

THE FIRE INSURANCE STANDARD

The fact that agents and brokers everywhere are pushing their companies with arguments that they are just as good as the stock companies represented by this agency shows that the old line companies' policies have become the standard fire insurance policies of America. When that policy, by which other companies are measured, can be handled without extra cost, is it not wisdom to insist on having a standard policy itself?

That the old line companies have become the standard is because—

- FIRST. They do the largest business.
- SECOND. They have paid the biggest losses.
- THIRD. Their assets and surplus are larger than ever.
- FOURTH. Many of them are more than one hundred years old.
- FIFTH. Among them are the best known Companies.
- SIXTH. They are always fair in settlement.
- SEVENTH. They are always prompt in payment.

When you need fire insurance, ask us to write you a policy in an old line company.

Coal in the Ice Regions.
Geologists have discovered immense deposits of coal in Spitzbergen, and it is now apparent that, in spite of the cold and fog, Spitzbergen is a land fraught with many commercial possibilities. The coal is practically all on the surface, and deep mining is unnecessary.

Only a Shepherd Dog.
A shepherd dog owned by a man in Leominster, Mass., says a writer in Our Dumb Animals, roused the family by his barking one January night. The husband, wife and two children barely escaped. Once in safety the dog's master tried to locate his brave rescuer, but the smoke was too dense. The body was found near the kitchen door leading into the front hall. Only a dog!

Much Truth in Her Remark.
In a Western court a certain man was defending himself in a suit for divorce. "She's unreasonable," he contended, adding, "why the other day she called me the laziest man in the world because I threw a kiss at her."

Caution's Thought.
