THE MILLBROOK ROUND TABLE

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Millbrook, N. Y.
 SINGLE COPIES THREE CENTS

TABLE TALK

The Methodist Sunday School will celebrate their Christmas festivities this (Friday) evening.

Reports of the drought still continue to be heard. Poughkeepsie is now suffering from lack of water.

The arrangements are not quite completed for the re-erection of the Altamont barn, which was destroyed by fire Thanksgiving.

If you wish to take advantage of the Christmas offer, printed on first page, come in before January 1st. Two subscriptions for $1.50.

It is seldom we are called upon to chronicle so many deaths in one issue of our paper. We feel particularly saddened since all were old and well known residents who will be greatly missed.

Several correspondents have failed to send in their letters this week. They will all be missed, particularly the Dover letter, but everything is excusable in the completion of Christmas preparations these last few days before the great holiday.

At the Reformed Sunday School the Christmas exercises are to be very simple this year. They announce some Bible stereopticon pictures and Christmas hymns, after which there will be a Christmas supper, to be held on Wednesday, December 23rd.

The Christmas issue of the Millbrook Mirror came out this week. It is a handsome twenty page paper, profusely illustrated with portraits of Millbrook men, residences, and places of business, well printed, and a very creditable piece of work; to them we extend a Christmas greeting.

If any proof of the truth of a certain old proverb were needed our obituary columns this week might furnish it. "A green Christmas makes a fat Kirkcaldy" does not go this year. The real fact is that the steady cold weather, though doubtless healthier than if it were changeable, is very fatal to people at all enfeebled by age or disease.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE

Mr. Wm. P. Wetheral, of New York, came up on the Thursday noon train.

Mrs. John Sanders and Mrs. Anna Willis were in Poughkeepsie, driving in and back.

Mrs. Joseph Berwin is improving a little, though still suffering severely from pneumonia.

Messrs. Charles Whaley and Stephen Benham drove to Poughkeepsie Wednesday.

Mrs. Charles McCleary went to Newburgh Friday afternoon, returning Sunday morning.

Miss Annie Varney will come up from New York, and spend the holidays with her parents.

Miss Abeling will spend the holidays at her home, departing from here Thursday morning.

Mr. John M. Ham was awarded a bronze medal on his corn exhibited at the St. Louis Exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kreamer have moved from Evanston, Ill., and are now located at Ohioago.

Mr. Frank Sealey is at home until after the holidays, coming up from New York Friday evening.

Miss Nellie Lovelace and Jasner Lake drove to Dover Wednesday morning returning at night.

Mr. William Noxon, who was recovering nicely from pneumonia, has not been as well again this week.

Mr. Chester S. Houghtaling, accompanied by Miss F. Mae West and his cousin spent Wednesday in Poughkeepsie.

Mr. W. H. Tompkins, of Verbank, was in Millbrook Saturday, and reported the sleighing excellent from Verbank to Millbrook.

Miss Libbie Howland went to LaGrangeville Thursday morning, to assist in caring for a sick member of the family of Mr. Townsend.

Miss Butler was called from New York Tuesday evening owing to the critical condition of her father, Mr. Theo. Butler. She returned Wednesday.

Mrs. Chas. Welling continues to improve, though slowly. Her daughter, Mrs. Wm. P. Wetheral, of New York, will remain with her until she regains her health.

Mrs. Collins was taken seriously ill at the home of her brother, in Salt Point, Sunday. She was somewhat better Wednesday, and was moved to the home of her daughter, Mr. Theo. Churchill, by her son, Mr. Collins. We hope she will entirely recover good health.

Miss Neva Hallock was in Millbrook Thursday, on her way home, after a visit of six weeks, during which time she visited in New York, Brooklyn, New Jersey, Wassaic and Tower Hill. Her father and sister, Mr. Egbert and Miss Lena met her at Miss Louisa Benham's and took her home.

Rev. J. E. Lyall was called to Hudson, New York, last week, to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Anna Clapper. Mrs. Clapper died very suddenly early Friday morning, and was buried Sunday afternoon, at three o'clock. The body was placed in the receiving vault at Hudson, where it will remain until spring. The entire community sympathizes with Mr. Lyall.

Mr. Clarence Brown, of Matteawan, was the guest of Mr. Isaac Jones over Sunday. He returned to his home Sunday evening.

Suite of three rooms, first floor, southern exposure, front and back entrance, rain water in kitchen; for rent. Apply at this office.

Miss Libbie Howland has just returned home from a visit with her nephew, Mr. Albert Davis, of New York City. Mr. Davis is a motorman in the great New York Subway. He has served fourteen years with the Manhattan L. Road, beginning as a ticket chopper and working his way up to engineer. When steam was displaced by electricity he was one of the first men to be given a position as motorman. He is a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, as well as Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, holding the office as Past Master, in the latter organization. Mr. Davis is as well a learned man on the construction and operation of the air brake as there is in the employ of the International Rapid Transit Railroad, if not the best. He formerly lived here, and has many friends who will be glad to here of his success.

Concerning Proctor's

The Christmas shoppers, especially those from out of town, find in the Proctor theatres a haven of rest from the fatigues of a trip through the crowded stores. At this time especially, a tour of the shops is most trying and a visit to Proctor houses not only restorative to the mind, but at the service of the patrons is a matter of every convenience of the toilet. The shops are now catering to their patrons with retiring rooms, but these are overcrowded at this time and greater comfort and privacy is to be had at the Proctor theatres, to say nothing of the mental refreshment that comes from a view of the smart specialties with which the Proctor bills abound. The admission fees are so small that even the most economical shopper finds it possible to enjoy a visit and profit by the many conveniences courteously extended. A ticket to Proctor's is better than a box of headache powders to the woman who has exhausted her nervous energy in making her progress through the Christmas crowds.
