

Democratic Republican Nominations.

WINFIELD S. HANCOCK FOR PRESIDENT.

WILLIAM H. ENGLISH FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE

Democratic State Convention.

Democratic County Convention.

Large portraits of the Republican candidates for President and Vice-President are being freely distributed in this town and county, but they are very cloudy.

According to tables prepared under the eyes of a radical secretary of war, Missouri armed and equipped about 100,000 men.

But a large proportion of those Vermont did send to the field were drawn from other states, notably from New York.

It may be noticed, in passing, that Massachusetts, too, before she was able to enlist among the colored men of Virginia and the Carolinas, drew largely from the fighting population of New York city and state.

"Hon. William A. Richardson, Secretary of the Treasury under President Grant, has decided to support Hancock and English."

When Mr. Lincoln was elected President, says the Argus, in 1860, he received 1,868,382 votes.

The Democrats in Fort Henry are "up and doing" and have organized a Hancock & English Club.

WORK AT THE BROKEN TUNNEL.

The Caisson which is Being Slowly Lowered Over the Fatal Spot.

More than seven weeks have passed since the occurrence of the accident at the Hudson River tunnel.

After the air had been turned on for twenty minutes the flow of water from the discharging shaft suddenly ceased, and silt made its appearance.

Nothing more was done yesterday, but this morning the work of removing the silt will be begun.

About every county in the state, except Orleans, holds one or more agricultural fairs.

Gen. Hancock has winning ways. Just see what a number of Republicans have concluded to vote for him.

Seventy five families have been burned out of house and home by several forest fires in Lower Canada.

Dogs chased the murderer of their master, at Navasota, Texas, but only held him fast when they caught him.

When Jim Keene figured up that he had lost a round million of dollars in the wheat trade he sent out and bought a box of cigars costing $100.

Dr. Tanner lectured in New York Thursday night to a respectable audience.

When Mr. Lincoln was elected President, says the Argus, in 1860, he received 1,868,382 votes.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

It is believed here that the Republicans have collected and spent $1,000,000 for every one of the Democrats have used in this campaign.

Most extraordinary weather we have had. Especially and proportionately so in swift succession.

The ingenuity of some swindlers in getting money is surprising. One of the boldest tricks played for a long time, with a view of swindling about it, involved the personating of an Episcopalian clergyman.

The bathing season is about over now, but some incidents have occurred which may serve as warnings to swimmers next year.

Our Israelitish fellow citizens have been celebrating their New Year's Day with unwonted splendor.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

I intend in my next that I might soon be in a position to give some information about the Signal Service and Weather Bureau which would be of general interest.

It happened to be intended for another of the same party.

MAINE.

The State Election in Maine was held on Monday, and, as in Vermont, every effort was made by the Republicans, (with Blaine at the head with $100,000 from the National Republican Committee) to make the states thunderer for the Presidential Campaign.

The election of Plaised, Democratic nominee for Governor is assured by from 3,000 to 5,000 majority, while 3 and possibly 4 out of 5 Congressmen elected are Democrats, and both branches of the Legislature are in doubt.

This result has not been achieved by money, on the contrary the cause was Principles against Money, and be it said to the credit of Maine, Principles have won.

Such, we say, are the probabilities of the situation. Everything preges a victory for the Democracy; but this great hope and prospect may even yet be thrown away by folly, indolence or neglect.

The New York Tribune prints for the edification of its readers the following Vermont table. We have taken the trouble to add the proximate percentage of the majorities upon the Republican vote:

Table with 2 columns: Year, Rep. Vote, Dem. Vote, and Percentage.

The average percentage is fifty-seven. That of this year, therefore, falls much below the average.

The democratic party is the only national party. It runs a state ticket in every state of the Union which the republicans do not.

Secretary Sherman is anxious to know what will happen at Washington "if the restraint of a Republican President is withdrawn."

Col. Frederick A. Conkling, brother of Senator Roscoe Conkling, is as shrewd a political observer as can be found within the state.

A friend of mine, says the rotator of this story about a lady who belongs to the sect of Perfectionists, "met in the street the little boy who was out at the knee and elbow and looked very disappointed. He asked the lad where his mother was, and found that she was attending a Perfectionist meeting somewhere. And then the boy gave a sigh and said, 'And when papa comes home and does not find the dinner ready you just ought to hear him yell!'"
