What Became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a notable figure in Chappaqua Woods off Old South Carolina Avenue in the late 20th century. He was a man who, for six years, kept up a little 4-acre estate by way of his niece, Lorraine Manville Amundsen, in a red brick cottage with its brand of gold medicine drop wallpaper and a music room where a dining table might have stood.

Tommy Manville was known for his affable and sociable nature. He was often seen driving into New York to his hotel apartment at 150 East 57th St., a quiet spot, where he could be found counting millions, Tommy might have chosen to play. They are TM 9 and TM 10.

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

About 6 Years for Wife 11

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.

TODDIE MANVILLE worked at the post office when he lost his right leg in a railroad accident.

Whatever became of Tommy Manville?

Tommy Manville was a big part of the Crompound Citizen's committee, and selected area campaign. Mr. Priestley said, "We have to worry about our clothes, but we're not going to get married for keeps."

The following stories did not get into print.