ED. LAKE SHORE OBSERVER:—

I wish to tell you how pleased I was last evening with the appearance and enlarged size of the OBSERVER. I have been a constant reader of the paper since its first issue, and can truthfully say, that both my wife and I find more news and interesting reading in it than in any other paper that we have ever taken. We congratulate you upon your success, and hope that you will continue to grow, and that your powerful influence will always be used for sustaining the right and condemning the wrong.

E. C.

—A reputable resident of Stockton is the city to-day stated that Sylvester Munger and wife, who live two miles and a half east of Dolor'd, were driving forward Thursday evening, when, during the storm, a bolt of lightning struck near the wagon or in its close neighborhood. Mr. and Mrs. Munger were thrown out, and the horse was knocked down. Mr. Munger recovered his senses in a moment, and his wife soon afterward. The horse lay on his back for a little time, in the position when he fell, but also recovered. Mr. Munger was somewhat bruised. The carriage and harness were not much injured.

A gentleman from Cincinnati, who came over the Nickel Plate road and looked down the Avenue, called at this office yesterday. He spoke in most enthusiastic terms of the beauty of the buildings, the neatness of the grade and the generally pleasant and striking appearance of the street. He also had been upon other streets, and expressed surprise that they had such a neat and handsome city. And all this is so. There are few handsomer, more pleasant or agreeable places for residence than Dunkirk.—Saturday Evening Observer.

AND THEN COME THIS

In the July number of Harper's Magazine, in Jane Meade Welch's article on Buffalo, we find the following:

"Hotels and Retreats. Lake Erie spreads out in roseate billows; and at the east, forming a noble background to the city, rise the Chautauqua hills," &c.

The older settlers here know that Buffalo has drawn the most of our business from our "infant city" without a protest, but we did not think the wilder of her 200,000 inhabitants would conspire to move Chautauqua's hills to the eastward of Buffalo, in order to get a background or something to break the continuity of the tedious sameness in the landscape. Whether or, the latter says "perhaps it is to effect a pardonable concert over the neatness to the greatest of nature's wonders that Buffalo's immediate suburbs are so strictly common-place." The city spreads out in a north and easterly direction over an area as flat as the proverbial pancake.

Buffalo does lie between two of the world's wonders, Niagara Falls and the hills of Chautauqua, where beautiful rivers breathe blow, and the most picturesque scenery abounds. A band of flowers and birds, there is nothing to prevent her becoming as Eden, if properly cultivated. But we protest against the effort to adorn Buffalo, by placing the Chautauqua hills in the rear of it. Buffalo, however much they may be needed to give it a respectable setting. PITTSBURGH.

The Yacht Phantom.

The friends of Frank White, who are endeavoring to raise the Phantom in which he capsized July 5, in his dead body, are having a series of mishaps. The yacht has been lost and found again several times, and that far it not been successful. This morning's Buffalo Express says:

The search for the missing sailboat Phantom and the body of Capt. J. White was continued yesterday with encouraging success. Mr. Martin Maher with a crew of ten men in the employ of S. & H. Holmes o n the tug Lone Star, Mr. William Bird with three men in his sailboat, and five small boats went out at 8 o'clock where Mr. Bird found the boat on Friday. Large grappling irons were taken from the Life-saving station and used on the tug and in small boats. About 9 o'clock the boat was found some three miles from shore, nearly two miles nearer the city than where it was searched for on that day. The Phantom had been raised about four feet when the rain storm began and a squall caused the rope to break again. Three buoys were attached to her, and this morning she will be raised if the weather will permit.

Bullness in Railroad Circles.

The OBSERVER has several times lately spoken of the dullness in railway circles, and the consequent dropping off in railway manufactures. The Buffalo Express this morning speaks of the situation in the shops as follows:

The depression in railroad business is having its effect upon the work in the various railroad shops. Nearly all of them complaining of light business in the way of repairs. When traffic is heavy the effect is to cause a large and unusual amount of repairs made necessary by damages and wear to rolling stock. The gain of this work of course is to put their old cars and engines put into condition, after which there is but little work left to be done.

The Erie machine shops are running on eight-hours' time, but the men were laid off for two days last month, and will probably be laid off for a day or two this month if business does not pick up. The work in all is rebuilding and repairing. The men were laid off for two weeks ago on account of the lack of work. The car shops are also running on eight-hours' time, with a slightly smaller force, the greater part of the work being on stripped cars, which have been awaiting repairs for some time.

The Buffalo, New York, & Philadelphia shops are working full time with the usual force, but the work is light, in fact much lighter than it has been for some time past.

The Lake Shore shops are running full time, but on account of the lack of work in machine shop 18 men were let go on Saturday night. The car shops are running full time with their usual number of hands.

A TERRIFIC STORM.

Lightning Strikes in Four Places.

Yesterday afternoon a terrific storm passed over this locality, accompanied by everywhere visible, and it is evident much damage has been done to early vegetables and the hay crop. Hail beat leaves from the trees and knocked off fruit, beside destroying, in some places, all hope of raising garden vegetables this year. The storm was unprecedented in violence and was not to have been anticipated at this time of the year. Hail-stones three-quarters of an inch in diameter are reported. The noise made upon roofs is described as terrifying to animals in the extreme. The hail fell for a quarter of an hour, and rain continued in torrents until evening.

During the storm, which burst at about three o'clock, lightning struck in four places in the city. At Andrew Dotterweich's brewery, on West Sixth street, the roof of the ice-house was struck. A hole two feet by eight was torn in the roof, and George Dotterweich, who was standing in the cellar, was thrown seven ten feet, against a wall. Mr. Dotterweich exhibited to-day the funnel which rested on the wall where torn off, and a large piece of the cornice was ripped from its fastenings. The greatest part of the damage done was the breaking of the tinning. Lightning struck the residence and steeple. There is one such window on each side. Each one except that on the west was broken to splinters. Pieces of the lead holding the stained glass were strewn inside and twisted, and the wall was covered with bits of glass.

George Paxton's barn on the Roberts road was struck, and a hole torn in the corner.

Another bolt of lightning struck in the yard of Peter Erbe, on Second street next to John Miller's place on Fox street. An ice-box was badly smashed.

A chimney on Mr. M. A. Lyon's house on Elk street was knocked down.

Reports from all parts of the county are of similar import. From H. A. V. & P. employes it is learned that at Thuisville the cloud-burst was so sudden and so heavy that houses on the low-lands were flooded. Elsewhere will be found accounts of the damage done by the storm in town in this vicinity.

Mr. Dotterweich now places his loss at between $140 and $150.

Manager Townsend of the Western Union office said this afternoon that considerable damage was done to the wires elsewhere, although little was done in this immediate vicinity.

The manager of the Telephone Exchange said: "The damage done our wires by the storm was limited to three or four crosses and the burning of the generator with the switch-board. This last was due to a stroke of lightning."

In Sheridan much damage is reported by the storm. Gardens suffered especially severely.

NOT YET FOUND.

The Phantom Yet on the Lake Bottom.

The OBSERVER on last Saturday related the discovery of the mast and sail of the lost yacht Phantom, which sailed from Dunkirk on July 3, by a rigger off Stony Point. The finding a crew of men from Buffalo endeavored all day to find the boat, but without success. The Express narrates the search as follows:

The party left port with a hope that the missing Phantom might be reached and found in the vicinity of the buoyed spar by the statement that Mr Bird had marked the spot where the Phantom lay by sighting a drag to which he had attached a life-preserver, and also that he had taken land bearings sufficient to enable him to locate the boat if the marker was gone. The party was not quite successful in point of finding both Mr. White's body and the boat. It is thought probable that Mr White was lying down when the squall went over, and that, having taken hold of a sail or become tangled in the rigging, his body may still be in the boat. The recovery of the body was eagerly hoped for, it will relieve anxious relatives and be a heavy weight from the mother's heart and probably avert a serious illness.

The tug and Mr. Bird's boat ran up the lake about four miles from shore off Lake View a half was made. The anker of the party was dampened, however, as the life preserver left as a marker was not to be seen. After some search it was concluded that it had either drifted away or been stolen. The ground was thoroughly gone over with drags. A drag is a iron frame, four feet long. At each end project three or four prongs turned upward, and as the other is fastened a rope. The drag is thrown over the side of the boat-tom, and is then hauled by a row boat, or if a large one, by a tug. A man on the boat guides the line and feels for the slightest catch in the movement of the drag, or indication that the teeth have fast sent to some obstacle, such as a fish or mass feels for a bite. Mr. Bird also dragged from his boat, but the effort of the two crews failed. The search for the boat found, though a drag possibly may have passed within 20 feet of it. For four hours the dragging was continued, but without success. The search was given up for the day, the Phantom being lost as easily as it was found.

It is probable that the search will be continued to-day, several small boats going over the territory thoroughly. If the boat cannot be found it will be raised. This morning Mr. Bird will go out and try to again locate the boat, dragging with a seine.

Glass Ball Shoot.

Capt. Beutter of the Dunkirk Gun Club has received a letter from the Queen City Gun Club of Buffalo, stating that they intended to come here for a glass ball shoot in the near future. Beutter wishes all members of our gun club to meet with him at his house to-morrow, Wednesday evening, to make arrangements whereby the match which will probably take place at the driving dark. It is expected that the sporting club from Fredonia will be present and also be here and a time will be had, and have asked Mr. Beutter to join with them in the shoot.

The Queen City Club of Buffalo is one of the best in the state, having taken the second prize at the late State Shoot. They will show our citizens how to do shooting. It is hoped that all interested will assist our home club in having as enjoyable a time as possible.

The Voice of The People

The people, as a whole, seldom make mistakes, and the unanimous voice of praise that comes from those who have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, fully justifies the claims of the proprietors of this great medicine. Indeed these very claims are based entirely on what the people say Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for them. Read the abundant evidence of its curative powers, and give it a fair honest trial.

FREDONIA.

The OBSERVER is kept for sale in this village at Reed's News Room and Stationery Store, in Wilcox Block. It is mailed on subscription at the usual address by carrier to regular subscribers. Address all communications to H. S. Crissey, Fredonia, N. Y.

Apology.

Compared to what was intended, the Fredonia department of yesterday's issue, was a failure. The bulk of the copy, which was intended to reach the printing office, at 9 o'clock, did not arrive until 2 p. m. This caused the omission of part of it, and also a considerable editorial, and a hasty setting up of the remainder. Owing to short time and unusual haste many mistakes were made which shall be now corrected.

In the report of the Van Nest-Gibbs wedding the name of the first bridesmaid Miss Ada Ferris was misspelled. The names of Mrs. C. J. and Miss Georgia Ferris were given Freis. Miss Mate Headen would object to being called Miss. dee and Dr. N. G. Richmond should not treasure up wrath because his initials were made out U. S. The name of Cottrell was printed Colhell and the fact was not made clear that Miss Emma Kimberly gave a lemonade set similar to that given by Messrs. Green and Keller.

Much has been said of the beauty of our village in the day time but during these moonlight and sunlight nights no rarer beauty can be found elsewhere. The fantastic swaying shadows on the velvet lawns and music of the fountains in the parks make the attractions of a moonlight stroll irresistible. And a new charm has been added to the summer evenings in the serenades which the Normal Quartette give to their music loving friends. Their voices are rich, sweet and finely blended, and they sound exquisitely in the open air these quiet, clear nights. It is said that they intend accepting an invitation to give a concert in Forestville. It is certain that all lovers of sweet music who hear them will be gratified.

COUNTY NEWS.

Miss Gussie Jones has returned after a delightful visit of three weeks in Rochester.

The family of T. C. Fuller, Prin. of the school of Technology in Worcester Mass., have come to spend the summer with Miss Anna Jones. All Fredonians have a delightful recollection of Mr. Fuller, and will be glad to welcome him when he comes to visit.

Prof. White and sons of Beddle University came Saturday to join Mrs. White at Dr. Gilbert's.

Miss Irene Gilbert is home from Kansas City to spend the summer with her family.

Mr. T. S. Hubbard's father came Friday with his family and will occupy a house on Division street.

Misses Berdie Jones and Nelle Clute spent the 4th of July week with Miss Edith Brooking at North East.

Prof. Burgess writes from his home on the N'York, that the first night out, he was rocked quite roughly in the cradle of the waves, but while sea by one the passengers stoke away for meditation, he manfully resisted all such lulling influences. May he be able to say this on his return.

Yesterday r. m. Walter Hayward a teamster of this village, was out in the storm with his grey team, on the Chautauqua road near the residence of Geo. Reed. Mr. Hayward states that a sudden flash threw the horses down and hurled him backward into the road, from his seat on the hay-rack. He was not injured, but found one horse lying in the road dead, and the other one stunned. He is driving the latter horse this morning. The animal killed was valued at $75.00.

Messrs. H. S. Silleox and H. W. Parsons were in town yesterday from Cherry Creek.

A pair of elegant silver mounted vases, presented to Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs by Dr. N. G. Richmond were omitted from the report yesterday.

Misses M. Tambling and Chas. Gould, to begin driving block rasp berries to-day with the Canning Co.'s Dryer. They will pay 6c per quart.

The Women's Literary Society of Dunkirk.

The course of lectures given by Miss Ella C. Sapham in Dunkirk were an inspiration to those who had the good fortune to hear her, and a general and deep interest was awakened in the subject of English literature. Miss Sapham was a master of her subject, of great power in satisfactorily handling her study, and as an equal gift of expression and ability in interesting others. The fall of the wholesome stimulus she gave in the formation of The Women's Literary Society of Dunkirk, N. Y., and the city is to be congratulated upon the presence of such an organization. The officers chosen are:

President, Miss Ella C. Sapham.
First Vice President, Mrs. S. H. Hamilton.
Second Vice President Mrs. William Bookstaber.
Secretary, Miss Isabel Blackham.
Treasurer, Miss Harriet C. Fullagar.
Executive Committee, Miss Sapham, chairman; Mrs. S. H. Hamilton, Mrs. William Bookstaver, Mrs. E. P. Adams, Mrs. E. D. C. Cushing, Miss K. P. Chapman, Miss Isabel Blackham, Miss Harriet C. Fullagar.

The society has laid out for itself a three years' course of study. This course will embrace the whole span of English history and literature when completed, and the time to be given will be divided of study adopted, together with the spirit in which the members have organized, assures a thorough and sympathetic examination of our literature. The meetings will be held weekly, at 4:15 p. m. on Tuesdays. The election of officers will be held the 1st Tuesday in February, and the annual meeting the last Tuesday in March. The meetings this first year will begin with Tuesday, October 20, and end on March 30—i. e., will last six months. The calendar of subjects begins with Saxon England, and takes in a range of English literature from Saxon poetry and prose to Dryden. Besides having a meeting to each of the great authors of the time, the conditions of life, the great social revolutions affecting England in the limits named and the rise of the English language will be studied. The calendar shows a very thoughtful distribution of the subjects. At each meeting a paper will read a paper (these essays are now in progress) after which the subject will be given general discussion. Space does not permit the publication of the list of subjects, but a glance at them shows the thorough care with which the period between the fifth and seventeenth centuries will be taken into consideration.

The Cannon Firing.

A Forestville correspondent of the Farmer, speaking of the practice firing of the Michigan, which caused so much speculation a few days, ago says that those explosions were more distinctly heard there than any that he ever heard from cannon at Dunkirk. He thinks he heard a dozen or more that afternoon, and why they should hear cannon firing forty or fifty miles west of Dunkirk plainer than they could if fired at Dunkirk is a mystery.

WESTFIELD.

A heavy shower fell here yesterday afternoon. Some farmers had hay damaged.

Dea. P. York, manufacturer of the Rockaway mowing machine, has had a fair trade this season.

Rev. W. F. Faber lectured last Sabbath morning on the Revised Old Testament, to the great interest and instruction of his hearers.

Samuel C. Crandall, the undertaker here, whom the association has tried to boycott, managed the funeral of Mr. Alexander Abbott, on Sunday, very satisfactorily.

The Buffalo News of Sunday published all the letters of intimidation sent to Mr. R. C. Crandall of this village, because he would not join the Undertakers' Association. The News shows up the Association in a sharp way, and gives evidence convicting it of conspiracy to rob the estates of the dead. Mr. Crandall was compelled to send to Indiana for a casket in which to bury the remains of Mr. Abbott, because the Association would not allow Buffalo dealers to sell one to him. He is making a square fight against the association, and the sentiment of the people is with him.

VAN BUREN'S NOTES.

With our most hearty congratulations on the increased size of the OBSERVER and the broader field it has before it, we present a few notes from Vanburen, but these notes are only threads pulled here and there from the web of life of this green gem nestling in Old Erie's bosom.

On Wednesday Hon. Geo. Barker entertained a party of gentlemen at the Point. They were Messrs. Sam R. Smith, Louis McKinstry, A. S. Mixer, E. D. Mixer, P. H. Cummings, A. O. Putnam, Albert Putnam, S. S. Morris, E. D. Howard, D. Thayer, C. A. Clute, O. W. Johnson, B. F. Skinner, Richard Smith, Wm. Lester, L. S. Forbes, Dr. Thos. Ridler, Jerry Miller, Dr. A. R. Cooch, L. B. Green, J. C. Prisbee, T. W. Gibson, Geo. S. Jesselyn, Gotham Cottrell, Quincy Hill, and Capt. Curtis. After viewing the grounds and partaking of one of those suppers the genial manager of the hotel, Mr. Geo. Barker, so well known how to provide, the party returned to Fredonia.

Mrs. Kate Cushing is having her cellar drained and connections made with the sewer.

Paint and varnish are making Dr. Ho. Cook's cottage look one hundred per cent better, while a tower with an open top will enable him to easily realize how Vanburen affairs appear to "a man up a tree." It is hoped that the remaining cottages will be improved by their respective owners so that the visitor in the future may be spared the sight of the wood colored shanties of the past.

A complete system of sewerage has been put in this spring and Mr. Moore is sparing nothing to make Van Buren the most healthy resort in the country.

The water works will soon be in operation.

The visitor of two years ago would not know the place to day. And we venture to predict that the same can be said two years in the future.

Boarders are beginning to come and go, each day bringing new fac s. Mr. Geo. S. Jesselyn has rented a cottage. He has his correspondence brought to him each day and thus combines business and pleasure.

The Wilkins family occupy their cottage this year as heretofore.

The painting of the cottages, which is so much admired by all, is being done by a Buffalo firm. One of his members, Mr. John C. Ingram is in charge of the work done here. To those who have seen it nothing need be said, but such as have not should come to Van Buren and you will see a piece of work of which any firm could well be proud. Mr. I. is ably helped by a number of his men who, whether he is here or not, are never caught soldiering or idling. COCOLOSA.

Another Fishing Tug.

The fishing tug J. H. Thompson of Erie, which is considerable smaller than the Rouge and the Greyling, came into this port yesterday afternoon. She ran in on the wrong side of the buoy, and struck on a rock by the old breakwater. The tug H. Porter Lee helped her off. The fishermen at Erie are having no luck, and the Thompson will emulate the success of the Rouge. There are now three fishing tugs in port. The Thompson crew report that five other Erie tugs are scouting hither, and would probably have been here before but for the storm. These or four yawls are also coming here from Erie. It is pleasant to report that one Dunkirk industry is looking up.

Best Goods are Put in smallest Parcels.

The old proverb is certainly true in the case of Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets," which are little, sugar-coated parcels, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, containing as much cathartic power as is done up in the biggest, most repulsive looking pill. Unlike the big pills, however, they are mild and pleasant in their operation: do not produce griping pains, nor render the bowels costive after using.
