

COOLIDGE PROCLAIMS DAY OF THANKSGIVING

Calls Upon People to Offer Thanks for Prosperity and Peace Which Have Existed During Past Year.

President Coolidge has issued his annual Thanksgiving proclamation by calling upon the people to offer thanks on Thursday, November 29, for prosperity in agriculture, industry and commerce, and for the peace which has existed in the last year.

"By the President of the United States, a proclamation. The season again approaches when it has been the custom for generations to set apart a day of thanksgiving for the blessings which the giver of all good and perfect gifts has bestowed upon us during the year. It is most becoming that we should do this for the goodness and mercy of God which have followed us through the year, and for the peace, recognition and acknowledgment."

"Through his divine favor, peace and tranquility have been brought out of the land. He has protected our country as a whole against pestilence and disaster and has directed us in the way of honor and peace. Our fields have been abundantly productive; our industries have flourished; our commerce has increased; wages have been lucrative and contentment has followed the undisturbed pursuit of honest toil."

"As we have prospered in material things, so have we also grown and expanded in things spiritual. Through divine inspiration we have enlarged our charities and our missions; we have been imbued with high ideals which have opened our eyes to the needs of the world and the promotion of the brotherhood of man through peace and good will."

"Wherefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, do hereby set apart Thursday, the 29th day of November next as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer; and I recommend that on that day the people shall cease from their daily work and in their homes and in their accustomed places of worship devoutly give thanks to the Almighty for the many and great blessings they have received, and seek his guidance that they may deserve a continuance of his favor."

"I witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the United States."

"Done at the city of Washington, the 23d day of October, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight, and of the independence of the United States, the one hundred and fifty-fifth."

"Calvin Coolidge." "By the President: Frank B. Kellogg, Secretary of State."

RECORD OF TAMMANY HALL

"Tammany is no more Democratic than Standard Oil. It is a capitalist business concern handling certain wars." "Fry and plunder go hand in hand." "Charles Murphy, the man who made Smith, succeeds Croker."

"New York experienced a period of rule by an absentee landlord, for Croker spent the new years of his political career in England, Ireland, and on ocean steamers. Government by cable was what some of the newspaper chose to call it. At his death his estate was estimated at $5,000,000."

"After a short experiment with a triumvirate of three leaders, including Charles F. Murphy, the latter became leader. It was under the Murphy regime that 'Al' Smith blossomed into a 'statesman' that the 'new Tammany' was born. The 'new Tammany' eventually emerged as a system, and that relations with corporations became established on a basis of mutual respect."

"The 'Hearted' Tim Sullivan—He left only $2,000,000." "Murphy had been dock commissioner and had organized a contracting and trucking company which leased docks from the city and made 5,000 per cent on its investment."

WHAT OTTINGER HAS DONE

(Syracuse Post-Standard, Tuesday, October 2, 1928.)

To the Editor of The Post-Standard: What has Albert Ottinger done as attorney-general of New York state which recommends him to you beyond that which any attorney general does? Syracusean.

Mr. Ottinger has done the routine work of his office very satisfactorily. Beyond the mere routine, however, he has prosecuted loan sharks; he has administered vigorously the workmen's compensation law; and he has efficiently enforced in all departments under his jurisdiction the laws on the books, some of which he recommended should be placed on the books. The total of proceedings and inquiries he has conducted has been about 60,000. His saving to the people of the state through his inquiries and prosecutions has run into hundreds of millions.

He went after the stock fraud operators. He divided the state into zones and took the testimony of 15,000 people. He halted a number of notorious swindlers. He closed one stock exchange in New York. He conducted a series of raids on bucket shops in the largest number of cities, which was permanently to suppress their form of swindle. Ottinger's investigation of investment trusts revealed the rapid growth in the United States of this new form of financial enterprise and exposed weaknesses which he seeks to have eliminated by legislative action. These 'traps' were obtaining from this country a billion dollars. A survey he issued in printed form has been adopted by the National Association of Securities Commissioners. He also investigated the subject of real estate mortgage bonds, and formulated regulations to correct improper practices.

The investigation of the Martin anti-stock fraud law an effective instrument with which to combat stock swindlers came in the form of two decisions sustaining him from the State Court of Appeals and in the United States Supreme Court. Mr. Ottinger went after the loan sharks all through the state. These 'traps' were obtaining from 250 to 1,000 per cent on small loans, from needy workers, the usurious fleecing amounting to $25,000,000 a year. A large number of these loans were for urgent needs, funerals, births, sickness and injuries. He instituted a series of conferences with large employers, organized charity officials and labor leaders to devise methods for supplying credit to small borrowers. As a result companies have already installed loan systems for their employees, and legislation will be introduced at Albany not only to protect the worker, but to provide him with additional credit facilities. He sent usurers to prison. The offices of the loan pirates were closed throughout the state. Under the anti-monopoly law Attorney General Ottinger proceeded against profiteers in foods, coal and ice. Numerous combinations were dissolved following actions in the Supreme Court. Grifters whom Mr. Ottinger got after included poultry men—he drew the bill which is now law for the erection of the poultry exchange—the ice dealers who sold in small amounts coal dealers who have been imposing on small purchasers, and his is the better egg law of 1917, which prevents out-of-state dealers from sending inferior products into New York.

An accumulation of 1,000 workmen's compensation cases on appeal in the labor bureau of the department of law when Ottinger became attorney general was disposed of.

TO MARK HISTORIC PLACES

Suitable Markers Prepared by the State Education Department and Erected by the Division of Highways. Historic places of interest throughout New York state are to be indicated by suitable markers prepared by the State Education Department and erected by the Division of Highways on sites designated by the State Historian, according to an announcement of the New York Development Association, Inc., principal office at Watertown.

This subject aroused much interest at a recent conference held at Utica of representatives of civic organizations of Northern and Central New York, initiated by the New York Development Association, Inc., at which a resolution by W. Pierrepont White, Honorary President of the Mohawk Valley Historic Association, was adopted, requesting additional appropriations of $50,000 each for the Education Department and the Highway Division of the Department of Public Works to be used in part for carrying on this work. Upon presenting copies of this resolution to the heads of these departments, the New York Development Association, Inc. was advised by the State Education Department that $70,000 is now available for preparing historic markers, and Hon. Frederick C. Stewart, Superintendent of the Department of Public Works, volunteered the services of the Division of Highways to erect these markers along the state highway system with charge to the Department of Education.

State Historian A. C. Flick is now compiling information in regard to the historic points which should be marked. Blank forms upon which to describe historic places to be marked by county highway officials will erect the markers furnished by the State. The Development Association is ready to negotiate with highway officials on the subject. The Division of Highways received very high praise at the Utica conference for the work now being done in marking villages and streams. When historic places are also marked, the interest in this region to tourists will be greatly increased, and the pride of the various communities in their own history will be much enhanced. "It is very gratifying," declared George A. Lawyer, Managing Director of the New York Development Association, "to have the hearty co-operation of these State Departments and to know that this important work, in which we have long been interested, can be commenced immediately."

SAVES CHILD'S LIFE

Piece of Coal Shuts Off Respiration in One Hour.

Margaret Mary Mitchell, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mitchell, of Stone Mills, was operated on for the removal of a small piece of coal from her windpipe at the Chevalier Johnson clinic at Philadelphia, Pa., Friday. On Wednesday the child was playing about the home, picked up a small piece of coal and swallowed it. It lodged in the windpipe. It worked its way through the air passage until respiration was shut off in one hour for 51 hours. She was taken to the Philadelphia hospital on the advice of physicians and the operation proved successful.

War is much like other things. People wouldn't have so much of it if they couldn't have it charged. Michigan farmers report that there is a surplus of potatoes, and the Democratic year-book will show that this is due to a Republican administration.

MRS. MARY J. GOOKINS

Aged and Highly Esteemed Resident Passes Away at Home of Son, Emory Gookins, at 85 Years.

Boonville, Oct. 30.—This community was saddened when it became known that Mrs. Mary J. Gookins had passed away quite suddenly at the home of her son, Emory Gookins, west of this village, in the town of Ava, Saturday evening at the advanced age of 85 years. While Mrs. Gookins had not been in the best of health for some time, she had been up and about her home and duties as usual, until the day before her death when she was taken ill and passed away quite suddenly. Mrs. Gookins was a splendid Christian woman. She was beloved by all who knew her, especially the children, and was a great help in life to smile and speak a word of cheer. Mrs. Gookins was a daughter of the late Oliver and Henrietta Welch Capron and was born in the town of Ava, December 9, 1843. NEW BRIDGE ASSURED

Will Span the St. Lawrence River From Caughnawaga to Lachine and Will Cost $1,800,000.

Malone, Oct. 31.—Of great interest to all northern New York motorists and to all who plan to visit Montreal, is the announcement that a new bridge across the St. Lawrence from Caughnawaga to Lachine is now assured. Work on this new link which will greatly shorten the distance to Montreal without ferrying, will be started early next year and will be rushed to completion. It will cost $1,800,000. Plans have been completed by the department of public works and labor of the province of Quebec and the commission recently named under the act of the last session of the Quebec legislature will call soon for tenders. The service at present is by ferry boats between the Lachine wharf and the Caughnawaga Indian village. The bridge is probably will be a short distance below the Canadian Pacific railway bridge below Lachine, thus eliminating a level crossing and also shortening the distance.

HOTEL BURNED

Fort Covington Inn Guttered by Fire—Guests Escaped by Climbing Down Ladders.

Fire early Friday morning gutted the Fort Covington Inn, Fort Covington's only hotel, and the guests climbed in their night clothes, escaped by climbing down ladders from the roofs of porches. The fire originated in the basement, possibly from rubbish near an ever-heated furnace, and spread quickly through the building. It is a three-story brick building, containing about 40 rooms. It was almost completely rebuilt about six years ago by William Dupree, the present owner. Since that time it had been operated by Daniel Grant. The outer walls of the building and several rooms are still intact. Mr. Dupree plans to repair the building soon. Mr. Grant expects to continue to operate it. Practically all the furnishings were destroyed. The guests lost most of their clothes and personal effects. Dupree's loss is said to be covered by insurance. The total loss is estimated at $5,000.

Cheese Business at Cape Vincent Will Probably be Included in Kraft-Phenix Combine.

The E. W. Cooch cheese business at Cape Vincent and the other places in Jefferson county will probably be included in the Kraft-Phenix Company combine according to reports in dairying circles. The Kraft-Phenix Company has been buying up a large number of cheese factories in Jefferson, Lewis and St. Lawrence counties, and it is understood that the Cooch holdings are to be added. Besides the business in this section, E. W. Cooch has a large number of number of cheese factories in Wisconsin and the middle west which will be included in the deal, if it materializes. The company has large holdings in Philadelphia, Pa., where the main offices of the company are located. The report of the purchase of the Cooch properties is a part of the program of the Kraft-Phenix Company. The Chicago and New York concerns has already taken over the Fickelshaupt and Fort holdings in Jefferson county and the Miller-Richardson holdings in Lewis and St. Lawrence counties.

LOWVILLEANS IN FLORIDA

Several Scamper About the Beach, Bask in the Sunshine, Go Bathing, Play Golf and Have a Good Time.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Oct. 30. (Special)—Lowville's colony of winter visitors who will spend the season here in the sub-tropics, far away from the rigors of the cold months, will be considerably increased when additional numbers will come here in the fall and winter to enjoy the warm sunshine and the many tourist recreations.

Several reservations from Lowville residents have already been received for the season now on, most of them coming south, by automobile, while later arrivals will come by rail. Lowville residents who spent the season in Florida last year included Mrs. G. M. Hutchins, Mr. and Mrs. Miss Erma I. Bassett, Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Bassett, Mrs. A. W. Davenport, Mrs. Grace B. Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Millard and son, Mr. and Mrs. Leon F. Graves.

Many new attractions have been provided for winter visitors by wise city fathers, including additional game facilities, two new golf courses, tennis courts, roque lawns, bowling rinks, shuffle board courts, horseshoe pitching and quill courts, trapshooting ranges and archery lanes. Most of his famous concert band has been engaged for a twenty week season, beginning December 1st and continuing through into April. They will give free programmes daily in picturesque Wilshire Park. Fifteen amateur and professional golf tournaments have been arranged for the season, the first events to be held next month.

Indication that many Lowville residents plan to spend their first season here is evidenced by the numerous reservations for the new illustrated booklet, descriptive of the famed Sunshine City and its surroundings, which is being mailed free to those writing for it. Sun bathing, the new health vogue, inaugurated here two years ago by Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Croft, has become so popular that more than ever before already coming to St. Petersburg in September and early October to indulge in this invigorating health insurance. Two solariums have recently been erected by the city of Tampa Bay beach, and two large private institutions are now in the course of construction on Gulf Islands.

All free public schools and the Junior College are open for the season in which sixty-three per cent of the enrollment already consists of the children of visitors. Ninety-six yachts and house boats have arrived in the three yacht basins, and the number is expected to exceed 600 before the season's peak is reached. Tourist experts predict that a quarter million sojourners will spend the season here.
