

We are very glad to see it announced, under date of the 11th inst., that the President has sent the following nomination (among others) to the Senate:

Major Premotions—Major A. P. House (probably Howe) to be Lieutenant Colonel, 2d Artillery; Captain LaRohet L. Livingston to be Major, 4th Artillery.

We congratulate Major Livingston on receiving his long deserved promotion. Twenty-six years of service, eighteen as Captain, has fully earned a promotion which, but for the unjust interposition of officers from civil life, and through personal or political favor, would have long since been recorded.

Major Livingston has long borne the brevet rank of Major, and Lieutenant Colonel, conferred for meritorious service in the late war, and especially at the battle of Malvern Hills, in which his battery bore an effective and distinguished part, and for which he was highly commended.

Ma. Post: I suppose you take an interest in every matter that concerns or affects your little borough, and therefore I address you with the confidence that my words will not be all unheeded. Your effecting your incorporation was a stroke of policy that should be imitated by every village, even of more limited population; because such an organization has much more power to control the affairs of its community and provide not only for the beautifying of streets and preservation of all other public interests, but to prevent all nuisances and effectually conserve the public health.

Now I believe it is a well established fact that, in all newly settled countries, the decaying vegetation, and even in the prairie of the West the turning up of the "rottable mould," the accumulation perhaps of centuries, produces or feeds malarious diseases. Even with us it is thought an exceptionally fruitful or "growing" year is sure to be followed by exceptional diseases. The rankness of the growth but furnishes food for decay, and produces malaria from its noxious exhalations, and agues, diseases in which the talk on in fearful passages. The miasma fails to gather all the harvest of the fruitful year into its garner or healthy mow. A large part floats in the autumn atmosphere, steals in through slumbering windows or kisses him in the soft influences of the morning air. We cannot filtrate the air we breathe and cleanse it from all impurities, as we can the water which we drink; and even that is often impregnated with the subtle elements of disease borrowed from decaying vegetable substances through which it has percolated into our springs and wells and running brooks.

If, then, the sure source of malaria, and I think it can be traced to no other more sure, is found in vegetable decay, why should your authorities cover your streets and sidewalks with vegetable matter to rot and fester in the summer heat? Now and clean saw-dust looks very pleasant fresh-strown over muddy walks and crossings; but our sandy pathways can only be called "muddy" during a week or two of early spring time; and by the time the winter frosts are dried out of the ground the tempting saw-dust has become incorporated with the mud, retains moisture which would otherwise be dissipated, attracts and becomes a hiding place, a receptacle for flies and worms and malarious insects, and the seething mass soon becomes not only mud, but a putrid fountain of malaria and disease. As sure as effect follows cause this remedy for temporary inconvenience, it will be much cheaper, in the end, to plank sidewalks, and lay them carefully on stones to keep them from contact with the ground. There will be then no attracting and holding of moisture, corruptible matter, and sickening smells; and your summer air will be nearly as pure and as health giving as that which in winter sweeps down from your mountain tops to dissipate and freeze out the malarious elements of the growing season. But above all things do not add to the amount of matter that, at best, and under the inevitable laws of nature, must burden and corrupt the air with noisome and poisonous effluvia.

My dear Post, exert your whole and earnest influence to induce your village authorities to cleanse your streets, and sidewalks from mud, and all other corruptible matter at the first possible moment. Do not let there one sun-shiny day...

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

THE PRESIDENT'S OPERATION—ENGLAND'S UNPAID—"PAROLE'S" VICTORY—THE SENATE'S SCHEDULE—ENTER BARNUM—MILITARY OPERATIONS—REMARKS—NEW YORK, APRIL 18th, 1879.

There are always plenty of idle speculators on the brink of possible financial success, ready to turn their hands whenever the opportunity offers. When sporting men made...

There are always plenty of idle speculators on the brink of possible financial success, ready to turn their hands whenever the opportunity offers. When sporting men made...

There are always plenty of idle speculators on the brink of possible financial success, ready to turn their hands whenever the opportunity offers. When sporting men made...

There are always plenty of idle speculators on the brink of possible financial success, ready to turn their hands whenever the opportunity offers. When sporting men made...

There are always plenty of idle speculators on the brink of possible financial success, ready to turn their hands whenever the opportunity offers. When sporting men made...

There are always plenty of idle speculators on the brink of possible financial success, ready to turn their hands whenever the opportunity offers. When sporting men made...

There are always plenty of idle speculators on the brink of possible financial success, ready to turn their hands whenever the opportunity offers. When sporting men made...

There are always plenty of idle speculators on the brink of possible financial success, ready to turn their hands whenever the opportunity offers. When sporting men made...

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, APRIL 17, 1879.

The Senate has now an excellent presiding officer in the person of Mr. Thurman. Mr. Wheeler was compelled to leave the city for a time and the Democrats, as they had long since determined to do...

The Senate has now an excellent presiding officer in the person of Mr. Thurman. Mr. Wheeler was compelled to leave the city for a time and the Democrats, as they had long since determined to do...

The Senate has now an excellent presiding officer in the person of Mr. Thurman. Mr. Wheeler was compelled to leave the city for a time and the Democrats, as they had long since determined to do...

The Senate has now an excellent presiding officer in the person of Mr. Thurman. Mr. Wheeler was compelled to leave the city for a time and the Democrats, as they had long since determined to do...

The Senate has now an excellent presiding officer in the person of Mr. Thurman. Mr. Wheeler was compelled to leave the city for a time and the Democrats, as they had long since determined to do...

The Senate has now an excellent presiding officer in the person of Mr. Thurman. Mr. Wheeler was compelled to leave the city for a time and the Democrats, as they had long since determined to do...

The Senate has now an excellent presiding officer in the person of Mr. Thurman. Mr. Wheeler was compelled to leave the city for a time and the Democrats, as they had long since determined to do...

General Dix Dying.

General John A. Dix is dying in his house in West Twenty-first St., adjoining the Union Club. When he returned from his Long Island residence last autumn he was in ill health. Growing worse, he went out but little, and for five or six weeks past has left his room only for an occasional drive when the weather has been very mild.

General John A. Dix is dying in his house in West Twenty-first St., adjoining the Union Club. When he returned from his Long Island residence last autumn he was in ill health. Growing worse, he went out but little, and for five or six weeks past has left his room only for an occasional drive when the weather has been very mild.

General John A. Dix is dying in his house in West Twenty-first St., adjoining the Union Club. When he returned from his Long Island residence last autumn he was in ill health. Growing worse, he went out but little, and for five or six weeks past has left his room only for an occasional drive when the weather has been very mild.

General John A. Dix is dying in his house in West Twenty-first St., adjoining the Union Club. When he returned from his Long Island residence last autumn he was in ill health. Growing worse, he went out but little, and for five or six weeks past has left his room only for an occasional drive when the weather has been very mild.

General John A. Dix is dying in his house in West Twenty-first St., adjoining the Union Club. When he returned from his Long Island residence last autumn he was in ill health. Growing worse, he went out but little, and for five or six weeks past has left his room only for an occasional drive when the weather has been very mild.

General John A. Dix is dying in his house in West Twenty-first St., adjoining the Union Club. When he returned from his Long Island residence last autumn he was in ill health. Growing worse, he went out but little, and for five or six weeks past has left his room only for an occasional drive when the weather has been very mild.

General John A. Dix is dying in his house in West Twenty-first St., adjoining the Union Club. When he returned from his Long Island residence last autumn he was in ill health. Growing worse, he went out but little, and for five or six weeks past has left his room only for an occasional drive when the weather has been very mild.

ANOTHER TOWN HEARD FROM.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 31, 1878. Dear Sir:—I have always been opposed to patent medicines, but I had been an invalid for several years, and had tried almost every remedy, and had become almost desperate. I had taken seven bottles of your Blood and Liver Purifier, and my system was restored to its normal condition.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 31, 1878. Dear Sir:—I have always been opposed to patent medicines, but I had been an invalid for several years, and had tried almost every remedy, and had become almost desperate. I had taken seven bottles of your Blood and Liver Purifier, and my system was restored to its normal condition.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 31, 1878. Dear Sir:—I have always been opposed to patent medicines, but I had been an invalid for several years, and had tried almost every remedy, and had become almost desperate. I had taken seven bottles of your Blood and Liver Purifier, and my system was restored to its normal condition.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 31, 1878. Dear Sir:—I have always been opposed to patent medicines, but I had been an invalid for several years, and had tried almost every remedy, and had become almost desperate. I had taken seven bottles of your Blood and Liver Purifier, and my system was restored to its normal condition.

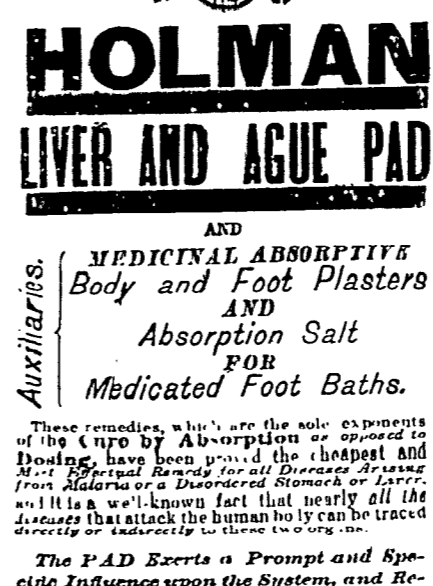

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 31, 1878. Dear Sir:—I have always been opposed to patent medicines, but I had been an invalid for several years, and had tried almost every remedy, and had become almost desperate. I had taken seven bottles of your Blood and Liver Purifier, and my system was restored to its normal condition.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 31, 1878. Dear Sir:—I have always been opposed to patent medicines, but I had been an invalid for several years, and had tried almost every remedy, and had become almost desperate. I had taken seven bottles of your Blood and Liver Purifier, and my system was restored to its normal condition.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 31, 1878. Dear Sir:—I have always been opposed to patent medicines, but I had been an invalid for several years, and had tried almost every remedy, and had become almost desperate. I had taken seven bottles of your Blood and Liver Purifier, and my system was restored to its normal condition.

Cure by Absorption!

Without Dosing, The Better Way

HOLMAN LIVER AND AGUE PAD

Medicinal Absorbent Body and Foot Plasters AND Absorption Salt FOR Medicated Foot Baths.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

DR. BAXTER'S MANDRAKE BITTERS

HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR FOR THE CURE OF COLIC, COLDS, INFLUENZA, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, AND ALL AFFECTIONS OF THE THROAT, BRONCHUS, LUNGS, AND LIVER.

GRAND OPENING OF

SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS

HENRY JACOBS' NEW STORE, ELIZABETHTOWN.

I again take pleasure in announcing to my friends and neighbors in this town and vicinity, that I have just returned from Europe with a large and well selected stock of goods, complete in every department, and at much lower prices than ever.

Two Cases Choice Prints at 5 Cents per yard and over. Heavy Unbleached Cotton at 4 Cents. Fine Bleached Cotton, full yard wide, at 5, 6, 7, and 8 Cents.

Dress Silks, in Black, Gros Grain and Colors AT BOTTOM PRICES.

FANCY GOODS AND NOTIONS

LADIES' HOSIERY, LINES AND LACE COLLARS, AND CUFFS, HANDKERCHIEFS, EMBROIDERY, RIBBONS, RUCHINGS, SILK HANDKERCHIEFS, TIES, AND BOWS, POCKET BOOKS, FANCY BACK COMBS, HAIR OIL, PERFUMERY, ALL KINDS OF FANCY SOAP, ALL COLORS OF CARD BOARD, AND ALSO, BERLIN ZEPHYRUS, 10 CENTS PER DOZEN, AND A HUNDRED OTHER ARTICLES, IN PROPORTION TO SILK AND WORSTED FRINGES, TRIMMING SILK SHOES AND DRESS BUTTONS, IN THE LATEST STYLES OF THE TIMES.

JEWELRY, SILVER PLATED WARE, GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

Mens' Youths' and Boys' Clothing, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Valises, Umbrellas, GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

Arrival and Departure of the Steamer "Lafayette" for New York from Elizabethtown, N.J., on Saturday, April 25th, 1879.

METHODIST Episcopal Church, Elizabethtown, N.J. Sabbath School, under the supervision of Rev. J. H. Potter, closed on Wednesday evening at 7 P.M.

Local and Miscellaneous. Another heavy snow storm about ten inches fell.

Dr. J. H. Potter, of Schuylkill county, Pa., has been elected to the office of Moderator of the Synod of the Episcopal Church, for the year ending at Elizabethtown, N.J., on the 1st of May.

Mr. William Hines has sold on Park street to A. K. Dudley, Esq. a large lot of land, and has located there for an orchard.

Mr. Miller's New Road at Lakewood has been substantially completed, and is now open to the public.

Mr. W. W. Beebe, who has spent the winter in the Adirondacks, returned to his home in New York, Monday morning, and is in very delicate health when he here last season.