DRY UP.

We mean it. This expression to be shure is not classic enough to please our Academy Professor, nor sufficiently refined and artistic to merit the approbation of any of Elmira's favorite artists but it is the only thing that we can say and in it express what we wish to convey and at the same time relieve our minds. The trouble is this :—

Hardly a day passes but we are in receipt of unasked advice in regard to the management of the BAZOO. "Take this course," one says, "Avoid this," another puts in, "Your boys leave too many copies in each store and office," one informs us, while another complains that "your boys are too careful with your paper and do not scatter them broadcast like forest leaves." Then comes a class of—what shall we call them—fools? who use ink, paper, envelope and stamp to empty out on our plate their hearing. It is valuable to the extent of its weight, as all such communications are consigned, with barely a passing notice, to the waste basket. A communication with a name signed to it will always receive attention. Grumblers and advice givers who forget to sign their name only indicate their ill breeding and lack of knowledge of the laws of society. We are publishing the BAZOO for two purposes: First, to advertise those whose cards appear in its columns, Second, and not least to advertise ourselves. We propose to run the BAZOO in such manner as in our opinion will be for the greatest interest of both our friends and ourselves. It is our opinion and ours only that is to be consulted. We are in the Job Printing business and propose to stick to it; we want no office nor have we any friends or even party that we are determined, at all hazards, to see in power. We are in every sense of the word independent. We will publish what we like and leave out what we consider to be to our advantage to suppress. We do the best Job Printing that is executed in El-

The Brooklyn Eagle says that indictments five in number were found against Fleischman for feeding swill to three hundred cows at the COMPRESSED YEAST FACTORY and distillery. The stables were shockingly filthy and the cows diseased and rotten, and according to Dr. Jones their milk unfit for human beings."
