LABORATORY AND X-RAY EXPERT FOR HOSPITAL

Services of Miss Helen B. Sutherland, Trained Worker, Have Been Secured.

Complying with the request of the American College of Surgeons, which institution is attempting to improve and standardize hospitals thrtout the United States, the Hudson City Hospital has engaged the services of Miss Helen B. Sutherland, who is a trained Roentgenologist and laboratory worker. The demand for work of this character has become so great in hospitals maintaining a general service that the board of trustees decided to employ a trained worker in these departments.

They have been fortunate in engaging the services of Miss Sutherland, who graduated as a trained nurse from the New Hampshire Training School, Concord. N. H., in 1915, and was registered in that State the same year.

She subsequently took a post-graduate course in nursing at the Woman's Hospital, New York city; served with the British and American expeditionary forces from January, 1916, to June, 1919, and then devoted herself to private nursing at Huron, South Dakota.

Early in the present year she entered the Providence Hospital, Washington, D. C., to perfect herself in laboratory and X-ray technique. She is a woman of wide experience, comes highly recommended and is well qualified for the work she has undertaken.

The citizens of Hudson have reason to be proud of a hospital which is kept abreast of the times and in which the medical and surgical needs of the community are so well provided for.

WORLD DEBT TO U. S. FIRMS SHOW INCREASE

Washington, Aug. 15—World trade debtors increased their obligations to American business concerns by $1,500,000 in the last fiscal year. The federal reserve board's official estimates today showed that this tremendous buying of American goods on a credit basis had further swollen America's favorable trade balance against the world to $4,500,000,000. And this represents money, due American business concerns, that is entirely "unfunded" and merely stands today as promises to pay when world exchange disorders are corrected.

The debts represented by this unfunded balance are at present uncollectible because of the condition of foreign finances. The balance due on trade accounts is in addition to the more than $10,000,000,000 due the U. S. government in war loans. America's credits to the rest of the world, therefore, which still remain to be paid today stands at $4,500,000,000.

The federal reserve board today for the first time, in a review of the ation, admitted that some American menacing features of this credit situ- concerns already have recognized that in these stupendous sums of foreign obligations there are many bad debts and absolute losses.

MAY FIGHT SERVICE CHARGE IN NEWBURGH

Newburgh city officials are contemplating fighting the new 40 cents monthly service charge being substituted by the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation of that city for the former minimum rate of 50 cents a month. City Attorney R. A. Egan has been asked for an opinion as to the legality of such a service charge.

The Newburgh officials point to a decision recently handed down by Supreme Court Justice Joseph Morschauser of this city wherein a lighting company of the village of Pawling was reversed on its 50 cent monthly service charge after the Public Service Commission had approved it.

ERIE R. R. LEASES SHOPS IN MARION, O.

Marion, Ohio, Aug. 15—The Erie Railroad company today announced that is local shops and round house had been leased by the Railway Service company of Marion and would be operated by that concern beginning immediately. The Railway Service company is an organization founded by local manufacturers and capitalists and will take over all repair and other work done in the shops.

Announcement of the plan of operation of the shops was made here today by W. A. Baldwin, manager of the Ohio region of the railroad, who declared that all repair work formerly done here by the railroad would be continued under direction of the new company. Between 400 and 500 persons now are employed in the shops.

Mr Baldwin's statement said that the plan was adopted with the idea that "local conditions can best be appreciated and most intelligently met by the knowledge and interest of local supervision and support." Much of the maintenance and construction work of the railroad has heretofore been done by contractors in communities through which the road runs.

AND THE CAT CAME BACK--400 MILES

On July 12 Calvin H. Taylor moved with his family to Buffalo, and took with them a pet cat which escaped shortly after they reached their new home. The family thought the poor creature was either frozen or starved to death and had given up all hopes of ever seeing or hearing of it again. Last Tuesday morning the nearly starved cat arrived at her old home on Green street occupied by Dr. Taylor and family. She was identified in many ways by family and neighbors. Part of one of her ears has been frozen off, showing she suffered intensely from the severe cold weather on the first part of her seven-months' journey. A neighbor remarked that a greater evidence of animal devotion had never been witnessed.

WOMAN CAUSED SOME EXCITEMENT

Chief Cruise received a telephone message last evening that a woman was going from place to place in the vicinity of Homestead Park, asking for lodging for the night. In that section they thought she was acting so suspiciously that they feared for her safety. Traffic Officer Haight and Patrolman Curcio went to the scene and found a middle-aged Hudson woman was the cause of the trouble. They brought her to police headquarters where she was questioned and later allowed to go. She said she had walked so far out in the upper part of the city that she did not believe she could walk back and so had asked for lodging. She said she had a room on South Front St.

CINCINNATI MAN NOT BADLY HURT

Jos. Wise Hit by Auto, Tossed in Air and Then Landed on the Auto Radiator.

The condition of Joseph Wise, of Cincinnati, who was struck by an automobile yesterday noon at Clermont, was such last week at the hospital that it is expected he will be able to leave the institution in a few days. Not a bone was broken and Dr. Whitbeck, who attended him, found no serious injuries of any kind.

Wise, who is a heavily built, dark complexioned stranger, was hit by an automobile driven by Frederick A. Goiter, 127 Albany St., Albany, N. Y., as he was walking along the State road at Clermont village.

Mr Goiter, who reported the accident to Chief Cruise, also brought the injured man to the hospital and secured for him the best of care. He said that as he turned his car to one side of the road to pass another automobile, his car struck the man a second after he had first seen him.

The left mud-guard and left lamp hit Wise, striking him in the middle of the back. The man was tossed up in the air and coming down he struck the radiator of the car, badly smashing it in.

Washington, Aug. 16—"Insufferable lonesomeness" of the unmarried state now enfolds more than 1,600,000 women and men over 45 years of age, it is shown in reports of the United States census bureau today. Insufferable lonesomeness was the term used by Dr. George P. Harding, father of President Harding, in explaining his marriage at 76, to Miss Severns, 52.

More than 100,000 men of about Dr. Harding's age period now are listed as bachelors the official records show. A nearly equal number of women of 64 years of age or more also are unmarried. And still larger number of men and women over 50 are without mates as a result of divorce or death.

These figures are preliminary estimates of the 1920 census return based on partial returns of the recent census and proportions obtained in the preceding census. The official returns compiled by the census bureau will not be available for several months. There are now in the United States approximately 960,000 men of 45 years of age or more who never entered matrimony. SLACKER LIST IS NOT A GROUND FOR LIBEL

Supreme Court Justice Burr in New York has upheld the right of newspapers to publish the Government "slacker lists" without being open to a suit for libel in case a name was included erroneously in the list. An action seeking libel damages was begun against a newspaper by Charles J. Hymen of 1134 Lexington avenue, whose name appeared in the War Department's list of May 5 last. "The publication by the defendant of the official list of slackers by the War Department and published at its request, as appears on the face of the complaint, I hold to be privileged as a matter of law," Justice Burr ruled. "I therefore sustain the demurrer for judgment on the pleadings is denied.

Doughty, of the Gifford-Wood Co.; and Frederick Grossman, also formerly with the Gifford-Wood Co., Hudson have purchased the famous Nack ice cream business for many years carried on in North Germantown.

It is the intention of the new owners to maintain the same standard of service and quality of ice cream as in the past. It is their plan to gradually enlarge the business to care for the increasing demand for this well known ice cream. The manufacturing plant and distributing depot of the business is located in North Germantown. The cream is sold in practically every community in this and surrounding counties.

ARMED TROOPS ON THE BORDER

Michigan Confronts Canada With Array of Guns, Police and Sheriffs in New Drive

Detroit, Aug. 15.—Every available State trooper, deputy sheriff and police in Cacomb county was to-day flung into the border defense against the liquor flood pouring in from Canada. The river front near Detroit fairly bristles with guns, and more troops, drawn from all over Michigan are being rushed to smash the smuggling ring.

Armored motor boats patrol the river, while armed forces capable of repelling an actual invasion by a hostile army line the American shore. State and federal authorities are determined to stop the traffic in liquor which was given fresh impetus by the decision of a Canadian court the liquor exportation to the United States is legal.

"Exportation may be legal, but there will be no importation as long as we have a man left to fight," State safety department officials say.

Checked at this point by troopers, liquor smugglers are spreading out, shipping boatloads of beer down the river as far as Toledo and up to Port Huron, mushrooming their activities as the defense stiffens. Along the American shore, the defending lines are being lengthened to meet this move.

HOUSE WARMING AT LAKE CHARLOTTE

Large Company of Hudsonians Visit New Cottage of George C. Miller.

A large company of Hudsonians reached Lake Charlotte early last evening by a route over which they had never traveled before and when they finally came upon the lake their breath was nearly taken from them by the beauty of the view which was presented to their eyes, a view which they will not soon forget.

For some time past George C. Miller, the well known owner of the Hudson City Taxicab Co., has been engaged in building a cottage on his property along the shores of the lake. With the builders' work completed and with everything "ship shape," a large company of Mr Miller's friends gave his summer place a "house warming" last evening and with proper ceremony put the cottage "in commission."

Most of those present had visited the lake on many previous occasions but it is safe to say that few had ever been to this particular place, which is by far the most beautiful and most desirable spot on the whole lake.

Mr Miller's cottage is located on the extreme eastern end and the view which it commands is truly marvelous. From its spacious porch the extreme length of the lake is spread out before one while in the distance looms the Catskills in all their grandeur. The cottage itself is without question the most attractive and substantial along Charlotte shores. It is built of stucco and is surrounded on three sides by a broad concrete porch, the front and sides of which are faced with field stone laid in concrete.

The interior of the cottage, with its big stone fire place is finished in beaver board and presents a most artistic and attractive appearance. Hard-wood floors, electric lights, bath, etc., give the cottage all of the beauty and comforts of a city home.

A feature which took every one's eye, is the dining room which is built on the east side of the cottage and is enclosed entirely by glass.

When the guests arrived they found the whole porch had been converted into a dining room and they were not long in getting their feet under the tables. Every one's appetite seemd sharpened for the occasion and the bounteous chicken dinner, which was preceded by luscious turtle soup was soon encompassed by the members of the party.

After the cigars and coffee the guests strolled about the place and admired its many attractive features before departing for their homes. Entrance to Mr Miller's place is gained thru a private road which branches from the Ancram turnpike some two or three miles from the regular Lake Charlotte turn. The road is of easy access and the long and dangerous hill is obviated.

THE REPUBLICAN HOUSE MEMBERS REVERSE COMM.

Advance Date of Repeal of Excess Profit Tax and Increase of Corporation Tax.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The Republican members of the House, in a caucus to-day, overturned the Ways and Means committee and changed the tax revision bill so as to make the repeal of the excess profits and the higher income surtaxes and the increase in the corporation tax effective January 1 of next year, instead of January 1, 1921.

When the Republican members met to consider the draft of the new tax bill submitted by the Ways and Means committee, Representative Mann, of Illinois, former Republican floor leader, immediately launched a fight against making the excess profits tax repeal retroactive.

Supported by Representatives Frear and Stafford, of Wisconsin, Mr Mann warned Republican Leader Mondell and Chairman Fordney, of the Ways and Means committee, that unless the party caucus changed the date of the repeal at least 100 Republicans members of the House would join with the Democrats in securing the adoption of the amendment when the bill is voted on by the whole House.

The vote was 96 to 87 in the caucus to change the date in the bill and then Mr Mondell suggested that the other dates in the bill be changed to correspond with the original change. This was authorized by the other Republicans.

Owners of Central House in Germantown Ordered Lessee to Vacate Place Monday.

Germantown, Aug. 15—Last spring the Central House in Germantown was leased to Harding & Kirby, two Albany young men, who conducted the hotel up until several weeks ago when they had a disagreement and dissolved partnership. Mr Harding has been running the hotel since, but Friday night so many "drunks" were about the village that the 21 stockholders who own the hotel determined to have the matter investigated the following morning. A search was made on the premises and it is claimed, alleged liquor and other "wet goods" were found in the barn, particularly in the grain box. The bottles, it is reported, were mostly empty but the owners seemed convinced that the lessee had violated the terms of his lease. Mr Harding was ordered to vacate and the hotel was closed on Monday morning.
