dull, headachy, listless, lazy, melancholy. It interferes with digestion, elimination, assimilation; clogs your body and makes you unfit for work or pleasure.

T. S. B. Liverclean

Light off. This mild, but prompt and thorough saline laxative tones the liver, increases its activity, regulates the flow of bile and cleans out the system. It never causes nausea, never gripes. Its action is pleasant and its effect amazing; gives you back your energy, pep, vim, "ginger," improves your digestion, sharpens your appetite, makes you feel like a new person. Try it instead of harmful calomel or strong purges. You'll never be without T. S. B. LIVERCLEAN once you experience the relief and benefit it brings. Ask your druggist.

MANY RETURN TO CIVILIAN LIFE

3,422,233, of Army Demobilized in 1919—Record Breaking Achievement

Washington, Nov. 24.—Final details of the demobilization of American wartime armies are given by Adjutant-General Harris in his annual report to Secretary Baker, made public recently. The Adjutant-General points out that in the year ended November 15, 1919, a total of 3,422,233 officers and men were returned to civilian life, and adds:

"More than 600,000 more officers and men were discharged from service during the first twelve weeks of the recent demobilization than were discharged from the Union Army during the entire civil war demobilization period of one and one-half years; more than twice the total civil war number were discharged within the first six months, and more than three times the number were discharged within the first eight and one-half months of the recent demobilization.

"The comparison is further accentuated when it is considered that the greater part of the world war emergency army had to be transported thousands of miles across the ocean prior to its demobilization, which was moreover conducted throughout in a disciplined and orderly manner. In marked contrast with the procedure prevailing at the close of the civil war, no man being separated from service during the recent demobilization until every necessary detail, including a careful physical examination, had been properly accomplished.

Gen. Harris' report shows that at the end of the last fiscal year, or on June 30 last, the strength of the army was 15,461 officers and 184,848 enlisted men. At the close of the preceding fiscal year, or on June 30, 1919, the army was composed of 77,866 officers and 758,878 men. The Office of Reserve Corps June 30 last numbered 68,323, distributed from Brigadier-General down to Second Lieutenants.

The low desertion average during the year ended June 30 last is commented on by Gen. Harris, who places the average at 1.37 per cent, as compared with a pre-war average of 3 and 4 per cent. The low average, the Adjutant-General declares, is especially significant in view of the fact that the army last year was not a homogeneous unit, being made up in part of "old army" and in part of "new army" men.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few minutes. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache, no hawking, snuffing, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

To your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

END OF CIVIL WAR IN RUSSIA

Brusiloff Says End Is Approaching as Result of Defeat of Wrangel

Moscow, Nov. 20, by wireless to Berlin, Nov. 23.—"Civil war in Russia appears to be approaching its end as a result of the decisive victory of the soviet army over General Wrangel on the Crimean front," said General Brusiloff, Chief of Staff of the soviet army, in a statement made today.

"General Wrangel could never under any circumstances by himself manage the soviet government. His principal role is to aid the Poles. It was due to Wrangel that the Poles won their military successes. When the war with Poland was finished Wrangel's part was played. He was then abandoned by France.

"Wrangel managed to weaken our front against Poland because we had to concentrate for protection in south Russia.

"Even if Wrangel's intentions had been honest he could never have done anything for Russia. I pity very much the officers who were misled by him. All they did was to give more territory to Poland and spill much blood on both sides.

"While I did not see the battle field I know the positions could not be held without heavy loss of life," said General Brusiloff. "It was inevitable because of the geographical position of the Isthmus as well as the strength of the fortifications which had to be breached before Crimea could be penetrated.

"General Brusiloff was asked if he thought that the anti-Bolshevik forces would be able to advance toward Belachovitch could menace the security of the soviets. The veteran smiled as he replied: "The first law of a successful general is to have an army. So far as I know there is no army left to fight against the red army. As for Petrov I know him slightly. He was once a military man, but was converted solely with the Zemeitovs."

"Do you think Poland will again go to war against soviet Russia?" General Brusiloff was asked. "Great Britain and France want a strong Poland, but if the Poles are clever they will realize that they are strong enough, replied the general. They have now taken the initiative in Russia everything they will ever be able to take. If they fight Russia again they will dig their own graves."

"The report was printed abroad that the soviet government was leaving the story was circulated in Poland that I had been shot for the failure of the offensive against Poland," interrupted Brusiloff. "My husband was not even chief of staff and was not responsible for the operations against the Poles," said Madame Brusiloff. He offered himself for the position of chief of staff, but somebody else. At present he is serving on the soviet supreme war council.

Brusiloff's only son, an officer in the red army, was captured by the Denikin's troops last year and executed.

Moscow newspapers continue to print the story that the soviet victories on the Crimean front. One headline will serve to give the tenor of the article: "With their own bodies have the soviet peasants broken down the defenses of Wrangel."

NOT TO TREAT WITH SOVIETS

American Government Will Not Change Its Policy in Regard to Russia

Washington, Nov. 24.—Any trade agreement negotiated between Great Britain and soviet Russia will not alter the policies of the United States toward the Red government, it is learned here on good authority. Announcement that a commercial agreement was shortly to be signed was made in the British parliament Thursday, and it interested officials and diplomats here.

The view was expressed that such an arrangement follows logically the course of the anti-Bolshevik armies of General Wrangel in eastern Russia, and is a conclusion of negotiations which began several months ago.

The American government will do nothing toward changing its relations with the Bolsheviks although the State department is under more or less pressure constantly to establish formal trade connections. Some fear has been expressed that Great Britain might obtain through the States department several months ago removed its restrictions for trade, except in war materials, but warned merchants that their business was carried on at their own risk, since no government exists in Russia which can be recognized. It will adhere to this position until there is a change in Russian policy.

The British-Soviet agreement will involve a de facto recognition from Britain, which would acknowledge the existence of the soviet government and the majority of dealings with it, without political recognition and intercourse. Britain extends such recognition frequently.

Britain, it is understood here, is anxious to avoid a renewal of the "panacea" deal with the Reds that no effort will be made to spread Bolsheviki propaganda or domination in Persia, India and Afghanistan. This would amount to a partial de facto recognition of the Third International by the Red rulers. These guarantees are said to be a part of the trade agreement.

Other factors influencing Britain are pressure from labor men and merchants. The workers have repeatedly expressed sympathy for the Russian revolution. The merchants have stocks of goods they believe they can sell to great advantage.

The view here is that trade advantages to be gained by Britain will be negligible, since official reports indicate there is little merchandise to be exported to Russia. It is transportation from interior points is required. Also, there is no system of international exchange.

The Bolsheviks are understood to have some $500,000 in gold in their vaults, and payment might be made with this. But the government has held that the title to this gold is cloudy and other nations have expressed a desire to let it alone. The money was looted from the old Russian reserve and it is held that every owner of a legitimate ruble note is part owner of the gold.

The government has held that the soviet gold is not needed in this country and that if it were obtained the Bolsheviks would use it to buy arms and munitions. Moreover, other nations have huge interests in Russia, notably France, whose private investors have sunk billions of francs in Russian securities.

"Think and Thank" Suggested Motto for Nation Today

"Think and Thank" was the motto upon the family crest of the great Hebrew philanthropist Sir Moses Montefiore. It would be an appropriate armorial motto for America today. These two little English words, differing in a single vowel, were originally identical. In the Anglo-Saxon tongue, a "thank" was a "think." Thinking comes from thinking, and thankfulness from thoughtfulness and thanks giving from thought-giving. This will be a season of unusual thanksgiving—for we are made to think as we have not been wont to think. It will be a very selfish soul that this season fails to think of the sorrows and the sufferings of others.

Look back at that first American Thanksgiving. Strange skies, sparse settlements, sparse flocks, savage enemy, but thankful spirit! What makes the memory of the Pilgrims so precious? His thankfulness! As Howell puts it:

"It is no improper comparison that a thankful heart is like a box of precious oil which keeps the small lamp for the thing is spent. The Pilgrims and the Puritans have passed on, but they have left us a precious possession—a Thanksgiving day and the Thanksgiving spirit. Theirs was the indomitable spirit because they 'thanked God and took courage.' They landed unhelped on a 'rock-bound wintry strand,' but they thanked God and took courage. They found no gold, but they did find the golden grain of a first harvest and they thanked God and took courage. They found a rude wilderness, but they thanked God and took courage, and furrows were turned and houses were built and cities grew and factories flourished and culture developed and instead of a wilderness a garden blossomed and the fragrance of their memory still survives and the spirit of their grace still inspires.

Teachers Seek To Banish State Military Training

Rochester, Nov. 24.—Delegates to the seventy-fifth annual convention of the New York State Teachers' Association at a meeting in the Common Council chamber, City Hall, yesterday afternoon accepted unanimously, without discussion from the floor of comment from the chairman, twelve resolutions presented by the Resolutions Committee, headed by E. E. Eyraton, of Thaca. Recommendations for legislation embodied in the committee's report touch upon vital phases of the education problem in this state, including the questions of health, taxation and adequate compensation for members of the teaching profession.

Prominent among the resolutions in the report is one aimed at banishing the Military Training Commission in this state and its work. This measure requests the Legislature to formulate legislation whereby all health work pertaining to the schools of the state be placed under the single direction and control of the State Education Department and through it with local boards of education, eliminating entirely the present Military Training Commission and its work.

Farm Convention Set For December 14 and 15

Rochester, Nov. 24.—Because of some conflicting dates and engagements, the New York Federation of Agriculture has changed the dates for its annual convention. It will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, December 14th and 15th, in Convention Hall in the city of Rochester.

Addresses will be made by recognized leaders in the Grange, Farmers Bureau, Dairymen's League and of the State College and Agricultural Department. Several speakers of national reputation will be on the program. The convention will concern itself principally with the problems of transportation and distribution of farm products. The discussion to be expected, will develop a definite state policy on these important subjects for the consideration of the incoming Legislature and new executive administration.

Washington, Nov. 24.—Housewives looking to the influx of immigrants to solve the servant girl problem had their hopes blasted by Dr. Katherine Herring, head of the newly created woman's section of the United States immigration service.

Approximately 80 per cent of the incoming hordes from Europe are women, according to Dr. Herring but they are steering clear of domestic service. Even Frederick Walls, commissioner of immigration at New York, with all the good food and music he is serving the arrivals at Ellis Island, cannot console one of them to relieve the servant shortage in his own household, Dr. Herring said. He had been trying for three months.
