ASCS Sets July 3 Certification Date

Farmer certification is the essential step preceding set-aside payments to producers participating in the U.S. Department of Agriculture 1972 set-aside programs for corn, grain sorghum, barley and wheat, according to Amos Dykeman, county executive director for the Lewis County ASCS office.

He urged farmers who have questions about certification to call or visit their county office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS). "It's important that a farmer know exactly what he is certifying before he signs his name," Dykeman said.

Final certification date this year is July 3, but certification may be made as soon as a farmer has his program crops planted and knows he is in compliance with the programs.

As soon as a producer certifies, the County ASCS Office begins processing the data for payment which will be made soon after July 1.

"While it speeds payments to get certifications in early, producers should also remember that mistakes can be costly. Once certification is made, no acreage adjustments can be made. A farmer has to be in compliance with program regulations when he certifies. That's why we're urging producers to call or come in now if they're not sure about the requirements for certification," Dykeman said.

When a producer certifies, he reports exactly what acreage he has in set-aside land and what crops he has in the program crops he signed up for. He also certifies he has complied with all program regulations and will continue to comply throughout the year.

An error in certification can result in loss of some or all of the set-aside payments. Spot checks are made each year on farms participating in the programs.

ACS Board Announces Teachers

Adirondack Central School Board accepted with regret the resignation of Livingston Lantieri, Board of Education member since reorganization in 1966.

In other action, Dean Bedgar was appointed as teaching principal at the Adirondack Elementary School at West Leyden. In discussion concerning the appointment, Mr. Zoller, supervising principal, stated that Ralph Mirabelli will operate within all of the elementary schools to improve instruction as coordinator of elementary education, while Mr. Bedgar will assume the administrative duties at West Leyden Elementary.

The Board of Education approved the negotiated agreement with the Adirondack Teachers' Association, which provided for a total raise of 4.47 per cent for all instructional employees. The agreement increases the base salary of teachers from $7,100 to $7,250. It was noted that the health insurance benefits were increased for all instructional and non-instructional employees at a cost of approximately $6,700. The non-instructional employees were given an across-the-board raise of four per cent for the 1972-73 school year.

The following appointments were made to fill vacancies on the instructional staff:

Mrs. Barbara Houghton elementary teacher at Boonville K-8; Miss Jane Reed, Spanish teacher at the Central High School; Miss Jean Schatz, home economics teacher at the Central High School; Mrs. Judy Wallgrove, elementary teacher at Boonville K-8; Miss Diane Gordon, librarian at the Central High School; David Parsych, English teacher at the Central High School; Miss Mary A. Bura, English teacher at Boonville K-8.

Other board action concerned the approval of the request for the utilization of school land for parking vehicles during the Woodmen's Field Days on August 11-13. The school board also passed a resolution for the Adirondack Central Schools to participate in a joint ESTE Title I project with the Lewis County School systems.

The mobile unit located at the intersection of Ford and Post streets will be put up for bids in the near future. Any bids interested in bidding on this surplus property should send their name and address to the District Principal.

Mr. Lansing indicated that pressure from business commitments made his resignation necessary. The board and administration said they will miss the broad experience Mr. Lansing brought to the Board. Fortunately Mr. Lansing will continue to serve the community as president of the Boonville Area Chamber of Commerce, remain active on the New York State Snowmobile Championship Races and other community projects.

The Hobbs' bring their own umpire and he doesn't help the opposing players much, but the main purpose is to amuse the fans attending the game and show them the ability and versatility of the players. AT NEW BREMEN - The Philadelphia Hobbs, the Clowns of Softball, will be at Wagner Field, New Bremen, on Saturday, June 24, at 8 p.m., for an exhibition game with a local all-star team. He has one of the best changeups in the game of softball, combined with fast rises and drops and constantly baffles opposing batters with his changing of speeds. But what makes him so valuable is his ability to throw a softball in a variety of ways, including blindfolded, from stilt, behind
