Good News for Salamanca

The Trustees for the Waiving Depositors of the First National Bank in this city yesterday announced that a dividend of ten per cent of the principal sum of the certificates of participation, together with interest at two per cent per annum, has been declared, and will be payable Tuesday, November 13th.

In order to receive the dividend, it will be necessary that certificate holders present to the First National Bank their certificates for the endorsement thereon of such payment.

The action of the Trustees for the Waiving Depositors of the First National in declaring a ten per cent dividend at this particular time will doubtless be much appreciated by the depositors in Salamanca and immediate vicinity and is good news at a time when good news is about as scarce as the proverbial "hens teeth."

Approximately $81,800 will be dispersed in this first dividend and should help considerably at this season of the year.

State Funds Will Be Sought For Street Work

The regular meeting of the Common Council was held at the City Building, Monday evening and much of the evening was devoted to the discussion of street improvement.

Superintendent of Public Works Cheney was in Buffalo Friday in conference with officials of the State Highway Department and at that meeting applied for funds from the state for the resurfacing, widening and general improvement of the streets constituting part of the thru highway routes within the city limits.

Specifications have been prepared by Superintendent Cheney and submitted to the state on the following streets: Broad street, exclusive of that part resurfaced last summer; Main, Front, Center and East and West State streets.

The superintendent also informed the council that he was endeavoring to get funds from the state for the improvement of Main, Wildwood and Broad streets, which are considered to be in need of repair and improvement at the present time.

If and when funds are allotted for the designated street improvements, the state will submit the work for bids and the contractors who are awarded the work will be required to hire the labor from the Salamanca relief rolls.

Superintendent Cheney also announced that forty or more unemployed Salamanca men will be given work in making an automobile traffic survey on the principal streets of the city in connection with the State Highway survey to be made on November 18th to 25th. This will reveal figures for winter traffic. A summer traffic survey was made several weeks ago. State funds are to be made available for this work.

Former High School Athlete Dies From Injuries—Many Attend Funeral Services Held Here Wednesday

William Brown, 22 years old, of Salamanca, was fatally injured Sunday in the last 30 seconds of play in a football game between the Benz Engineers of Salamanca and the Hamburg team. He died a few hours later in the Our Lady of Victory Hospital in Lackawanna. It is stated that his death was the result of the fracture of one of the vertebrae in the neck which had cut an artery causing a hemorrhage of the brain which resulted in death.

The accident occurred shortly before the final whistle in the Hamburg game when the young athlete had been shifted to a position at left end. He tackled a Hamburg player and the two went down on the field while two other Hamburg players running close piled on top of them. In the pile up it is believed that he was struck by someone's shoe of knee, resulting in the fatal injury.

Judge Hill Delivers Lecture On Christian Science

Judge Frederick C. Hill, C. S. of Los Angeles, California, a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ Scientist in Boston, delivered a lecture on Christian Science, entitled: "Christian Science, God's Law of Progress", at the high school auditorium last evening. The lecturer was introduced by Mrs. Helen Pickup, First Reader, of the local church. The lecture, sponsored by the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Salamanca, was in part as follows:

In presenting the subject of Christian Science to you I shall make an earnest endeavor to present its object and purpose from the standpoint of what it is and how it operates, as distinguished from that which it is often erroneously believed to be.

I can think of no better introduction in presenting the motive and purpose of Christian Science than to refer to a public declaration recently made by a clergyman who, in the course of a sermon is reported to have said "Christian Science sprang directly out of the Holy Scriptures for Christ introduced healing and the driving out of superstition in his own day."

From this declaration it should be plainly apparent that the religious world is beginning to recognize that Christian Science is a religion and that the fundamental purpose of this religion is to re-instate the essential elements of primitive Christianity, including the element of spiritual healing. Christian Science is a discovery. It is the discovery of an absolute provable law. This discovery was made in 1866 by a gentle New England woman, Mary Baker Eddy. She defined Christian Science "As the law of God, the law of good, interpreting and demonstrating the divine Principle and rule of Universal harmony." She wrote and published her book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" which she designated the Christian Science Text Book. This book is not a Bible. It is not a substitute for the Bible, but it is just that which its name indicates, a Key to the Bible to aid and assist in discovering, and interpreting and applying the healing spiritual truths set forth in the great English classic the King James version of the Bible.

The interest in this book has grown by leaps and bounds until it has become recognized and declared by many as the most important production among religious writings with the exception of the Holy Bible.

It is now more than fifty years since this book became public property. The interest of the reading public therein contains unabated.

Democrats Sweep To Victory In State, Nation

Heavy Democratic Victories For All State Officers—County Remains In The G. O. P. Column

New York state went heavily Democratic in the election held Tuesday. All state officers running on the Democratic ticket were renamed and the Democrats gained a seat in the House of Representatives in an up-state district, the 38th, where James L. Whitley, present Republican incumbent was defeated by James P. B. Duffey, his Democratic opponent.

For the first time since 1913 the state legislature, both in the Assembly and the State Senate is in the hands of the Democratic powers. In the Assembly, traditional strong hold of the Republicans the Democrats have a clear majority of four votes and in the state senate which has been closely contested for several years, the majority party has a lead of at least nine. For the first time in the history of the state a woman will take a seat in the State Senate, Mrs. Rhoda Fox Graves of Ogdensburg becoming the first female state senator by defeating John L. O'Connor, also of Ogdensburg, by a wide margin.

Vote in State

At a late hour Wednesday the figures on state officers were as follows: For Governor, Lehman D, 2,342,104; Moses R, 1,681,148; For Lieutenant Governor, Bray D, 1,895,712; Douglas R, 1,162,921; For Comptroller, Tremaine D, 1,912,540; Campbell R, 1,106,708; For Attorney General, Bennett D, 1,907,022; Powers R, 1,106,708; For Senator, Copeland D, 1,951,030; Cluett R, 1,219,751. Sixty Attending Emergency College

The emergency college which was inaugurated last month locally thru Alfred University, the State of New York and the Federal government, is progressing very satisfactorily and is receiving the enthusiastic endorsement of all those who have enrolled in its courses. The average attendance the past week has been sixty-one and the number is expected to reach and perhaps exceed seventy within the next few weeks.

Classes are being held in the high school, Jefferson street, in the afternoon from 4:30 to 9 o'clock in the evening, five days each week. Students are registered in four courses, which are English, History, Mathematics, and Language, with either German or French.

This constitutes a full freshman course and any student who sincerely desires to advance himself can gain from 32 to 34 hours of college credit by the completion of this program. These credits will be accepted at Alfred and other colleges. Several are taking courses simply for the educational value and with no idea of gaining college credits.

The permanent teaching staff has now been engaged, which includes: Miss Mary Brick of New York City, who received an A. B. degree at Hunter and an M. A. degree at Columbia, will teach mathematics; Ross G. Frounwick, Attica, M. A. Syracuse, and seven years of high school and nine years of college teaching experience, will teach French and German; C. Duryea Smith, Brentwood, who has done work toward his Ph. D. degree at Columbia, will teach English; and Emerson G. Chamberlain, Angelica, Alfred '28, and M. A. Cornell, will have charge of history.

Miss Nellie G. Henry and Miss Freda Du Bray who were here last week to conduct the sale and exhibit of articles made by the blind, left Monday for Owego where they will arrange for a sale in the Binghamton district.

Text Books and Local Bond Issue Both Defeated

The proposition for the city to buy text books for the use of pupils in the public schools and the proposition to issue bonds to the amount of $12,000 for the purpose of disposing of the sewage entering the Allegany river within the city limits were both defeated in Tuesday's election.

The text book proposition which seemed to be the more discussed one of the two was defeated by a vote of 110. There were cast in favor of the proposition 873, and against, 983. The wards voted on the text book proposition as follows:

First Ward, district 1, for 47, against 79.

Second district—for 15, against 38.

Second Ward—for 216, against 279.

Third Ward—for 154, against 154.

Fourth Ward, district 1—for 165, against 171.

Second district—for 88, against 143.

Fifth Ward—for 188, against 119.

The bonding proposition lost probably because of the fact that the program for the use of the $12,000 was rather indefinite and the average taxpayer nowadays, wants to know just how the money is going to be spent before he votes in favor of spending it. The bonding proposition lost by 291, 577 voting for the proposition and 863 against. The vote on the $12,000 bonding, issue by wards was as follows:

First Ward, district—for 94, against 115.

Second district—for 62, against 28.

Second Ward—for 134, against 243.

Third Ward—for 85, against 108.

Fourth Ward, district one—for 72, against 128.

Second district—for 58, against 100.

Fifth Ward—for 72, against 146.

Cheese Week

In a world where it has become popular for many industries to sit back and cry for help, it is not without significance that one of our major agricultural industries, cheese-making, is putting its faith in the old-time practice of helping itself.

Confronted with a 30,000,000 pound surplus of cheese, the dairy farmer believes that if he himself eats an extra pound or so of cheese and he can convince his city brother that he should go and do likewise the cheese surplus will be taken care of. If this program of self-help succeeds, man's best friend, the cow—who has grown rather lean and lank these past days—will once more be established on a paying basis. National Cheese Week—to be held this year November 11 to 17—is the dairyman's and the cheese industry's answer to the surplus problem within the industry.

Isn't a case of the dairy farmer lifting himself entirely by his own well-worn bootstraps, for the success of the program depends upon the cooperation of the consuming public. The goal is for each family in the United States to eat one pound more cheese than it would ordinarily consume during the week of November 11 to 17. This should prove to be no hardship; for cheese is one of the most economical staple commodities on the market today. Per pound it represents the highest food value obtainable and at the lowest cost. Because cheese is the most highly concentrated protein food known and contains in addition valuable milk minerals, its energy value is an eloquent inducement to housewives to include an extra pound of it in the menu for November 11 to 17. This is the second National Cheese Week in the program of increased consumption undertaken by the dairy farmers and the industry as a whole, backed by governors of those states in which cheesemaking is a vital factor in industry.

Cheese Week was undertaken again this year largely because of the success of the week last year. That program definitely convinced the dairy farmer that it is possible for him to work out his own salvation. In the course of Cheese Week in 1933, the industry succeeded in putting into consumption the entire national surplus of cheese estimated at well over 30 million pounds.

The effect upon prices paid the farmer for his milk extended far beyond the actual confines of the week itself and made possible the continuance in business of thousands and thousands of dairy farmer.

It had the further effect of permanently increasing our national per capita cheese consumption to a noticeable degree.

With the ground work of national education about cheese, its economy and high food value already laid, the dairy farmers and the industry as a whole believe that the second National Cheese Week will prove even more successful. Certainly the spectacle of an agricultural industry taking steps to construct its own future along sound economic principles is an encouraging sign of better business all along the line.

So, "Let's have another cup of coffee, let's have another piece of cheese."
