

OUTING AND CLAM BAKE OF LOWVILLE FISH AND GAME CLUB

Will be Held on Sunday, August 25-Chowder Served All Day and Dinner at 2 p. m.—Sports and Special Events.

Next to the county fair there is just one other event particularly looked forward to by Lowville sportsmen and friends—the August 25th clam bake and the Lowville Fish and Game Club—and this year it happens to be the Sunday after the fair, a fitting climax to the week. Sunday, August 25, is the date set by the committee for the annual jamboree, and, as usual, the main part of the programme will be in charge of those well known anti-hunger twins, Nick Klett and Cy Reed. Their part of the programme starts early and continues late. Chowder will be served all day, commencing at 8 a. m., and the dinner will come on about 2 p. m. This will have a menu including chicken, two kinds of potatoes, corn on the cob, cranberry sauce, and usual accompaniments. The sports programme will have something of interest to all. The trapshoot will be supported by the 'Greenhorns,' so that all those desiring to pull a trigger will have the opportunity, whether they can hit anything or not.

BLIQU THEATRE, LOWVILLE, PROGRAMME FOR THE WEEK

'The River of Romance,' To-Night August 15th. One of those delightful stories of the old plantation and Southern days is on to-night for the last time at the Bliou. It is a delightful story, full of atmosphere, and a romantic theme that rolls softly through the Southern life in the 1840's. The cast includes: Mary, Katherine, John, and other stars.

'Desert Nights,' with John Gilbert, August 16-17. The ladies most favorite stage lover will be seen in 'Desert Nights,' Friday and Saturday. This is a play of the South African Diamond mines with all the thrills that section affords.

'Dangerous Curves,' with Clara Bow, August 18-20. Clara Bow's fans and they are legion, will have an opportunity to see their favorite in the much-heralded role of bare-back rider and female circus performer in 'Dangerous Curves.' Miss Bow is the bare-back rider of the circus, in love with Richard Arlen, a tight-rope walker. Others of the company who have a part in this play are: John, and other stars.

FARM BUILDINGS BURN

Fire of unknown origin, discovered about 10 o'clock Monday night, destroyed two barns on the Robert Merrill farm, town of Siskinck with a loss of about $10,000. The loss was partially covered by insurance. Neighbors discovered the flames and aroused Mr. Merrill, who was in bed. The large hay barn was burning and nothing could be done to save it although farmers from miles around hurried to the scene. One of the horse barns, tool house and house caught fire. All were destroyed. A team, four calves, five hogs, a two-year-old bull and a large number of hens, chickens and turkeys were burned. The flames also destroyed a milk truck, 150 bushels of hay and a large amount of farm machinery. The house was saved after a hard fight.

LOWVILLE OPERA HOUSE WEEKLY PROGRAMME

'Noah's Ark' To-Night, Thursday, August 15th. To those of our readers who have not availed themselves of the opportunity to see one of the greatest scenic effects that have been produced on the stage, they should not miss 'Noah's Ark' which will be given for the last time to-night. This absorbing romance, spanning 170 centuries, is unfolded in 'Noah's Ark,' the two million dollar production of Warner Brothers. The picture, in its ancient sequences, goes back to the time of Noah. In its modern scenes it depicts the present World War. Around this is a love story that appeals to all. One of the features of the Biblical student is the hundred of tableaux, including thirty versions of the Bible. Over 10,000 feet of film were used in the production of this play. Remember, to-night will be the last opportunity to witness one of the world's greatest pictures.

CHANGES CORPORATE NAME

J. I. Case Threshing Machine Company, Inc., Honeo Falls, to be Known as J. I. Case Co., Inc. The world-famous old concern, J. I. Case Threshing Machine Company, Inc., of Racine, Wisconsin, has changed its corporate name to J. I. Case Co., Inc. There will be no change in the name of the stock certificates of the corporation. Recently Case acquired all outstanding rights to the use of the 'J. I. Case' name, and certain other trademarks and names. Henceforth the corporation will be officially known as the J. I. Case Co., Inc. There will be no change in the name of the stock certificates of the corporation. This change in name was necessary due to the fact that the company has outgrown the name given a great many years ago, when its principal product was threshing. From the very beginning, the line of products steadily expanded, until it includes a full line of farm equipment, so the words "Threshing Machine" in its corporate name no longer indicates adequately the classes of product it manufactures and sells. The most recent expansion took place during the past year, when Case acquired the implement business and factories of the Emerson-Brinthaugh Machine Company, of Rockford, Illinois. This brings under the Case banner one of the oldest and most favorably known lines of farm tillage, seeding, hay and harvesting machinery. Case was the first to pioneer the change from wood to steel in building threshers, and fully developed this type years before other manufacturers did so. Case was the first company in the industry to improve farm machinery by making extensive use of light weight steel stampings for forgings in place of heavy cast iron parts. Likewise, Case was the first to adopt adjustable fitted bearing lined with alloy metal in the place of rough metal. It was also one of the pioneers in the introduction of the single machine of the modern harvest, the Case Combine.
