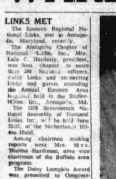
FACES TOUGH PRIMARY BATTLE



Representative Thaddeus Dulski is facing one of the strongest assults on the Democratic organization that has held for the past twelve years.

In a concentrated attack, the opponent has sought and obtained support from a motley assortment of groups both within and outside the district, loosely connected on the field of racial, social and legal justice.

In what appears to be a well planned blanket campaign through the second in command, Mr. Dulski's opponent has sent out Madison Ave. type literature designed to "Turn on" the voters.

Mr. Dulski's opponent has for the most part, conducted a negative type campaign, with repeated attacks on the

SAYS LOYAL VOTERS, PEEVED

By STAFF REPORTER

In a personal appearance at the Criterion office, Ted Reynolds, chairman of the powerful fifth ward Democratic Committee, said he has contacted hundreds of Democratic voters in person and by phone and they are still loyal to the party and will vote the Eve machine next June year to attempt to throw the surgical election to the Republicans. The odds in this area favor Smith. I don't think the ministers can help him win here. That never was political suicide in the mighty fifth ward.

The John Smith Boosters in an all-out effort to bring victory to their Democratic endorsed candidate for Assemblyman of the 143rd Assembly District, at a meeting of Independent Democratic Assemblyman Arthur O. Eve, on Primary Day, Tuesday June 23rd.

The Boosters headed by Reynolds, declared that they are not fooled that the Eve faction will "Pull out all the stops" in the Democratic Party, if it is to win. Eve has written not to place his partner, Ambrose Lane in the runoverby race, because Lane's chances of winning at that time was only a shade of one half of 1/8th.

Says Opponents Are "Power Hungry"

The Boosters emphasized that in their opinion, the opponents of Smith are not necessarily out for self aggrandizement, as is now being charged by the Eve forces, but was a willful plot to "Take over" the party from the people's vote.

It was pointed out: "Our opponents are not motivated that way, but would have been a mistake. Further, they have attempted to deprive upon agitation, needs and desires.

Opponents Are Not Meaningful On Area Interests

Continuing, Reynolds said: "Our line factions built over several years which has given us social security, better housing and working conditions through home work." Our opponents have done little out for the people. John Smith can't get more votes for us through some power than by the opponent's brick-wall strategy. No one has a monopoly on the desire to improve conditions.

Hes Faith In Voters' Memories

Reading the near-hysteria in the black community when it was announced that a third candidate would enter the race in the mayoralty race, it soon became apparent that the big guns of organized labor and big wig that is 1970 that Eve would be defeated. I don't think that power and dedicated party workers will be from struggle off the back of the people's interest, and their political aspirations.

Ben-Hur Mitchell Negro leaders, including some active-ly-engaged in the Eve campaign have expressed the belief that Eve's chances of winning are slim at this election, but Lane's have hope. Your criterion editorial feels none be stopped.

ASSEMBLY CANDIDATE, 144th DISTRICT

Councilman Horace Johnson of the Masten District is a Democratic candidate for Assemblyman of the 144th District. The Johnson Boosters ask all of his friends to give him a vote on Primary Day, June 23rd.

KEEP MRS. MEADOWS ON COMMITTEE

Lillian Meadows, incumbent State Democratic committeewoman of the 143rd District, asks all of her friends to re-elect her on Primary Day, June 23rd, on her service record of community activity and experience of many years. Her number is No. 25-D. According to the nomination minutes, her opponent declined to run for office. She gently kissed her on the cheek saying: "I'm with you."

Mrs. Meadows is reported to be the first black elected official to support the SEEK program be brought to Buffalo when she was a member of the old Board of Supervisors.
